Every Road Running Into the City Taxed to Its Limit by Returning Summer Throngs.

TRAIN SCHEDULES SWAMPED

A Single One Cut Into as Many as Sixteen Sections to Handle the Traffic.

Probably more than 200,000 persons came back to this city yesterday by the various railroads from the seashore, lakes, and mountains, where they had been spending the Summer, according to the figures of the railroads themselves. This was in addition to the half million regular patrons which the railroads are in the habit of bringing in daily.

The New Haven and New York Central, in addition to its normal commuting traffic of 60,000 passengers a day, brought in 90,000 returning holiday folk.

The Seashore Division of the Pennsylvania, in addition to its normal 20,000 incoming passengers, brought back about 24,000 who had been staying on the Jersey coast. The Long Island Railroad, which, through August, carried about 50,000 passengers each way daily, had to transport 14,000 extra holiday folk, who have been spending the Summer on the north or south Long Island shores.

In consequence, the homecoming rush, which, according to railroad men was the biggest that has ever followed a Labor Day in this city's history, did all kinds of things to the time tables, and strained railway equipments to their fullest capacity. The Central and New Haven had to put on 253 extra cars. The Long Island had to run 18 extra trains of 10 cars each. The Pennsylvania, on its Seashore Division, tapping Asbury Park and the other Atlantic Coast resorts as far as Point Pleasant, had to put on 30 additional trains. Most of these were made up of the Pennsylvania's new steel cars, seating 88 passengers each. There were from 8 to 11 of these cars in each train which pulled into the Pennsylvania trainshed.

Many Trains Late.

Trains on all lines were anywhere from half an hour to an hour and a half late. This caused a lot of dissatisfaction and annoyance to passengers. But the story of the Adirondack Express, on the Central, shows that for this consistent lateness of all the trains the railroad officials were not to blame. Central officials, on Monday night, found that the Adirondack Express would have to carry 12,500 passengers from the northeastern part of the State into this city. To carry 12,500 passengers in the ten cars of which the Adirondack Express is made up on ordinary nights, would have been an act of inhumanity which the Public Service Commission would not condone even if the Central itself wanted to practice it.

Officials of the Central accordingly drew on the telephone and telegraph wires early Monday evening. They had got together about 150 drawing room, sleeping, car, and day coaches by evening. They divided these up into sixteen separate trains, and sent the Adirondack Express with its 12,500 home-seeking passengers back to this city in sixteen sections.

These sections had to be started five minutes apart. Passengers in the last section were, consequently, something like 1 hour and 20 minutes late in reaching this city. But this, the railroad company pointed out yesterday, was a lot better for the passengers than trying to crowd 12,500 into a smaller number of cars. After the various sections had passed Utica, time was saved by consolidating the sections with other trains.

The Seashore Division officials of the Pennsylvania pleased its homecoming crowds mightily on Monday night by doing something which might have tangled up a less well-organized railroad considerably and which puzzled many watch-holding passengers a good deal.

Feeling sure that homeseekers would begin collecting at the various stations long ahead of time, the officials decided to run the 9:30 in nine sections and have the first of these sections start fifty minutes ahead of schedule time. Each section was made up of from eight to eleven cars, calculated to hold eighty persons each. The guards and conductors were also instructed to shout:

"New York train! First section of the New York Express!" unusually loud when the train entered a station.

Home Ahead of Time.

Most of the holiday folk who were waiting on the platforms were so anxious to get home that they didn't take time to look at their watches, and scrambled aboard in triumphant ignorance of what the railroad had done to please them. Many of the first section's passengers were startled when they reached town and saw by the clocks on the buildings that they had arrived here fifty minutes ahead of time.

The Pennsylvania had to run two additional baggage trains of six cars each, so numerous were the trunks the road had to carry. According to Pennsylvania officials, the New York, or Seashore, Division brought back 20 per cent more homecomers yesterday than it did after Labor Day last year.

The Long Island also, according to its officials, carried more people back than after any other Labor Day.

"We carried 600,000 people out of New York on July 4," said one Long Island official. "We didn't carry them all back again yesterday, but we carried back 880 carloads of them. We also carried 3,000 pieces of baggage and between 1,500 and 2,000 boxes full of fish, crabs, and oysters, which our patrons had caught themselves. This also happens to be cauliflower time, and what room in the baggage cars that wasn't taken up with fish, contained vegetables. On Monday night, because of the rush, almost all our trains were from twenty minutes to one and a half hours late. To-day no train has been more than thirty minutes late. There have been no accidents."

Trains on the New York Central were thirty minutes late even yesterday afternoon. But the crowd which waited for home-coming relatives in front of the bulletin board on the upper train level of the station was much pleased with the working of the automatic announcing system which the Central has introduced. Under this system the number of each incoming train is seen by an operator in the Mott Haven observation tower. He telephones it both to the Superintendent's office and to the operator at the Fifty-fourth Street switching tower.

The Fifty-fourth Street tower man is the king of the whole trainyard from the point of view of responsibility. His mind is trained to tell into exactly which one of the many sidings he can switch each incoming train. While he jams down a lever, an assistant telephones to the Superintendent's office.

This office is equipped with an automatic writing device which communicates with the bulletin board on the upper track level where the passengers' friends are waiting. The Superintendent writes the news about each train on a pad, which is part of this automatic writing device. The writing appears on a similar pad be-

GALE ENDS A TORRID DAY.

90 Degrees Yesterday and It Will Be Warm To-day, Too—One Death in City.

A thirty-six-mile gale with thunder and lightning accompaniment came out of the west a few minutes after 6 o'clock, scattering the humidity which had oppressed New York all day long and pulling the temperature down appreciably. It blew only for five minutes, according to the Weather Bureau's official timer, but in that time everybody scurried for shelter. The temperature dropped from 90 degrees, the maximum at 4 o'clock, to 71, the minimum for the day.

The gale was heralded by banks of dense black clouds, the appearance of which in the west was quickly followed by a short electrical display and a drenching rain. In Manhattan little damage was reported. One building was struck by lightning and slightly damaged. Brooklyn, Queens, and the Bronx came out unscathed.

Down on Staten Island some damage was reported. Many wires were blown down, trolley cars were stalled, and several structures were hit by lightning, among them the Staten Island Railroad station at Great Kills. A hole was torn in the roof of the station and Mrs. Mary Cornbee of 2,097 Third Avenue was struck by falling plaster. She was only slightly hurt.

At the county fair grounds at Dongan Hills about 2,000 children and about 1,000 men and women were having an outing when the storm broke. The children were greatly frightened and everybody got a drenching, but nobody was hurt.

New York has had few more depressive days than that preceding the storm, and more warm weather is predicted for to-day. The temperature yesterday passed the 85 degree mark early, and reached 90 before 3 o'clock, remaining at that figure for nearly two hours. The humidity reached 89 per cent. There was much suffering in the city and suburbs, Flower Hospital reporting so many calls for heat cases that some of the young internes had to help the ambulance drivers run the ambulances. The police, however, recorded only three prostrations.

One death due to the heat was reported in Manhattan and another in Newark. John Janesky of 544 West Thirty-seventh Street, an employe of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, was the Manhattan victim. He was taken to Flower Hospital, where he died. Eugene Beltras, a boilermaker, died of the heat in Newark.

Thirty-six Families Routed Out by a Blaze That Destroys Six-Story Building

An explosion, followed by a fire that rapidly consumed the large six-story tenement house at the southeast corner of 125th Street and Amsterdam Avehue, drove thirty-six families of that house and hundreds from adjoining tenements, scantily clothed, into the streets at 1:20 o'clock this morning, and had not been got under control at 2:15 o'clock, although three alarms of fire were turned in.

The fire is believed to have started in the stable of the Beakes Dairy Company on the ground floor, on the Amsterdam Avenue side, where fifty horses were housed. It was discovered by John Gratton, the janitor, who heard an explosion in the stable and saw that the fire had already spread rapidly along the front wall to the roof. Rushing through the building, he woke all the tenants and got them safely to the stairs just as the reserves from the West 125th Street Station, only a few doors away, reached the house to help all in safety to the street. The horses were next rescued.

The fire spread with such rapidity that several other buildings near by seemed doomed, and the tenants were hurriedly led out of these also. Most of them, frightened and clad only in their night dress, were huddled in the police station, while the fire spread toward their homes. At 2 o'clock the police said there had been no lives lost and no one injured in the fire.

LIGHTER AFIRE IN THE BAY.

Carrying Passenger and Crew of West Indian Ship—Sailors Overboard.

There was much excitement in the bay off the Battery late yesterday afternoon when the big steam lighter Alice, carrying two passengers and the crew and supplies for the Atlantic Fruit Company's steamship Amelia, was discovered to be on fire. The Amelia was scheduled to sail for the West Indies late yesterday afternoon, and was anchored off Liberty Island.

The lighter left Pier 9, in the East River, at 5 o'clock. Among those she had on board were Capt. Martin, Superintendent of the United Fruit Company's service; Capt. Jamieson of the Amelia and two passengers. She had a crew of about eleven men, including the skipper, Capt. Hamilton. The lighter was turning from the river into the channel when a fireman ran on deck and gave the alarm. A moment later smoke began to pour out, and within two minutes the lighter was so completely shrouded that it was impossible to see her from the shore. The fire was between the boiler room and the coal bunkers.

The Alice signaled for help, but the signaling quickly stopped, for the engineer and firemen could not stay below. A dozen tugs and the fireboat New Yorker responded to the call, and after a hard fight for half an hour the fire was put out. Several of the crew jumped overboard and were picked up by tugs. Nobody was hurt.

Some of the Amelia's supplies were saved. The Amelia had to remain in port several hours longer to get a new cargo of supplies.

BURGLAR SHOT DEAD.

Fired On as He Was Trying to Climb Into a Tenement Window.

Awakened by a noise at a rear window of their flat on the fifth floor of a tenement at 121 and 123 St. Mark's Place at 1 o'clock this morning, Frank Polebattaglia, a young hatmaker, and his brother-in-law, John Guarrato, leaped from their beds with drawn revolvers and rushed to the window. Against the night they could see the outline of a man, who had evidently climbed the fire escape.

Both men fired twice. Polebattaglia's weapon would not go off, but both shots of Guarrato took effect, and the burglar fell with a cry across the window sill.

Polebattaglia ran to the front of the house, shouting for the police, and a few minutes later Policeman O'Connor of the Fifth Street Station came to the flat. He called an ambulance from Bellevue Hospital. Dr. Reiss found that the man had been killed instantly with a bullet through his chest and another through his neck.

Polebattaglia and Guarrato were taken to the station as suspicious persons. There was no mark of identification on the dead man.

VERMONT MAJORITY REDUCED TO 18,000

MAY FORECAST LANDSLIDE

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Sept. 6.—With a total vote smaller than that cast at any time within a quarter of a century, showing slight Democratic gains and large Republican losses, the Republicans in the State election to-day carried Vermont. The entire Republican State ticket, both members of Congress, and a majority of the Legislature were elected. The State officers chosen were:

Governor—JOHN A. MEAD of Rutland.

Auditor—HORACE E. GRAHAM of Crawfsbury.

Congressmen—First District, DAVID FOSTER of Burlington; Second District, FRANK PLUMLEY of Northfield, both re-elected.

The Legislature chosen to-day will elect a United States Senator, for which office the present Senator, Carroll S. Page, has no opposition.

Returns at a late hour from 210 out of 275 election districts, including all six cities, and 174 out of 240 towns give Mead (Rep.) 27,013, Watson (Dem.) 13,888. The corresponding vote in 1908 was: Prouty (Rep.) 35,617, Burke (Dem.) 12,889. If the proportionate Republican loss and Democrat gain thus far shown is maintained in the rest of the State the Republican plurality will be about 18,000, as compared with 29,645 given to Gov. Prouty in 1908.

This vote will undoubtedly be taken as an indication of Republican defeat in the coming general elections. "As goes Vermont so goes the country" is an old saying among politicians. When Vermont's Republican majority has dropped below 25,000 it has been regarded as ominous to the party, while with a drop below 20,000, under usual conditions, a landslide could be feered.

In 1890, when the Republican plurality was the lowest it had been since 1872, the conditions were somewhat analogous to the present times, and affords the only real basis for comparison with this year's figures. Dissatisfaction with the McKinley tariff, such as exists at the present time over the Payne tariff, brought the party's plurality of 28,404 in the election two years before down to 14,168, the Democrats polling the largest vote in the history of the State, save in one instance. That was in 1906, when in a fight on purely local issues the record Democratic vote of 26,912 was polled, as against a total vote of less than 10,000 two years before. The Republican plurality that year was 15,420. The local issue was prohibition. At the Presidential election two years before that, in 1904, the Republican plurality was 30,682, and at the next Presidential election, in 1908, it had jumped back again to 28,056.

Therefore, leaving out the purely local fight of 1906, only once before have the Democrats made such gains as they have this year, and that was when the voters resented conditions in the Nation which closely resemble conditions such as exist under the Taft Administration.

Several reasons were given for the result by local politicians. Some Republicans attributed it to a listless campaign, some to party dissatisfaction with the candidate for Governor, and still others to a rainy day. At any rate, large numbers of Republicans remained away from the polls, while the Democrats did better all around. This is taken to indicate that more than dissatisfaction with local Republican candidates was responsible. The party vote for Charles D. Watson, the Democratic candidate for Governor, equaled and in some towns exceeded that given Burke, the Democratic candidate, two years ago. Watson carried his own city of St. Albany, turning a Republican plurality of 165 in 1908 into a Democratic victory of 416. A dozen towns went Democratic, against five a year ago. Democrats also made gains in the Legislature. The most notable victory was in Montpelier, the capital, which was carried by the Democrats for the first time.

The voting progressed during the day with unusual quietness in all parts of the State. Even the customary carriages and automobiles were conspicuously absent at the polls in a number of towns. In Bennington and several other towns in the southern part of the State the Republican and Democratic leaders made an agreement last week not to use automobiles or carriages or make any special inducement to get the voters out. Similar agreements were made in a few other towns in other parts of the State, but in the large cities automobiles were flying about from morning until night.

HORSE THROWS J. C. CLARK.

Special to The New York Times.

BERNARDSVILLE, N. J., Sept. 6.—James Campbell Clark, son of J. William Clark, Vice President of the Spool Cotton Company of this place and Newark, is seriously hurt at the home of Zachary Belcher at Far Hills as the result of a fall yesterday, when his horse stumbled in taking a fence during a fox hunt.

The young man was thrown over the animal's head and lay stunned. It was found that he had a concussion of the brain. So serious is his condition that it has been decided unwise to try and remove him to his home. He also sprained an ankle in the fall.

Two specialists are in attendance, and members of the injured man's family are also here. The accident was due to the hesitancy of Clark's mount. After feinting it undertook the leap, but caught its hind legs in the top rail of the fence. The horse is said to be ruined for hunting by the accident.

Dr. Foote, the New York specialist, said to-night after an examination of Mr. Clark, that he thought the young man had an excellent chance of recovery, and that instead of being alarming his remaining unconscious was decidedly favorable. He personally hoped the patient would not revive for some hours yet.

MURDERERS OF PETROSINO.

The Italian police have been trying to weave a net around one of the most powerful and far-reaching bands of criminals the world has ever known. The story reads like a novel and is told for the first time in

NEXT SUNDAY'S TIMES.

MAN SLAIN IN ITALY ONCE WOUNDED HERE

THIRTY ARRESTS IN ITALY

Federico, Who Was Murdered with Family, Wrote Police He Was Doomed.

REGGIO, Calabria, Sept. 6.—The police to-day arrested thirty persons, among them two who recently returned to Italy from the United States, on suspicion of having knowledge of the murder at Pellaro early yesterday morning of Rovolino and his wife and six children.

The police here ascribe the wholesale murder to vengeance on the part of the Black Hand Society in New York. The Rovolinos once lived in the United States.

Lieut. Vachris of the Italian branch of the Detective Bureau at Police Headquarters said yesterday that the former policeman killed with his wife and six children on Monday in Pellaro, near Reggio, Italy, was most probably Amadeo Federico, who was well known in this city. The killing, which was done with revolting brutality, has been universally ascribed to Black Hand vengeance and has created a great stir among New York Italians.

The Italian branch of the Detective Bureau received word yesterday from Reggio by cable that the local authorities had arrested several suspects, among whom were a half dozen immigrants who had been returned from the United States. All Italian ports are being watched, and the Italian authorities request that incoming steamships to the United States be searched. A full report on Federico's experiences in this country prior to his return to Italy is being prepared under Lieut. Vachris's direction. This will be forwarded to Italy by the next mail.

Lieut. Vachris said that the cable dispatches from Europe, which described the slain man as Ruvilino and Bovilino, would not change his opinion that it was Federico who had been killed. Federico, he said, was the only retired policeman who lived in that territory, and he had settled near Reggio. Pellaro is only four miles away. The statement that two recent attacks had been made on the family also strengthened his opinion. He said he had recently received letters from Federico telling of two attacks and expressing the fear that he was doomed.

Federico, said Lieut. Vachris, came to this country several years ago after a brilliant record as a detective in Italy. He had been threatened several times, and he decided that he would come to the United States and establish himself. He was attacked on Union Street, in Brooklyn, Lieut. Vachris said, by a man who crept up behind him and slashed him in the neck. He was in a hospital several months from this injury. Domenico Calabro, his assailant, was sent to Sing Sing for seven years by Supreme Court Justice Aspinwall in Brooklyn.

During Federico's period of convalescence and during the trial he was repeatedly threatened, Lieut. Vachris said, to force him to abandon the prosecution. After Calabro's conviction and sentence Federico was shot at several times, following letters which told him that Black Hand vengeance would follow him to any quarter of the globe.

Lieut. Vachris was not optimistic about the possibility of capturing and convicting the perpetrators of the Pellaro outrage. The clue to the crime was given by a 3-year-old girl, who regained consciousness after her throat had been cut and whose cries brought the villagers to the house, where all the family lay butchered, including even a four months' old babe in the arms of its mother. The little girl died before she could give any description of the murderers.

Federico, Lieut. Vachris said, was a friend of Lieut. Petrosino, who died a martyr to the cause of stamping out Italian crime, and rendered valuable assistance to the Italian branch of the Detective Bureau in this city. He had only one eye. He had lost the other defending himself against an attack by a gang of assailants armed with stilettos.

MOTHER BURNED TO DEATH.

Sacrificed Her Own Life to Save Her Baby—Gasoline Stove Exploded.

Mrs. Edward Chapman was burned to death and her year-old daughter was severely injured in a gasoline stove explosion at her home in Broadway, Little Neck, L. I., yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Chapman and her baby were alone in the house. Burning gasoline ignited the clothes of both, and while the mother was able to save her daughter by wrapping her in a bed quilt she allowed the flames in her own clothing to gain such headway while doing it that neighbors found her dying when they rushed in.

An alarm was sent for the Little Neck Volunteer Fire Department and an ambulance call to the Flushing Hospital, whose surgeons, on arriving, said that there was no hope for the recovery of Mrs. Chapman, but that the baby's condition was not so serious. Both were taken to the hospital, where Mrs. Chapman died.

The firemen extinguished the flames without much difficulty and little damage to the kitchen.

W. H. ANDREWS DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

SISTER-IN-LAW ALSO KILLED

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Sept. 6.—While driving a new automobile along the Durham turnpike, about three miles from this place, this afternoon, with his sister-in-law, Miss Nicolene Nielson, William H. Andrews, formerly a lawyer of New York and prominent in Masonic circles, was stricken with apoplexy and rendered helpless. The car, losing its guiding hand, swerved to the side of the road and crashed into a stone wall. It turned over in the air with its two passengers and fell beyond the wall on the rocky shore of a pond ten feet below the road. Miss Nielson was killed instantly and Andrews died soon after he was found. Both he and Miss Nielson were pinned under the heavy car.

Andrews had made his home in Portland for four years with his wife and Miss Nielson, and a few weeks ago purchased a new car. This afternoon he invited Miss Nielson to ride with him to Durham, 16 miles from this city. The accident occurred while they were returning.

Dr. H. K. Meeks of Meriden, who was in his machine not far behind and who was the only witness of the accident, told Dr. John E. Loveland, the medical examiner, that the Andrews car was going slowly when suddenly it swerved toward the wall.

Dr. Meeks hastened to the spot, but by the time he had clambered down to the rocks Andrews was dying. Miss Nielson was dead. It is thought she was killed instantly. She struck on her left side, her face being crushed in and her skull fractured.

Physicians who examined Andrews after the accident could find no wounds sufficient to cause death, and they declared he had suffered from a stroke of apoplexy. Miss Nielson had no time to jump from the car, as the road is narrow at the point where the accident happened, and it is believed Andrews was unable to do so. The machine was wrecked.

Mrs. Andrews was informed of her husband's death at a late hour to-night by Dr. John B. Bailey, the family physician. No arrangements have been made yet for the funeral.

William H. Andrews was born in 1848 in New Haven, Conn., and was educated in the schools of that city. He was graduated in 1867 from the Columbia Law School. Presiding Justice Ingraham of the Appellate Division and United States Circuit Court Judge Holt were his classmates.

For twenty years he was a member of the law firm of Wilson & Andrews, his partner being the late Charles T. Wilson, for many years President of the Board of Health. Mr. Andrews retired about five years ago, though he retained offices with Benno Leewy at 206 Broadway. He then moved to his country home at Portland, Conn., near Middletown, where he has spent most of his time. He had no children.

Mr. Andrews was Past Grand Master of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters, F. and A. M. On July 31 he attended a meeting of the Council in Albany. He told then of his purchase of a new touring car. For fifteen years he was Chairman of the Committee on Antiquities of the Grand Lodge in this State.

RAN DOWN GIRL, SPED ON.

Chauffeur Glanced Back, but Didn't Stop—Woman in the Auto.

As ten-year-old Eva Rosenkrantz of 152 East 118th Street was crossing Lexington Avenue at 118th Street last evening, a northbound touring car containing the chauffeur, a woman, and a man, struck her, throwing her to the ground and rolling her over. The wheels did not go over her, however, and the chauffeur, after a single glance backward, continued with unabated speed.

The injured girl was picked up by several passers, and later attended by Dr. Richardson of the Harlem Hospital. He found her suffering from bad lacerations of the head, but said that she would recover.

Edwin J. Bailey of 348 East 122d Street, who was at the corner at the time, told the police later that he had jotted down the number of the machine as 50443 New York. Several other witnesses corroborated him in this. The number, according to the police, would show the car to belong to a woman formerly resident at the Hotel Marie Antoinette. At the hotel, however, it was said that she had not lived there for three years.

TRAIN ROBBED IN ST. LOUIS.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 6.—A lone train robber boarded the Burlington overland fast express in the yards at Union Station in the heart of St. Louis at 9 o'clock to-night, shot and killed the flagman on the rear sleeper, locked the negro porter in a closet, robbed four passengers of their jewelry and money, and escaped from the train at the foot of Carr Street. Thirty minutes later the entire detective and police forces were seeking the robber.

When the train reached Twelfth Street, six blocks from the Union Station and three blocks from Police Headquarters, the robber crawled over the railing of the rear sleeper and shot the flagman, J. M. Wine of Hannibal, through the neck, killing him. The report of the pistol attracted the attention of the negro porter. He opened the rear door to be confronted with a revolver. He was forced into a closet and locked there. The four passengers were then robbed.

AMBULANCE AFIRE.

Doctor Rescues Woman on Her Way to the Lying-In Hospital.

Mrs. Helen Lefkowitz, 20 years old, of 223 East Eighty-fifth Street, was being taken early this morning from her home to the Lying-In Hospital at Seventeenth Street and Second Avenue in an ambulance when at Eightieth Street and Third Avenue there was a loud report in the front of the vehicle and a spurt of flame flew up from underneath the engine in the chauffeur's face.

The doctor inside lost not a second but opened the door in the front with a swift working spring, attached for such quick work in case of accident, and he and Rudolph Kayser, the chauffeur, lifted the terrified and half-fainting woman down to the street and bore her to a nearby hallway. While the doctor took care of Mrs. Lefkowitz, and kept out of the hallway the curious, the chauffeur turned in an alarm. The firemen put out the blaze.

Another ambulance was called from Presbyterian Hospital with Dr. Freeman, and Mrs. Lefkowitz was placed in it and taken down to the Lying-In Hospital.

LIGHTNING HITS GOLF HOUSE.

LENOX, Mass., Sept. 6.—In an electric storm which swept up the Yokun Valley this afternoon, lightning struck the clubhouse on the Lenox golf links, set it on fire, and stunned Mrs. Samuel J. Seligman, Miss Cevile Seligman, and Duncan Cryder of New York, and C. Howard White of London.

White and Cryder had just finished their game and the others had hastened indoors when the bolt struck the clubhouse. It ripped off shingles and passed through a brick chimney and fireplace.

The lightning knocked a glass from Cryder's hand. The glass did not upset, and after the excitement was over he went back and finished his drink. The fire was extinguished by caddies. Mrs. and Miss Seligman were stunned but not otherwise hurt.

WIVES SEE HUSBANDS DROWN

Special to The New York Times.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The motor boat Imp, bound from Brockville to Ogdensburg, capsized this morning in the St. Lawrence River near the American shore, seven miles from here. Of five persons in the craft two were drowned. The engineer, Clendenning, of Brockville, and the wives of the two drowned men were saved.

The dead men are said to have been J. J. Letoile, also known as Harrison, a Montreal detective, and W. C. Brander of Brockville.

The party left Brockville at 11 o'clock this morning in the boat, which is owned by the Hotel Stratchona, at Brockville. The water was very rough. They were changing their seats when the boat capsized and all were thrown into the river.

Clendenning rescued the women, but the others were drowned.

GAYNOR DOESN'T KNOW

That Friends Say He'll Consent to Run for Governor—Flatbush for Him.

ST. JAMES, L. I., Sept. 6.—The oppressive heat did not noticeably affect Mayor Gaynor to-day. He was out and about several times.

It is not believed by his friends here that he is at all conversant with the plan to nominate him for Governor. Since he was shot he has taken no part in public affairs, and those who see him have refrained from all talk of politics.

It is thought here that nothing short of an imperative demand would cause Mr. Gaynor to step out of the Mayor's office until his term is up or nearly so.

Resolutions demanding the nomination of Mayor Gaynor for Governor on the Democratic ticket were adopted at a meeting of the Regular Democratic Association of the Eighteenth Assembly District of Kings County, held last night in the club's headquarters at 2,233 Church Avenue, Flatbush.

In presenting the resolution the club's President, Assistant Corporation Counsel George M. Curtis, Jr., said he believed the Mayor considered his present office a post of greater honor and usefulness than that of Governor of the State, but it seemed as though his recent escape from death indicated that he was spared to undertake a renovation in State politics similar to that he had affected in the city. The name of Gaynor was now so well known, not only here but abroad, that if the people of the State did not elect him Governor they would be laughed at.

The Flatbush organization, said Mr. Curtis, was the first to support Judge Gaynor for Mayor. It was therefore only proper that it should be the first to indorse his name for Governor.

SAYS GAYNOR WILL RUN.

Kingston Delegates for Him for Governor, Its Mayor Declares.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Although even the most ardent of the supporters of Mayor Gaynor for Governor go no further than to say he is a "passive candidate," Roscoe Irwin, Mayor of Kingston, says the delegates from here to the State Convention will be instructed for Gaynor.

Late to-night Mayor Irwin announced that he had won eleven out of thirteen wards in to-day's primary contest, thus giving him a majority of ten in to-morrow's convention.

Irwin says he has positive knowledge that Mayor Gaynor will accept the nomination if it is offered to him.

ROOSEVELT AT ISSUE WITH TAFT IN SPEECH

CHEERED AT EVERY PAUSE

Several Governors Who Had Urged State Rights Give Up the Fight and Leave for Home.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 6.—Col. Roosevelt, in his address to the Conservation Congress to-day, took sharp issue with President Taft in the views he expressed on the question of Federal or State control. Both in manner and in language was the contrast marked by all who had heard Mr. Taft yesterday. And it was the common judgment that there was a great difference in the reception of the two utterances by the same people.

The St. Paul and Minneapolis newspapers agree that the crowds yesterday were not overenthusiastic for the President, and that was the comment heard on all sides in the streets and hotels and at the auditorium this morning. But there was no question about the reception to Col. Roosevelt. It began with the first mention of his name by Gov. Stubbs of Kansas, and continued until the Colonel was back in his rooms at the hotel.

When he appeared in the vast hall the people leaped to their feet and cheered without cessation for two minutes and thirty-five seconds. They waved flags and banners, swung their hats, and even their bonnets, fluttered handkerchiefs, and stamped their feet—anything to help make a demonstration of satisfaction.

Crowd Hangs on His Words.

When he began to speak they hung on his words and cheered literally three-fourths of his sentences. By actual count there was applause at the end of seven of the first sentences he uttered, although he had not yet done more than open his address. As he went on it got so that frequently a sentence was interrupted by cheers. The great crowd was intent on showing that it liked the Colonel and was with him in what he was saying. And it was a red-hot conservation speech. There was no uncertainty about his position on the matters that have been in controversy among conservationists and that have been threatening to precipitate an angry fight in the meetings of the Conservation Congress.

Col. Roosevelt had prepared a speech which dealt with all the phases of conservation, and in which he took positive ground along the lines supported by Gifford Pinchot and James R. Garfield. On the question of State or Federal control of water-power sites he was emphatically for National action, but, in view of the things that have been happening at the convention and the fight that was threatened on the Nationalists by the State righters, Col. Roosevelt made a number of digressions from the prepared address in which he went even further than he had originally intended to go in his declaration for Federal control.

Whether or not Col. Roosevelt intended this emphatic taking of advanced ground to be accepted by those who heard it as in contrast to the attitude of President Taft yesterday did not appear, but it is certain that the crowd immediately made that application of the Colonel's language and that it was tremendously popular.

The contrast was made all the more emphatic by the fact that in the very beginning of his speech Col. Roosevelt referred to the speech of the President yesterday and took occasion to praise some of the things that Mr. Taft had said. But it was faint praise at best, and the indorsement was limited to three things.

Praise of Taft Applauded.

"Much that I have to say on the subject," said the Colonel, after he had expressed his pleasure at being here, "will be but repetition of what was so admirably said by the President of the United States on this platform yesterday."

That was applauded, and then the Colonel went on with his more specific indorsement of the Administration, saying:

"In particular all true friends of conservation should be in hearty accord with the policy which the President laid down in connection with coal, oil, and phosphate lands."

That was the sum total of praise of the Administration in the speech. There was no word of criticism, but there was also no sparing of words in the setting forth of views and policies by Col. Roosevelt, which either are in open conflict with those expressed yesterday by President Taft, or concern points on which the President had remained silent. The fact that the President declared in terms several times that he was following the Roosevelt policies of conservation made all the more interesting the situation this morning, when Mr. Roosevelt himself was emphasizing the contrast between them.

Each side of the State and Federal control controversy has been accusing the other of attempting to pack the convention. If there nas been a contest of that sort, the Federal control men certainly won it, for there can be no question of the tremendous popularity with the crowd of what the Colonel had to say this morning on that subject. He gave it to them straight from the shoulder, and did not hesitate to charge the big interests in unmistakable terms with seeking now to foster the State rights idea in the belief that they be able to control or prevent State action more easily than Federal action.

Col. Roosevelt stood for Federal control also in the matter of drainage of swamp lands, again disagreeing with President Taft.

"The only wise course is to have the Federal Government act," he said. "The land should be deeded back to the Federal Government by the States and then it should take whatever action is necessary. Much of this work should be done by the Federal Government, anyway."

It was when he talked of the forests and water-power sites, however, that the Colonel came out most strongly for action by the Nation instead of by the States. Seated on the platform behind him were some of the Governors who had declared emphatically yesterday for State rights. The Colonel turned and talked directly to them, and laid down his proposition with all the vigor and emphasis he could muster, while the great crowd yelled and howled and cheered at every pause, often interrupting a sentence to voice its approval.

From his discussion of the forest question the Colonel turned to talk of the different commissions he had appointed while President, and which had been put out of business by the refusal of Congress to make appropriations for them. There he got in a blow at his old-time antagonist, Congressman Tawney of Minnesota, Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. It was Tawney who led the fight against these commissions, and the Colonel has never forgiven him.

President Taft has got along very well with Tawney, and it was to help the Congressman at home that the famous Winona speech was delivered last year. Col. Roosevelt did not name Tawney, but it was not necessary for him to do so in order to have the crowd know whom he meant. The application was instantaneous, and evoked considerable cheering from the progressive element in the audience.

Then the Colonel got back to the question of water-power sites, and began to hit out from the shoulder again on that subject.

"It isn't merely a question of State against Nation," he declared to an accompaniment of enthusiastic cheers. "It is really a question of special corporate interests against the interests of the people."

Crowd Cheers Frantically.

That fairly brought down the house. There was frantic cheering for half a minute—longer than any other cheering of the day except that upon the Colonel's entrance.

"If it were not for the special corporate interests," the Colonel went on, when quiet was restored, "you would never have heard of the question of State as against National control. Who can best regulate the special interests for the people's good?"

Instantly there was a reply from the gallery: "You can do it yourself," and then the crowd howled again.

"Most of these big corporations are financed and owned in the Atlantic States," went on the Colonel, "as it is a comic fact that the most zealous upholders of State rights in the present controversy live in other States."

Again he declared that he was for National control, because "the Federal Government is stronger; because it is better able to exact justice from the corporate interests, and also because it is less apt in some gust of popular passion to do injustice to the corporations."

Throughout the speech the vast crowd held to their places, while outside another throng waited for a chance to get in if any of those inside left. Clear up to the top of the highest gallery every place was occupied, and the aisles were crowded. When the speech was over there was a brief informal reception on the platform, and then the Colonel hurried to his hotel for luncheon and to prepare for the afternoon.

It developed during the afternoon that the vigor of Col. Roosevelt's stand for Federal control of water power sites had not been needed after all in order to carry the day for that side at the conservation congress. The Colonel had come to St. Paul prepared to make a fight, to take off his coat, if necessary, and wade right in. Intimations that such was his intention had come in the dispatches from Fargo last night, and this morning the Governors who were heading the State rights faction, concluded that there was no use in going further at this time.

This afternoon, after hearing what the Colonel had to say this morning, several of them packed up and went home. Gov. Brooks of Wyoming planned to leave to-night, as did Gov. Vessey of South Dakota and Gov. Norris of Montana.

Dissatisfaction over their failure to receive recognition at the hands of the congress as a whole was evidenced by the Executives from the West. Each tried to show a cheerful front, but it was an effort which was close to failure. Gov. Norris in particular was bitter in his denunciation.

"Why," he said, "we could not break into that meeting now with a jimmy."

Gov. Norris is a Democrat. It was he who made the "fighting" speech before the congress yesterday which really brought out the clash with Gov. Stubbs of Kansas, the presiding officer.

Gov. Hay of Washington at first decided to leave, but later changed his mind and declared he would stay, fighting to the last for State rights. Gov. Brooks had little to say.

"There is nothing I can add to what I have already said," Gov. Brooks declared. "I am for State rights; the congress does not believe in it, but wants Federal supervision. I have had my say and am going."

Gov. Stubbs of Kansas, who so successfully handled the "conference" yesterday afternoon, preventing any discussion on the floor, said he also would leave to-night if he could get away. It was commonly said, however, that the Kansas Executive would stay a day or so longer in order to be on the ground should any of the Westerners remain and attempt to "start something." Mr. Stubbs was smiling to-day and happy.

Gov. Blanchard of Louisiana, in his speech to-day, took a decided stand against the theory of State rights as applied to the conservation of National resources.

"I fully indorse the adress of Mr. Garfield," he said. "There was a time when the question of State rights was a real issue, but it seems strange to me, a Southern Democrat, that now there comes a voice from the West that conservation must be abandoned by the central Government and turned over to the tender mercies of the Western States.

"The doctrine of State rights is dead; it is dead under the tramping feet of a million marching men. Yet yesterday it tried to rear its head and bare its arm, and it is our duty to see that it is not again permitted to gain a foohold."

James J. Hill attended the luncheon to Col. Roosevelt, as did James R. Garfield, Gifford Pinchot, Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture, Gov. Norris of Montana, Gov. Hay of Washington, Gov. Brooks of Wyoming, and Senator Nelson of Minnesota.

After luncheon Col. Roosevelt went to the fair grounds between this city and Minneapolis, where the State fair is in progress. As he climbed into the judges' stand and looked out at the grand stand opposite and the crowd around it he saw a gathering of more people than he had ever before seen in one place.

More than 40,000 tickets for the great grand stand had been sold, and it was filled to overflowing. The track between the grand stand and the judges' stand was jammed as full as it could be, and the enormous crowd spread all around the place from which the Colonel was to speak.

The Minnesota State fair has a habit of drawing crowds of from 50,000 to 75,000, and it was estimated that yesterday there were fully 90,000 people on the grounds when President Taft spoke. To-day the crowd of yesterday was exceeded. Senator Nelson, who was with Col. Roosevelt, estimated the number of those who were trying to hear the Colonel at 60,000, and that did not include thousands who, finding themselves unable to get within hearing range, had given up the attempt and were contenting themselves with simply standing where they could catch an occasional glimpse of the Colonel.

When he appeared on the platform the vast throng of people jumped to their feet, waved hats, threw cushions into the air, and united in a deafening roar of welcome.

Talks on Good Citizenship.

The Colonel talked to the people for half an hour on good citizenship and summed up thus:

"Let each man hold up that particular corner of the Nation that is under his own roof. Let him do that and then let him join in the general uplift of all of us."

Returning to St. Paul, Col. Roosevelt went to the home of Frank B. Kellogg for a rest, and then attended a dinner given by Col. Alexander O. Brodie of the Rough Riders. There was no speechmaking at the dinner, and Col. Roosevelt started for the train as soon as it was over. He left to-night for Milwaukee, where he is to spend to-morrow.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH.

Says Greedy Interests Favor State Control, as Less Effective.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 6.—Col. Roosevelt's speech at the Conservation Congress to-day was as follows:

"America's reputation for efficiency stands deservedly high throughout the world. We are efficient probably to the full limit that any nation can attain by the methods hitherto used. There is great reason to be proud of our achievements, and yet no reason to believe that we cannot excel our past. Through a practically unrestrained individualism we have reached a pitch of literally unexampled material prosperity; although the distribution of this prosperity leaves much to be desired from the standpoint of justice and fair dealing. But we have not only allowed the individual a free hand, which was in the main right; we have also allowed great corporations to act as though they were individuals, and to exercise the rights of individuals, in addition to using the vast combined power of high organization and enormous wealth for their own advantages. This development of corporate action, it is true, is doubtless in large part responsible for the gigantic development of our natural resources, but it is not less responsible for waste, destruction, and monopoly on an equally gigantic scale.

"The method of reckless and uncontrolled private use and waste has done for us all the good it ever can, and it is time to put an end to it before it does all the evil it easily may. We have passed the time when heedless waste and destruction and arrogant monopoly are any longer permissible. Henceforth we must seek National efficiency by a new and a better way, by the way of the orderly development and use, coupled with the preservation, of our National resources, by making the most of what we have for the benefit of all of us, instead of leaving the sources of material prosperity open to indiscriminate exploitation. These are some of the reasons why it is wise that we should abandon the old point of view and why conservation has become a patriotic duty.

Waterways.

"One of the greatest of our conservation problems is the wise and prompt development and use of the waterways of this Nation. The Twin Cities, lying, as they do, at the headwaters of the Mississippi, are not upon the direct line of the proposed Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway. Yet they are deeply interested in its prompt completion, as well as in the deepening and regulation of the Mississippi to the mouth of the Missouri and to the Gulf. The project for a great trunk waterway, an arm of the sea, extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the great lakes, should not be abandoned. The Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway, and the development of the rivers which flow into it, should be pushed to completion vigorously and without delay. But we must recognize at the outset that there are certain conditions without which the people cannot hope to derive from it the benefits they have a right to expect.

"In nearly every river city from St. Paul to the Gulf the water front is controlled by the railways. Nearly every artificial waterway in the United States, either directly or indirectly, is under the same control. It goes without saying that (unless the people prevent it in advance) the railways will attempt to take control of our waterways as fast as they are improved and completed; nor would I blame them if we, the people, are supine in the matter. We must see to it that adequate terminals are provided in every city and town on every improved waterway, terminals open under reasonable conditions to the use of every citizen, and rigidly protected against monopoly; and we must compel the railways to co-operate with the waterways continuously, effectively, and under reasonable conditions. Unless we do so the railway lines will refuse to deliver freight to the boat lines, either openly or by imposing prohibitory conditions, and the waterways once improved will do comparatively little for the benefit of the people who pay the bill.

"Adequate terminals properly controlled and open through lines by rail and boat are two absolutely essential conditions to the usefulness of inland waterway development. I believe, furthermore, that the railways should be prohibited from owning, controlling, or carrying any interest in the boat lines on our rivers, unless under the strictest regulation and control of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, so that the shippers' interests may be fully protected.

The National Forests.

The people of the United States believe in the complete and rounded development of inland waterways for all the useful purposes they can be made to serve. They believe also in forest protection and forest extension. The fight for our National forests in the West has been won. After a campaign in which the women of Minnesota did work which should secure to them the perpetual gratitude of their State, Minnesota won her National forest, and will keep it; but the fight to create the Southern Appalachian and White Mountain forests in the East is not yet over. The bill has passed the House and will come before the Senate for a vote next February. The people of the United States, regardless of party or section, should stand solidly behind it and see that their representatives do likewise.

"If any proof were needed that forest protection is a National duty, the recent destruction of forests in the West by fire would supply it. Even with the aid of the army added to that of the forest service, the loss has been severe. Without either it would have been vastly greater.

"But the forest service does more than protect the National forests against fire. It makes them practically and increasingly useful as well. During the last year, for which I have the figures, the National forests were used by 22,000 cattlemen with their herds, 5,000 sheepmen with their flocks, 5,000 timbermen with their crews, and 45,000 miners. More than 5,000 persons used them for other special industries. Nearly 34,000 settlers had the free use of wood.

"The total resident population of the National forests is about a quarter of a million, which is larger than the population of certain States. More than 700,000 acres of agricultural land have been patented or listed for patent within the forests, and the reports of the forest officers show that more than 400,000 people a year use the forests for recreation, camping, hunting, fishing, and similar purposes. All this is done, of course, without injury to the timber, which has a value of at least a thousand million dollars.

"Moreover, the National forests protect the water supply of a thousand cities and towns, about 800 irrigation projects, and more than 300 power projects, not counting the use of water, for these and other purposes by individual settlers. I think that hereafter we may safely disregard any statements that the National forests are withdrawn from settlement and use.

A Country Life Institute.

"The investigations of the Country Life Commission have led the farmers of this country to realize that they have not been getting their fair share of progress and all that it brings. Some of our farming communities in the Mississippi Valley and in the Middle West have made marvelous progress, yet even the best of them, like communities of every other kind, are not beyond improvement, while much needs to be done in some other sections to improve country life.

"As yet we know comparatively little of the basic facts of rural civilization. The means for better farming we have studied with care, but to better living on the farm and to better business on the farm the farmers themselves have given scant attention. One of the most urgent needs of our civilization is that the farmers themselves should undertake to get for themselves a better knowledge along these lines, and then to apply it.

"Sir Horace Plunkett, for many years a Wyoming cattleman, and now devoting himself in Ireland to the country life problem there, has suggested in his recent book on "The Country Life Problem in America" the creation of a Country Life Institute as a centre where the work and knowledge of the whole world concerning country life may be brought together for the use of every nation. I am strongly in sympathy with this idea, and I hope to see it carried out with the co-operation and assistance of our own people. Last Spring, while visiting the capital of Hungary, Budapest, I was immensely impressed by the Museum of Country Life, containing an extraordinary series of studies in agriculture, in stock raising, in forestry, in mining; the exhibits were of the utmost practical importance and were also intensely interesting and instructive. I greatly wish we had such a museum in Washingon; and some of your farmer Congressmen ought to get a full and detailed report of this Budapest museum, to be printed for distribution in a public document.

Human Efficiency.

"As a people we have not yet learned to economize. One of the virtues we Americans most need is thrift. It is a mere truism to say that luxury and extravagance are not good for a nation. So far as they affect character, the loss they cause may be beyond computation. But in the material sense there is a loss greater than is caused by both extravagance and luxury put together. I mean the needless, useless, and excessive loss to our people from premature death and avoidable diseases. Wholly apart from the grief, the suffering, and the wretchedness which they cause, the material loss each year has been calculated at nearly twice what it costs to run the Federal Government. In addition to the State and city health officers and organizations, there is urgently needed a Federal Bureau of Health, to act, so far as the National Government properly may, to relieve our people from this dreadful burden.

National Conservation Commission.

"One of the most important meetings in our recent history was that of the Governors in the White House in May, 1908, to consider the conservation question. By the advice of the Governors the meeting was followed by the appointment of a National Conservation Commission. The meeting of the Governors directed the attention of the country to conservation as nothing else could have done, while the work of the commission gave the movement definiteness and supplied it with a practical programme. But at the moment when the commission was ready to begin the campaign for putting its programme into effect an amendment to the Sundry Civil Service bill was introduced by a Congressman from Minnesota with the purpose of putting a stop to the work so admirably begun.

"Congress passed the amendment. Its object was to put an end to the work of a number of commissions, which had been appointed by the President, and whose contribution to the public welfare had been simply incalculable. Among these were the commission for reorganizing the business methods of the Government, the Public Lands Commission, the Country Life Commission, and the National Conservation Commission itself. When I signed the Sundry Civil Service bill containing this amendment I transmitted with it as my last official act a memorandum declaring that the amendment was void, because it was an unconstitutional interference with the rights of the Executive, and that if I were to remain President I would pay to it no attention whatever.

"The National Conservation Commission thereupon became dormant. The suspension of its work came at a most unfortunate time, and there was serious danger that the progress already made would be lost. At this critical moment the National Conservation Association was organized. It took up the work which otherwise would not have been done, and it exercised a most useful influence in preventing bad legislation, in securing the introduction of better conservation measures at the past session of Congress, and in promoting the passage of wise laws. It deserves the confidence and support of every citizen interested in the wise development and preservation of our natural resources, and in preventing them from passing into the hands of uncontrolled monopolies. It joins with the National Conservation Congress in holding this meeting. I am here by the joint invitation of both.

Pan-American Conservation.

"When the Government of the United States awoke to the idea of the conservation and saw that it was good, it lost no time in communicating the advantage of the new point of view to its immediate neighbors among the nations. A North American Conservation Conference was held in Washington, and the co-operation of Canada and Mexico in the great problem of developing the resources of the continent for the benefit of its people was asked and promised. The nations upon our northern and southern boundaries wisely realized that their opportunity to conserve the natural resources was better than ours, because with them destruction and monopolization had not gone so far as they had with us.

"So it is with the Republics of Central and South America. Obviously they are on the verge of a period of great material progress. The development of their natural resources—their forests, their mines, their water, and their soils—will create enormous wealth. It is to the mutual interest of the United States and our sister American Republics that this development should be wisely done. Our manufacturing industries ofer a market for more and more of their natural wealth and raw material, while they will increasingly desire to meet that demand in commercial exchange. The more we buy from them, the more we shall sell to them. Their prosperity is inseparably involved with our own.

"Thank Heaven, we of this continent are now beginning to realize, what in the end the whole world will realize, that normally it is a good thing for a nation to have its neighbor nations prosper. We of the United States are genuinely and heartily pleased to see growth and prosperity in Canada, in Mexixco, in South America.

"It is clear that unless the Governments of our southern neighbors take steps in the near future by wise legislation to control the development and use of their natural resources, they will probably fall into the hands of concessionaires and promoters, whose single purpose, without regard to the permanent welfare of the land in which they work, will be to make the most possible money in the shortest possible time. There will be a shameful waste, destructive loss, and short-sighted disregard of the future, as we have learned by bitter experience here at home.

"Unless the Governments of all the American Republics, including our own, enact in time such laws as will both protect their natural wealth and promote their legitimate and reasonable development, future generations will owe their misfortunes to us of to-day. A great patriotic duty calls upon us. We owe it to ourselves and to them to give the American Republics all the help we can. The cases in which we have failed should be no less instructive than the cases in which we have succeeded. With prompt action and good will the task of saving the resources for the people is full of hope for all of us.

State and Federal Control.

"But while we of the United States are anxious, as I believe we are able, to be of assistance to others, there are problems of our own which we must not overlook. One of the most important conservation questions of the moment relates to the control of water power monopoly in the public interest. There is apparent to the judicious observer a distinct tendency on the part of our opponents to cloud the issue by raising the question of State as against Federal jurisdiction. We are ready to meet that issue if it is forced upon us. But there is no hope for the plain people in such conflicts of jurisdictions. The essential question is not one of hair-splitting legal technicalities. It is simply this: Who can best regulate the special interests for the public good?

"Most of the predatory corporations are inter-State or have inter-State affiliations. Therefore they are largely out of reach of effective State control, and fall of necessity within the Federal jurisdiction. One of the prime objects of those among them that are grasping and greedy is to avoid any effective control either by State or Nation; and they advocate at this time State control simply because they believe it to be the least effective. In the great fight of the people to drive the special interests from the dominion of our Government the Nation is stronger and its jurisdiction is more effective than that of any State.

"The most effective weapon against these great corporations, most of which are financed and owned on the Atlantic Coast, will be Federal laws and the Federal Executive. That is why I so strongly oppose the demand to turn these matters over to the States. It is fundamentally a demand against the interest of the plain people, of the people of small means, against the interests of our children and our children's children; and it is primarily in the interest of the great corporations which desire to escape all Government control.

The Conservation Fight.

"One of the difficulties in putting into practice the conservation idea is that the field to which it applies is constantly growing in the public mind. It has been no slight task to bring before 90,000,000 people a great conception like that of conservation, and convince them that it is right. This much we have accomplished. But there remains much to be cleared up, and many misunderstandings to be removed. Those misunderstandings are due in part at least to direct misrepresentation by men to whose interest it is that conservation should not prosper.

"For example, we find it constantly said by men who should know better that temporary withdrawals, such as the withdrawals of coal lands, will permanently check development. Yet the fact is that these withdrawals leave no purpose except to prevent the coal lands from passing into private ownership until Congress can pass laws to open them to development under conditions just alike to the public and to the men who will do the developing. If there is delay, the responsibility for it rests, not on the men who made the withdrawals to protect the public interest, but on those who prevent Congress from passing wise legislation and so putting an end to the need for withdrawals.

"Abuses committed in the name of a just cause are familiar to all of us. Many unwise things are done and many unwise measures are advocated in the name of conservation, either through ignorance or by those whose interest lies not in promoting the movement, but in retarding it. For example, to stop water power development by needless refusal to issue permits for water power or private irrigation works on the public lands inevitably leads many men, friendly to conservation and believers in its general principles, to assume that its practical application is necessarily a check upon progress. Nothing could be more mistaken. The idea, widely circulated of late, that conservation means locking up the natural resources for the exclusive use of later generations, is wholly mistaken. Our purpose is to make full use of these resources, but to consider our sons and daughters as well as ourselves; just as a farmer uses his farm in ways to preserve its future usefulness. Conservation is the road to National efficiency, and it stands for ample and wise development.

"But in spite of these difficulties, most of which are doubtless inevitable in any movement of this kind, conservation has made marvelous progress. I have been astounded and delighted on my return from abroad at the progress made while I was away. We have a right to congratulate ourselves on this marvelous progress; but there is no reason for believing that the fight is won.

"In the beginning the special interests, who are our chief opponents in the conservation fight, paid little heed to the movement, because they neither understood it nor saw that if it won they must lose. But with the progress of conservation in the minds of our people the fight is getting sharper. The nearer we approach to victory the bitterer the opposition that we must meet and the greater the need for caution and watchfulness. Open opposition we can overcome, but I warn you especially against the men who come to congresses such as this ostensibly as disinterested citizens, but actually as the paid agents of the special interests.

"I heartily approve the attitude of any corporation interested in the deliberations of a meeting such as this which comes hither to advocate, by its openly accredited agents, views which it believes the meeting should have in mind. But I condemn with equal readiness the appearance of a corporate agent before any convention who does not declare himself frankly as such.

"This congress is a direct appeal to the patriotism of our whole people. The Nation wisely looks to such gatherings for counsel and leadership. Let that leadership be sound, definite, practical, and on the side of all the people. It would be no small misfortune if a meeting such as this should ever fall into the hands of the open enemies or false friends of the great movement which it represents.

Conclusion.

"It is our duty and our desire to make this land of ours a better home for the race, but our duty does not stop there. We must also work for a better Nation to live in this better land. The development and conservation of our National character and our free institutions must go hand in hand with the development and conservation of our natural resources, which the Governors' Conference so well called the foundations of our prosperity. Whatever progress we may make as a Nation, whatever wealth we may accumulate, however far we may push mechanical development and production, we shall never reach a point where our welfare can depend in the last analysis on anything but honesty, courage, loyalty, and good citizenship. The homely virtues are the lasting virtues, and the road which leads to them is the road to genuine and lasting success.

"What this country needs is what every free country must set before it as the great goal toward which it works—an equal opportunity for life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness for every one of its citizens. To achieve this end we must put a stop to the improper political dominion, no less than to the improper economic dominion, of the great special interests. This country, its natural resources, its natural advantages, its opportunities, and its institutions, belong to all its citizens. They cannot be enjoyed fully and freely under any government in which the speical interests as such have a voice. The supreme political task of our day, the indispensable condition of National efficiency and National welfare, is to drive the special interests out of our public life."

SMITH FOR FEDERAL RULE.

Says a Few Interests Are Getting Control of Water Power.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 6.—In addressing the conservation convention on the subject of water power to-day Herbert Knox Smith, United States Commissioner of Corporations, declared that the close relations of water power companies throughout the country and the fact that the power, by means of electric transmission, can be distributed over a wide area—from one State to another—makes conservation of this great force a proper duty of the Federal Government. He stated it as his personal belief that the National Government has full constitutional statutory authority to assume the task.

"The investigation of developed water powers now being made by the Bureau of Corporations," he declared, "shows that up to date eighteen concerns or closely allied interests control over 1,800,000 horse power of the water power. A total of more than 3,200,000 horse power, some of it undeveloped, is controlled by these eighteen groups. The total water power in use in the United States in 1908, as estimated by the census and the Geological Survey, was only 5,300,000.

Men who are officers or Directors of the General Electric Company, or of its three wholly controlled subsidiary companies, are also officers or Directors in many other corporations, which include twenty-eight corporations that operate hydro-electric plants, with at least 795,000 horse power developed or under construction and 600,000 undeveloped, in sixteen States, a total of 1,395,000 horse power, (equal to more than 25 per cent. of all the developed water power in the United States in 1908.)

"This group includes also over eighty public service corporations, not counting their minor subsidiaries; more than fifteen railroads, six companies that use their power in the manufacture of cotton goods, with 35,000 hydraulic horse power developed, and over fifty banks and financial houses, many of them in the first rank of importance. This remarkable financial connection in itself is very significant. Fifty-three General Electric men, in all, constitute this chain of connection."

HIRED TAXICAB BY MONTH.

Special to The New York Times.

FAIRFIELD, Conn., Sept. 6.—In the hearing before Judge E. P. Nobbs to-day on the application of Mrs. Julia Watt Morris Curtiss for the removal of the conservators over her Dr. G. A. Lawrence of New York, a nerve specialist, said he believed Mrs. Curtiss should be restored to her rights and was capable of managing her own affairs.

Under cross-examination Dr. Lawrence admitted that since September Mrs. Curtiss entered into a contract for the unlimited use of a taxicab at the rate of $300 a month, and that when he went to Chicago to attend the Knights Templar conclave Mrs. Curtiss accompanied him so he could continue to treat her. At the Blackstone Hotel, he admitted, most of his breakfasts were served in Mrs. Curtiss's room.

At the conclusion of the examination Judge E. S. Banks, conservator for Mrs. Curtiss, said it was against his wish for Dr. Lawrence further to attend Mrs. Curtiss or to see her in his professional capacity, believing his services highly inimical to her interests.

WILDCAT ENGINE IN CRASHES.

Runs Into Freight, Then Backs Away Into Passenger Train, Killing Engineer

MASSILLON, Ohio, Sept. 6.—A runaway locomotive on the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad crashed into a passenger train at Run Junction, seven miles south of here, to-day, killing Charles W. Foster, engineer of the passenger train. Not one of the passengers was hurt seriously.

The runaway started at Warmongton, four miles sout of Massilon. It was northbound when it crashed head on into a southbound freight after the engineer of the freight threw on the reverse and leaped to safety.

The impact threw over the throttle on the wildcat engine, and as it rebounded from the freight at full speed it backed up the track. It passed through Navarre, and smashed into the passenger train, a local from Brewster to Orrville, at Run Junction.

The passenger train had 100 passengers, including workmen belonging to the night shift at the Brewster yards of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Road. A dozen workmen received minor injuries.

LA FOLLETTE WINS IN WISCONSIN VOTE

NEW HAMPSHIRE OVERTURN

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 6.—La Follette is an easy victor in the Wisconsin primary election for United States Senator. Running easily between two and three to one over S. A. Cook, the Taft Republican candidate, his nomination is assured by about the figures prophesied by the majority of the campaigners for the last three days. Twelve out of twenty precincts in Washington County give La Follette 465 and Cook 349.

County option is defeated. That is the phase of the campaign on which Wisconsin interest centred. The outside looked to the result of the fight on La Follette, but the Wisconsin interest was on the liquor question, and the result of the primaries determines that Wisconsin is not for any closer regulation of the liquor dealers than local option.

The race for the Governorship is between the two candidates who are both opposed to county option, with the county optionist, W. M. Lewis, by early returns, apparently, far to the rear. Country districts where Lewis is strongest were not so much for him as expected, but the returns are still extremely scattering.

The race at first is exceedingly close between E. T. Fairchild, Taft Republican, and F. E. McGovern, La Follette Republican. McGovern has the majority of the La Follette candidates for State offices with him, but La Follette himself refused to take sides between McGovern and Lewis.

Early returns began to show considerable strength for Fairchild, but later figures point to large gains for McGovern, who won fame as the anti-graft District Attorney of Milwaukee. McGovern is a probable winner by about 2,000.

The fight in the Congressional districts seems from early returns to have resulted in the renomination of the old Congressmen, who were insurgents almost to a man more or less radical. Cooper, the First District insurgent leader, has a big lead over the regular opponent, and in the Second, Nelson, another La Follette leader, has the lead according to the returns now available.

The progressive Republicans seem also to have won one Congressman, as indications point to the defeat of W. H. Stafford in the Fifth District.

Congressman Charles H. Weisse of Sheboygan Falls, is leading Burt Williams of Ashland in a few scattered returns received for the Democratic nomination for United States Seantor.

One striking result of the primary is the probable wiping of the Democratic Party off the political map in Wisconsin. It is now apparent that the Democrats have probably failed to poll the 20 per cent. of the vote cast at the last general election. Under the law this prevents the Democrats from having a ticket on the ballot at the November election. The Democrats, however, will test the constitutionality of the law.

The vote for Attorney General in Milwaukee County shows that Tucker, the candidate for Attorney General who committed suicide in the face of the envelope scandal, is running ahead of the live men in the race.

The Social Democrats nominated Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee for Congress from the Fifth District.

BASS, PROGRESSIVE, WINS.

Carries Republican Primaries for Governor in New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 6.—The reform wing of the Republican Party in New Hampshire, which first asserted itself in State politics in 1906 and which figured again in the State campaign of 1908, nominated its candidate, State Senator Robert P. Bass of Petersboro, for Governor to-day in the first State-wide primaries ever held in New Hampshire.

Returns in 150 election districts out of 290 in the State give Bass 8,757 and Ellis 5,129.

The contest between Sherman E. Burroughs, a progressive Republican of Manchester, to defeat Cyrus A. Sulloway, regular, for the Republican nomination for Congress added to the popular interest. Early returns showed that Sulloway was leading by a wide margin. Congressman Frank D. Currier received no party opposition for renomination.

One of the chief minor features of the election was the defeat of Seantor Gallinger, chief supporter of Col. Ellis, and former Senator William E. Chandler, who has been prominent in the support of Mr. Bass, for delegates to the State Convention.

That President Taft was keeping his finger on New Hampshire's political pulse was indicated by a telegram received here from him during the night, asking for information as to the result of the primary.

SENATOR BURROWS BEATEN.

Townsend Carries the Michigan Primaries on the Senatorship.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 6.—United States Senator Julius C. Burrows, in the primaries to-day, was defeated for re-nomination by Representative Charles E. Townsend, after serving eighteen years in the lower House of Congress and fifteen years in the Senate. Townsend is an insurgent who has led in the fight for railroad rate laws.

Charles E. Osborne of Sault Ste. Marie, former State Railroad Commissioner, and present Regent of the University, has been nominated for Governor by the Republicans. Mr. Osborne's opponents were Lieut. Gov. Patrick H. Kelly and Amos S. Musselman of Grand Rapids.

In the seven Congressional districts where there were Republican contests Congressman G. J. Diekmal was renominated in the Fifth District, Congressman Fordney in the Eighth, and Congressman Young in the Twelfth District. Congressman Washington Gardner was defeated in the Third District by J. M. C. Smith of Chaloite. In the Seventh District Representative Henry McMorren of Port Huron appears to have been renominated, though the fight was very close between Louis C. Crampton of Lapeer and the Port Huron Congressman.

CALIFORNIA INSURGENTS WIN.

Defeat Effort to Strengthen Platform Indorsement of Taft.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—An attempt by John McNab of Mendocino County, a leader of the regulars, to force the incorporation in the California Republican platform of a stronger indorsement of the Taft Administration than that framed by the Committee on Resolutions caused a storm in the Republican State Convention to-night. The amendment was defeated on a point of order and the platform, as originally presented, was adopted with tumultous cheering.

The progressive wing of the party took over the organization management to-day and indorsed the nominees chosen at the recent primaries. The National leadership of Theodore Roosevelt was recognized in speeches and resolutions. Every mention of the ex-President's name was received with great applause.

WILLCOX BOOM STARTED.

Chenango County Indorses Him—Warren County May Be for Sherman.

NORWICH, N. Y., Sept. 6.—William R. Willcox, Chairman of the Public Service Commission, First District, was indorsed for the Gubernatorial nomination by the Republicans of Chenango County in convention here to-day. Mr. Willcox is a native of the county. The work of Theodore Roosevelt as President was indorsed, but the convention did not go on record as favoring him for Temporary Chairman of the State Convention.

Resolutions were adopted commending the Administrations of President Taft and Gov. Hughes.

ONEIDA, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The Madison County Republican Convention to-day unanimously renominated Kirk B. Delano for the Assembly. Senatorial delegates were instructed for Senator Ralph W. Thomas.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The Warren County Republicans in convention to-dav indorsed the Administrations of President Taft and Gov. Hughes, and declared for direct primaries.

Charles Hitchcock was renominated for Assemblyman.

No mention was made of Col. Roosevelt, and in all probability Warren County will support Vice President Sherman for Temporary Chairman of the State Convention.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Thomas B. Wilson of Hall was nominated for Assemblyman by the Ontario County Republican Convention to-day. He has been a lecturer at State farmers' institutes for some time. The convention, in its resolutions, "recognizes in Theodore Roosevelt the most distinguished citizen of the country and the most resourceful leader of the Republican Party in New York State."

KING'S DELEGATION SPLIT.

The Old Guard Awaits Anxiously What the Primaries Show.

The organization leaders who attended yesterday afternoon a meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of Kings County, in Temple Bar, Brooklyn, said yesterday that the Roosevelt-Sherman imbroglio has split the party in that borough wide open. It was plain from their talk that the men of the "Old Guard" were uneasy over the outlook. Although they would have it that the Roosevelt men would have out forty delegates to the State convention from Brooklyn they seemed to be worried over the outcome of the borough primaries next Tuesday. The more enthusiastic of the Roosevelt sympathizers were claiming from fifty to sixty of the 137 delegates who will go from Kings to Saratoga.

The meeting of the Executive Committee was a special one and the only business transacted was the fixing of the dates for the local conventions. There was no discussion of the State row in the meeting, but after adjournment the leaders stayed around headquarters talking over the situation. State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff was present, but said he had no statement to make concerning the fight.

McCABE RESENTS CHARGE.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 6.—Robert E. Whalen aspires to be the Democratic State committeeman from the Albany district, and since his campaign to attain that end was inaugurated plenty of insinuations have been circulated regarding the integrity of State Committeeman Patrick E. McCabe. A copy of a letter written by Dr. J. W. Wiltsie of Albany to Chairman John A. Dix, in which the honesty of Mr. McCabe is impugned, was printed in certain of the Albany Sunday newspapers, and today Mr. McCabe directed his lawyers to bring suit against Dr. Wiltsie for defamation of character, putting the damages at $25,000. The offending paragraphs in the letter read as follows:

"It is openly charged that there is collusion between the present leader, Patrick McCabe, and the Republican leader, William Barnes, Jr.

"You are perhaps familiar with the means employed by Mr. McCabe to reach the leadership. Briefly, he is charged with taking funds from Thomas J. Van Alstyne in the Mayoralty campaign of 1899, ostensibly to further the election of Van Alstyne, and then treacherously spending them in the interest of Mr. Van Alstyne's opponent, James H. Blassing."

Mr. McCabe said to-day:

"I am tired of hearing this talk of a political understanding between Mr. Barnes and myself. There is not the slightest foundation for it."

BALDWIN LIKELY TO WIN.

Buckingham May Be Named for Second Place in Connecticut.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 6.—Arrangements for the Democratic State Convention, which meets here to-morrow, were adjusted to-night by the party leaders. Active opposition to the nomination for Governor of Judge Simeon E. Baldwin was reported only from Fairfield County. This delegation will come to the convention instructed to vote for Mayor Edward T. Buckingham of Bridgeport.

To-night an effort was made to induce Mayor Buckingham to withdraw and accept the nomination for Lieutenant Governor. It looked at midnight as if this plan would be followed. In case it goes through the entire State ticket will probably be nominated by acclamation on Thursday.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Sept. 6.—The nomination of Everett J. Lake for Governor on the Republican ticket was made practically certain to-night, when he carried seven of the ten wards of this city in the caucuses to select delegates to the State Convention. Both Lake and Charles A. Goodwin, the rival candidates for the nomination, live in this city, and it was agreed by the delegats lectd from many citis and towns to vote for the candidate who carried Hartford to-night.

"This has been easily the largest post Labor Day traffic we have ever had," said a New York Central official. "We carried in 150,000 people this morning, and since Friday have brought back 650,000. Since Friday we have had to put on 720 extra cars. We brought back almost as many people on Saturday and Sunday as we did last night and this morning. New Yorkers are beginning to understand the inconvenience of all trying to come home on the same train. Since Saturday the New York Central has brought in 30,000 pieces of baggage, and the New Haven Road has done likewise. This has kept our new automobile baggage trucks, which carry twenty-five pieces of baggage a trip, busy all the time."

As the sun-burned crowds filed through the train gates in the different stations there occurred all sorts of meetings and partings. One fifteen-year-old girl was an object of attention all the way down one of the train platforms because of the big bunch of golden rod she carried. Catching sight of a tall dignified-looking man with a high hat and a full brown beard, who was standing outside the train gates, she waved the golden rod at him frantically.

"Oh, papa, see what I brought you," she shouted. "I picked them on purpose yesterday."

Suddenly, just as the man was about to reach down and pull her uu into his arms an expression of dismay pased over her face and she almost dropped the golden rod.

"Oh, papa," she exclaimed, "I've left my automobile coat hanging up in the hotel closet. What in the world shall I do?"

The proud father did not seem to be greatly troubled at the information. He picked the girl up in his arms and hugged her with a vigor greatly to the detriment of the golden rod.

"I don't care if you've left a hundred automobile coats as long as I've got you back," he said between the kisses.

They presently went to the telephone booths to claim the automobile coat by long-distance.

$200,000 FOR AIRMEN AT BELMONT PARK

Prizes and Profits of the Tournament Now Expected to Reach That Sum.

MANY ENTRIES COUNTED ON

Chairman Ryan Confident That Leading Aviators from Home and Abroad Will Be There.

Chairman Allan A. Ryan of the Committee of Arrangements for the international aviation tournament at Belmont Park race track, has completed all important business details for the meet. The official entry blanks were issued yesterday, and Chairman Ryan said that from now on it seemed squarely up to those most intimately interested in aeronautics to do the rest.

Copies of the entry blanks have been distributed broadcast among the aviators of this country and Europe. Several hundred copies have also been sent to the aero clubs abroad. The official programme, containing all the events and prizes, is now being printed and will follow the entry blanks in a few days.

With $50,000 in cash prizes and the opportunity of sharing all the profits of the meeting, after the necessary expenses are deducted, it is expected that at least $200,000 will be divided among the aviators, and it is thought that the entry list will include the leading aviators of both sides of the water.

The managers of the meet expect to have all the entries in by Oct. 1 and the ground at Belmont Park ready for practice work at least two weeks before the tournament opens.

Mr. McCoy returned yesterday from Boston, where he was in conference with all the aviators there. He said last night that he was more sanguine than ever that the Belmont Park tournament will be the most interesting exhibition of flying ever witnessed. All railroads entering New York are planning to run excursions to the city during the tournament, and arrangements will be made to handle the large crowds at the park.

In discussing the plans of the Committeen on Arrangements, Mr. Ryan said:

"It rests now with our aviators and aeronautic clubs and societies to say whether the Belmont Park tournament shall be the creditable success that such an international affair should be, or something less than that of which we should not be very proud. There is no question about the interest the people of this country have in the development of human flight, and the whole country is waiting with keen interest for this gathering of the world's greatest aviators. If the aviators themselves will only take hold and do their part we shall have a meeting that will be a credit to our own aeronauts and to the country as well.

"I believe that every aviator, every official and member of the aero clubs throughout the country and, in short, every person in any way interested in aeronautics should take hold now and work as a matter of patriotic pride. You can always reply upon the American people doing the square thing in sporting matters, and if our hopes are realized in this respect we shall have an aviation meeting that will eclipse in popular interest and achievement anything yet done here or abroad.

"This whole business of human flight is so new that naturally there has been more or less confusion and friction among the leading performers in the great game, but now is the time for us to lay all these personal matters aside and get together in the common cause of American sport and enterprise. Those who are responsible for the meeting in a financial way have done all in their power to smooth away the little difficulties and make the meeting a success.

"Since men began flying for money no such opportunity has ever been offered for them to win prizes honestly and easily as at Belmont Park. The sum of $50,000 will be offered in cash prizes, and every prize is put up to be won. Besides that we have established a system of profit-sharing, whereby the aviators are to receive a very large share of all the profits of the meeting after the necessary expenses are paid. It now seems probable that with good weather we shall have large crowds there during the week, and if that is the case we may have something like $200,000 to be divided among the men who do the flying.

"No such opportunity has ever before been offered to aviators, and there is little doubt in my mind that they will be there in large numbers from both sides of the ocean to get the money. And if the aviators are there the crowds will be there, and with the crowds will come the money and the success."

CURTISS MUST ANSWER.

Aviator and His Co-Directors Must Make an Accounting of Funds.

Justice Page in the Supreme Court yesterday overruled the demurrers interposed by Glenn H. Curtiss, Capt. Thomas H. Baldwin, Arthur W. Gilbert, and others, sued as Directors of the Herring-Curtiss Company by A. M. Herring, Vice President of the company, who seeks an accounting. Mr. Herring asserts that he was the founder of the corporation, which operates factories in Hammondsport, N. Y., where aeroplanes are built, and that practically the entire investment is his. The Vice President seeks to have Mr. Curtiss restrained from manufacturing, selling, or operating flying machines except under the management and control of the company.

That Curtiss was employed as the company's General Manager at a salary of $5,000 a year and that it was understood that he was to devote all his time to the company's business is alleged by Mr. Herring. Notwithstanding this, Curtiss has used aeroplanes owned by the company in all of his exhibition flights, and also charged their repairs to the Herring-Curtiss Company. Mr. Herring complains that the aviator has kept for his own use all of the money made by his exhibitions, which he estimates at about $50,000.

Justice Page disagreed with the demurrers filed by Curtiss and his co-Directors that the complaint did not state sufficient facts to form a cause of action, and ordered the defendants to answer.

SEYMOUR BREAKS PROPELLERS.

The Aviator Meets with Two Accidents on Hempstead Field.

Special to The New York Times.

AVIATION FIELD, HEMPSTEAD, L. I., Sept. 6.—Harry S. Harkness harvested more grass on the grounds here this morning. He sailed the Antoinette biplane, which he will fly at Belmont Park, for many laps of the field about 6 A. M. He is not trying to do anything out of the ordinary at present.

The natives of Mineola got their first glimpse of the moving-picture business in the making here to-day. Photographs were taken of Seymour and his biplane. Then Seymour broke his propeller, one of the blades catching in a guy wire. He got another and broke that, which deferred the picture taking until to-morrow. He was fitted out with a third new propeller and made a good flight this evening.

Capt. Thomas Baldwin, whose call to go to St. Louis was countermanded, afterward received a second summons and is now on his way there.

Israel Ludlow, who with Harkness and Walter Fairchild makes up the field committee, suggested to-night that that body inspect every new machine before it is

SIX IN WELLMAN'S CREW.

He Gives Out the Names of All Who Are to Fly with Him.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 6.—Walter Wellman, owner of the dirigible balloon airship America, announced here to-night the personnel of the company which will accompany him in his daring attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean to European shores by the air route.

The party will number six, all told, with Mr. Wellman in command. Next in order will be Melvin Vaniman, chief engineer, who was with the owner of the American in his unsuccessful attempt to reach the north pole from Spitzbergen last August. Murray Simon of London, navigating officer of the steamship Oceanic, of the White Star Line, will be the navigator.

"Jack" Irwin will have charge of the high-powered Marconi outfit which is depended upon to keep the America in touch with shore and find help somewhere on the high seas if mischance should overtake the expedition, as well as to supply news of the flight to THE NEW YORK TIMES, The London Daily Telegraph, and The Chicago Record-Herald.

Chief Engineer Vaniman's most invaluable assistant will be Louis Loud of Illinois, a trained mechanician, who was with the Wellman expedition in Spitzbergen, and possesses the confidence of his associates because he has had actual experience in air navigation under the most trying conditions.

The sixth member of the crew will be Fred B. Aubert of Washington, a youth of twenty years, who has been a member of the Wellman staff since the America arrived here, and is regarded as a dependable man for any emergency.

Mr. Wellman admitted to-night that three wealthy young New Yorkers had each offered $5,000 for the privilege of performing the duties that will be assigned to the unassuming young mechanician.

The America party had a novel proposal to-day from an Atlantic City resident, who asked that the America carry a consignment of fruit to a relative in London. His request was denied, because every inch of space in the airship will be required for fuel, food, and sleeping purposes.

The America will not make a preliminary flight on Saturday, as had been hoped. Mr. Wellman said to-night that it will not be taken from its shed until everything is in readiness.

"We are here for business, not for exhibition purposes. And when the America takes to the air she will be in readiness for the transatlantic dash."

MOISSANT FLIES TO LONDON.

Completes Air Journey from Paris, Which Has Taken Three Weeks.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—John B. Moissant, the Chicago aviator, reached the Crystal Palace this evening, completing his flight from Paris to London in exactly three weeks.

Moissant did the few remaining miles in two stages to-day. On the first attempt he encountered adverse winds and was forced to descend at Otford. There he awaited better weather, again ascending with his mechanic at 5 P. M. He reached the palace twenty-five minutes later. He circled over the palace grounds for several minutes and then landed about a mile away in a cricket field at Beckenham.

Moissant's machine was seriously damaged in landing, but neither the aviator, his mechanician, nor the tiny kitten, which was a passenger, was hurt.

John Benjamin Moissant, a Chicago man, who had a most adventurous career in Central America, where he made more than one fortune and was mixed up with various revolutions, came into world-wide fame three weeks ago by flying in a Blériot monoplane from Paris to a point a few miles from London, carrying a passenger, his French mechanic. The feat had been regarded by aviators as impossible. Extraordinary good luck attended the American in his flight from Paris to a point within a few miles of his goal. He descended at Chatham and made one attempt after another to complete his flight to a point that was almost in view, and each time was compelled to descend with more or less damage to his machine.

The London Daily Mail is to give a cup valued at $250 to Mr. Moissant in commemoration of his flight. The American may attempt to win the newspaper's $50,000 prize for a circuit flight in the United Kingdom next year. This flight is being anticipated with great interest and is similar in some respects to THE NEW YORK TIMES-Chicago Evening Post race from Chicago to New York.

AIR MEN UP DESPITE FOG.

Grahame-White Does Daring Evolutions at Harvard Meet.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 6.—A heavy, lowlying fog, which rolled in from the sea on a lazy east wind, settled down over the Harvard aviation field at Atlantic to-day, and during the hours allotted to professional flying—from 2 to 6:30 P. M.—so obliterated the landscape beyond the starting point that no flying contests could be held. Only one event was permitted, a single trial at rising from the ground with the shortest start possible. This was done directly in front of the grand stand, Claude Grahame-White of England making 66 feet 10 inches in his Farman biplane.

Despite the fog Grahame-White, Glenn H. Curtiss, Charles F. Willard, and Walter Brookins came out in their machines and carried on interesting and daring evolutions for the benefit of the crowd that had braved the weather.

Claude Grahame-White was again the chief attraction, being in the air a greater part of the afternoon, although not in competition. His swoops down over the grandstand, scarcely clearing the heads of the newspaper men and officials on the course, were startling.

The Wright fliers have found some difficulty in getting their engines into proper working order, but hope in a day or two to make a fair start toward winning some of the prizes.

HAVEMEYER A SPEEDER, TOO.

Employed Constables to Catch Law Breakers and He's Among Them.

Harry O. Havemeyer, Jr., who lives on the Theodore Havemeyer estate at Mahwah, N. J., asked Judge Demarest last week for four Bergen County constables to stop auto speeding along the Havemeyer road.

The constables completed their work yesterday, and returned to Hackensack with the numbers of fifty autos. These numbers were given to Justice Bratt and summonses will now be issued.

It was noted that Harry O. Havemeyer's own auto was caught breaking the speed law three times. Though paying for the time spent by the constables at Mahwah, as well as their hotel expenses, Mr. Havemeyer will be summoned to the local court at Hackensack with the rest of the offenders.

Havemeyer owns two high-power machines and enjoys the distinction of riding from his home to the Suffern station on the Erie in three minutes. The distance is three miles.

SMOTE THE BANKERS, SAYS LADY CALLER

And They Let Mrs. von Claussen Take All the Honors of the Conflict to Herself.

SHE MERELY WANTED $500

Disregarded Rules Against Getting It and Says She Got It—Then Tells Gleefully of the Fisticuffs.

Mrs. Ida M. von Claussen, author of "Forget It" and other books, suffragette, member of the League of Joan of Arc, and the same who in the Summer of 1907 made her voice heard over the European cables because Minister Graves would not present her to King Oscar of Sweden, and later dared to threaten a $1,000,000 suit against President Roosevelt because he would not heed her requests that Minister Graves be recalled—this Mrs. Ida von Claussen, 6 feet tall and heavy in proportion, went down to the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, at 55 Cedar Street, yesterday morning, and assaulted several of its officers.

Accounts differ as to what damage was done. The bank officials had stationed a guard at the outer portal yesterday afternoon to say that nothing could be spoken to reporters. Mrs. von Claussen, who had summoned some of the afternoon newspaper reporters to be present when she struck the bank, received the morning newspaper men at 119 East Twenty-seventh Street, where she was quite frank.

She is the granddaughter of Michael Byrnes, who died leaving about $1,000,000, in which she has a one-eighth interest. The money was left in trust. Included in the estate is the Hotel Lorraine. The United States Mortgage and Trust Company is now the trustee of the estate, the original trustee having died.

Mrs. von Claussen has been wanting $500 in the last few days. She asserts that the United States Mortgage and Trust Company has been paying her the money that was due to her in driblets. Last Saturday she sent down to the bank as her envoy Mrs. Nellie Van Slingerland.

Mrs. Van Slingerland about 1890 got into the newspapers in connection with John R. G. Pitkin, then Ambassador to the Argentine Republic, and later Postmaster of New Orleans, from which city Mrs. Van Slingerland comes. The two wrote a book together called "Love and Politics." Later they quarreled. He died suddenly on July 4, 1901. Mrs. Van Slingerland and Mrs. von Claussen have recently been foregathering at 119 East Twenty-seventh Street, the headquarters of the Joan of Arc League.

As an envoy Mrs. Van Slingerland did not make good. She said yesterday afternoon that she had advised the bank officials to advance on account the $500 which Mrs. von Claussen wanted and let it all blow over. They told her to bring back Mrs. von Claussen with her yesterday. So it may be said that the United States Mortgage and Trust Company invited upon itself the tornado that gave its officers such a time, as one of them said yesterday, they won't get over for twenty-five years.

Taking the precaution to telephone to the afternoon newspapers, Mrs. von Claussen and her friend went down to the United States Mortgage and Trust Company yesterday morning. They began talking to Calvert Brewer, the First Vice President. Mrs. von Claussen interrupted so much that the gray-haired New Orleans envoy told her to please go away and sit down, which Mrs. von Claussen did. But she kept her eye on Mr. Brewer.

"You know," she told the reporters in her interview afterward, "I could see by his face that he was 'kidding the old lady.' I stood it as long as I could. Then I went over and said to him: 'Here, there is enough of this talking business. You run on upstairs and bring me that money, or I'll lick you.' He said again that the rules were against it.

"What did I do then? I lifted him out of his chair. I put my left elbow under his chin, and handed him one straight one with the knuckle—this one with the diamond ring on it—stuck out. That gashed his guarding hand slightly. I handed him another straight one, and he fell back against some curtains that were over an open door, and, of course, they couldn't hold him up.

"Then Carl G. Rasmus, the Second Vice President, a six-footer, came up. I gave him two, and he took the count. A third man by now had grabbed me—"

"I want it distinctly understood," said Mrs. Nellie Van Slingerland, "that I had run away by this time. I did not stay to mix up in any coarse, vulgar work. No, indeed, I was not there."

"To continue," went on Mrs. Von Claussen, smoothing out her pink semi-hobble and shaking her tremendous black velvet hat, "a third man grabbed me from behind. From the look I got of him out of the corner of my eye I could have fallen on him and squashed him, but that seemed so cruel. So I just shook him off and walked out. Later on my lawyer and the bank's lawyer met, and they gave me the $500. Nothing succeeds like a licking.

"The next two I am going to lick are Bartow S. Weeks and Charles Straus, two lawyers."

Last February she tried to get a Magistrate to issue warrants for the two lawyers. In the papers she made out in her much-talked-of "suit" against Theodore Roosevelt, Secretary Bacon, and Minister Graves, some time after the Swedish incident, she started out by saying that she wanted the Supreme Court to find her an honest lawyer to help her. A month ago she summoned to the Centre Street Court Jordan S. Rollins of Rollins & Rollins, 55 Cedar Street, counsel for the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, and attempted to lay him out with an umbrella. He escaped.

Mrs. von Claussen says she has taken lessons in fencing, wrestling, boxing, and jiu jitsu, but she has little need of these arts in handling Vice Presidents of banks. While the interviewers were talking with her yesterday afternoon some one came into 119 East Twenty-seventh Street to inquire about taking one of the lower floors of the Joan of Arc League's four-story house. Mrs. von Claussen asked the reporters to find her some one who would start up a catering business there. Mrs. Van Slingerland said severely, however, that the reporters needn't mind; she herself would look out for the renting of the floor.

Mrs. von Claussen has started, at the same address, she said, yesterday, the Swatiska Publishing Company, chiefly to publish her works. Up to date she has written, she declared, "Forget It," which is an attack on Roosevelt; "The Hypocrisy of Democracy," and "Has Virtue Its Own Reward?"; also a comic opera and a composition which she calls a "Japanese one-horse sketch."

She is somewhere near 36 years old, the daughter of Adolph Claussen and Jennie Byrnes. Her mother was a daughter of Matthey Byrnes. At the age of 16 she eloped with Robert Lyle Rayner of Chicago, lived with him a few weeks, and divorced him later on. In 1896 she married, at Narragansett Pier, a well-known New York physician, from whom she was divorced ten years later in South Dakota. She now declares that this divorce was illegal. They adopted Natalie, a little girl who is still living with her.

After the divorce of 1906 the granddaughter of Matthew Byrnes went abroad, added a "von" to her name, said she was of old and honored lineage, declared that Prince Eugene of Sweden wanted to marry her, and so comported herself that the American correspondents in Europe used up much money in cable tolls in telling how various noblemen were about to fight fierce but bloodless duels for her hand.

MAY TESTIFY IN BED

Or Be Carried to Court on Stretchers in the Rosenheimer Case.

When Coroner Schwannecke holds the inquest this morning into the death of Grace Hough, the Bronx girl, in connection with whose death on the night of Aug. 18, Edward T. Rosenheimer, the wealthy Pelham motorist, is held in $25,000 bail, it is hoped that Anna McCabe and George Fedden, her two companions on the fatal ride, will be able to appear in the Coroner's Court. If they do, they will have to be carried into the courtroom, as both are encased in plaster casts as a result of the injuries they received in the collision.

Dr. J. Lewis Amster, who is treating the sufferers, informed the Coroner yesterday that while he thought Fedden would be able to appear he was more doubtful if Miss McCabe's condition would permit of her being removed. Should either or both be unable to be moved this morning, the Coroner will go to their homes with his official senographer and their testimony will be taken at the bedside.

Coroner Schwannecke said yesterday that he had received a letter from a sixty-two-year-old woman, who informed him that several evenings previous to that of the fatal accident, she and her husband, who is 65 years old, were driving in a buggy in Pelham Parkway, when Rosenheimer, who, she says, she knows very well by sight, came up behind them at top speed in his machine, and cut across their path, pulling up his automobile suddenly and forcing them out of the road. Her letter said that both she and her husband were badly frightened and shaken up, and she had to take to her bed when she arrived home. She says Rosenheimer evidently scared them wantonly, and greeted their fright with a shout of laughter, after which he put on full speed.

The Coroner refused the name of the letter writer, but said that he would have her testify if necessary. Fleischer and Schumann, the two men who were with Rosenheimer and who are paroled as witnesses, will be called on to testify. The inquest is to be held at 10 o'clock.

STORM BANKRUPTCY HEARING

Forty-nine Girls Demand Immediate Payment of Back Wages.

Forty-nine irate young women, ranging in ages from 16 to 20 years, and led by Miss Nettie Thamm of 1,675 Halsey Street, Brooklyn, stormed the offices of Charles A. Tipling, referee in bankruptcy in Jackson Avenue and Fourth Street, Long Island City, yesterday afternoon to file their claims for wages against David T. Mercer, a manufacturer of lace handkerchiefs, against whom an action of involuntary bankruptcy was brought in the United States District Court several weeks ago.

According to Miss Thamm, Mercer was formerly in business in 1,806 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, and on June 23 he paid them with checks which the girls say were returned by the bank, marked "No funds." Following this Mercer's creditors put him into bankruptcy and the court appointed W. Earle Youkers receiver. At the proceedings before Referee Tipling yesterday Mr. Youkers was named trustee and the hearing was adjourned to Sept. 20. Mercer's liabilities are given as $14,813 and his assets as $2,071.

TWO BITTEN BY RABID DOG.

Policeman, Who Shot the Beast, and Boy, First Attacked, in Institute.

Policeman Henry Mohrmann of the Astoria precinct and James McHugh, 14 years old, of Astoria, were bitten yesterday by a supposedly rabid dog and sent to the Pasteur Institute for treatment. McHugh was bitten in the left leg.

Policeman Mohrmann, on duty at the ferry, saw the dog and crowd coming his way, and, stepping out into the roadway, he fired as the dog came within range, but missed. Stepping backward he tripped and fell, when the dog made a dash for his face. In defending himself the policeman thrust his revolver and hand into the dog's distended jaws, at the same time pulling the trigger. The shot killed the dog, but Mohrmann found he had been bitten through the fleshy part of the hand, between the thumb and fingers. The dog had also attacked two women and had torn off their dress skirts.

CRIPPEN ACCUSED OF POISONING WIFE

Public Prosecutor's Representative Says Hyoscin Was Found in the Remains.

ALTER CHARGE AGAINST GIRL

Authorities Now Accuse Miss Leneve of Being an Accessory After the Fact—The Pawned Jewelry.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, as principal, and Ethel Clare Leneve as an accessory after the fact, again appeared at the Bow Street Police Court to-day charged with the murder of Crippen's wife, Cora Belle Crippen, known on the stage as Belle Elmore.

The mysterious crime, with its mingling of tragedy and romance, tightens its hold on the public imagination as the story is unfolded little by little, and the court was congested with a curious, fascinated crowd, including a few smartly dressed women and some Americans, until the spectators almost envied the prisoners the comparative spaciousness of the dock.

Crippen, attired, as at his arraignment, in a gray frock suit, and Miss Leneve, in her familiar suit of blue, listened to the startling story related in detail by the Prosecuting Attorney in his opening address.

Crippen seemed quite indifferent to the fuss he had created, but nevertheless strained all his faculties to follow exactly what was said. The face of Miss Leneve was so hidden behind a blue veil that none could see what emotions swayed her.

Travers Humphreys, for the Public Prosecutor, set forth that Crippen and his wife were unhappily married; that the woman's death was of monetary advantage to Crippen in addition to the fact that his relations with his typist were such that Miss Leneve was unpleasantly jealous of the wife. The death of Mrs. Crippen would relieve the situation from the point of view of the man who loved one woman and was tied up to another.

Crippen needed money, it was added, and pawned jewelry later identified as the property of his wife. When his wife disappeared he made an explanation that he later admitted was untrue. The Prosecutor told of the admitted quarrel between the Crippens, the elopement of Crippen and Miss Leneve, and the finding of the body alleged to be that of the doctor's wife in the cellar of the Crippen home.

The Charge Against Miss Leneve.

Mr. Humphreys said that the Crown had decided to change the charge against Miss Leneve from that of being a principal to that of an accessory after the fact. In conclusion he stated that he questioned whether the girl could have believed the extraordinary story told to her by Crippen in explanation of his wife's disappearance.

The evidence offered by the Crown to day was along the same lines as at the previous hearing. A pawnbroker bore out counsel's statement that Crippen had pawned his wife's jewelry. Inspector Dew added a few minor facts to his story of the arrest of the accused, and promised to make a more important statement later.

Part of the new testimony, which will doubtless be elaborated later by the physicians who conducted the post-mortem examination, was the statement of Mrs. Paul Martinetti to the effect that Mrs. Crippen had once shown her a scar on the lower part of the body which had the appearance of being from an old cut. The doctors who examined the body found in the Crippen home discovered a piece of flesh bearing a similar scar.

In the course of his remarks the prosecutor definitely stated that the physicians who made the post-mortem examination had discovered the presence of large quantities of hyoscin, a colorless liquid poison. It had been known that the authorities had been working on the theory that Belle Elmore had been poisoned.

The Prosecutor went over the whole story for the benefit of Sir Albert De Rutzen, Senior Magistrate of the Bow Street Court, who was not present at the last hearing. Speaking of the relations between Crippen and his wife, Mr. Humphreys said that the affection displayed was apparently on the surface, according to Crippen's own statement, as the result of Belle Elmore's outbursts of temper. The Prosecutor spoke of Mrs. Crippen as Belle, the name used by Crippen when referring to his wife. The two, the Prosecutor continued, had occupied separate rooms for four years. For at least three years, he added, Miss Leneve had been on intimate terms with Crippen, which might account for the wife's anger in January Miss Leneve was feeling her position in regard to Crippen acutely, and expressed considerable jealousy of Mrs. Crippen.

In a written statement made to Inspector Dew when the investigation first opened, Crippen said that Belle was living under the protection of another man when he married her in Jersey City. The doctor also spoke of Bruce Miller's alleged acquaintance with his wife while he was in America, and the frequent threats which Belle had made to quit him and join another man, who occupied a better position in life.

Crippen Admitted Quarrel.

Crippen's statement concluded with a story of the quarrel on the night of Jan. 31, after Paul Martinetti and Mrs. Martinetti, who had spent the evening with the Crippens, had left the house. In the course of the quarrel, the doctor said, his wife threatened to leave him on the following day. On returning from business on Feb. 1, Crippen said, he found that his wife had gone. He took steps to prevent a scandal and fabricated the story of her trip to California and her death there.

Counsel added that if it were possible to get Bruce Miller over here from Chicago he would be invited to attend the court in order that the prisoner's statements might be put to a test.

Speaking of the post-mortem examination, the Prosecutor said that Dr. Wilcox had found more than half a grain of hyoscin, one of the deadliest of poisons, and from the fact that such a quantity had been discovered after the parts had been buried for months the physician was able to say that several grains must have been administered before death.

On Jan. 19, said Mr. Humphreys, Crippen purchased 5 grains of hydrobromide of hyoscin, a poison of such character that the person to whom it was administered would become unconscious almost instantly, though life might remain for several hours.

Counsel did not suggest the want of money as the motive for the crime, but he did say that the disappearance of Belle was a fortunate thing for Crippen from a monetary viewpoint. On Jan. 2 the accused had pawned jewelry for which he received $400, and on another day he pawned other jewels, receiving $575. All the property pawned had been recognized as the property of Mrs. Crippen.

Great Public Interest.

Popular feeling toward Crippen continues bitter because of the hideous character of the crime with which he is charged, but there is apparent an undercurrent of sympathy for the accused girl. However, in the throng that filled the adjacent streets in the hope of getting a glimpse of the prisoners as they were transferred from the jails at Brighton and Holloway to Bow Street, the ruling passion was plainly curiosity. The public at large had not had a good look at the prisoners since their return from Canada.

Crippen seems not to have suffered physically from his confinement. He is nervous, but he has always been of a rather nervous temperament, and, if his almost indifferent air is assumed, he plays the part well.

Miss Leneve has better control of herself than she had when she arrived in London. At that time she appeared on the verge of nervous collapse. It is said that it had been intimated to her before the proceedings opened to-day that the original charge of being a co-principal in the murder would be dropped, and that she would be held responsible only for what knowledge of guilt she acquired subsequent to the commission of the crime. This is said to have had a good effect upon the girl, which, it is hinted, was the end sought by the prosecution, which, at the proper time, wants to use his companion as a witness against Crippen. This can be accomplished with her acquiescence except in the doubtful event of the defense showing that the prisoners are legally man and wife.

No communication between the accused is permitted. They have been kept in separate jails, and it is said that precautions have been taken so to place them in court throughout the proceedings that neither may exert even a silent influence on the other.

At the conclusion of the prosecutor's address to-day a few witnesses were called for the Crown, in cross-examining these, Arthur Newton, Crippen's solicitor, confined himself to a few questions, designed to show that Crippen was amiable and kindhearted and seemed to be on the best of terms with his wife. An application to admit the prisoners to bail was refused and an adjournment was taken until Thursday.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Bruce Miller, the East Chicago man whom Dr. Hawley Crippen named as an acquaintance in America of Belle Elmore, to-day denied that he had ever met Mrs. Crippen in this country. Miller also made an emphatic denial of the charge that he might have had more than a platonic friendship for Belle Elmore. When seen at his residence in East Chicago Miller said:

"I knew Belle Elmore in London for six years, and a squarer little woman never lived. I never knew her in America or met her here. I do not see how Crippen can bring me into this case at all.

"I met Miss Elmore many times while we were both playing in the same London Music halls. She worked hard and minded her own business, and I never heard a bit of gossip regarding her life until this case came up.

"I do not understand what Crippen means by stating that his wife had threatened to leave him for some man in the United States. As far as I am concerned he had no reason for saying that.

"If I were wanted as a witness in the case I think Scotland Yard would have summoned me to London weeks ago. I do not think I am wanted, as Miss Elmore and I were never more than good friends. I could throw no light upon the case. I have not seen or heard from the Crippens since I left England several years ago, and I knew nothing of their later life. In concluding this statement I wish most emphatically to deny any rumor or intimation that I personally know of anything that would reflect upon the name of Belle Elmore in any manner."

CATHOLIC CONGRESS THANKS KING GEORGE

Sends Him Loyal Message and Gratitude for Amended Royal Declaration.

MONARCH CABLES REPLY

Legate in Address Declares Europe and America Join to Exalt the Greatest of Sacraments.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Sept. 6.—With solemn ceremony the twenty-first International Eucharistic Congress was opened to-night in St. James's Cathedral, in the presence of several hundred Archbishops, Bishops, and priests, representing nearly every Catholic centre in civilization. Long before the Papal Legate, Vincenzo Vannutelli, left the palace of the Archbishop of Montreal, accompanied by his suite, who were attired in the evening apparel of their rank as Papal Chamberlains, the streets leading to the cathedral were jammed.

When the Legate reached the main entrance to the cathedral he was met by Mgr. Bruchesi, the Archbishop of Montreal, and by other Church dignitaries and heads of religious orders, who escorted him to a special throne, at which stood the Papal Chamberlains Thomas Hughes Kelly of New York and M. de Martigni of Montreal, attired in the quaint garb of the pontifical orders they represent.

Unfortunately, the capacity of the cathedral was miscalculated, and hundreds who could have got in remained away, thinking that there would be a terrific crush. As it was, only 3,500 persons assembled, and the edifice was not more than half filled, while nearly 5,000 stood patiently at the entrances, under the impression that they were crowded out.

The ceremony began with the reading of the Papal brief appointing Cardinal Vannutelli legate to the congress. Mgr. Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, then delivered an address of welcome in the name of the hierarchy of Canada and the United States.

The Archbishop declared that there need be no fear of any untoward events in connection with the congress, nor would there be any opposition to the carrying of the Host through the streets of Montreal.

"I deem it a duty on this solemn occasion," he said, "to make known to your Eminence the extraordinary good-will with which our separated brethren greeted the name of our congress. Their leading dailies have spoken of it as a solemn and inspiring event, while several prominent men have offered their gold and even their dwellings to welcome our distinguished guests. They respect our tabernacles; their attitude in viewing the passage of the Sacred Host through our streets will be most courteous. They understand that we are logical with the faith and convictions for which we would be ready to die; and they thereby render a silent homage to that far-reaching movement by which the English Parliament so lately responded to the appeal of the millions of Catholic subjects of the empire in rescinding the obnoxious clause from the royal declaration. Is this the awakening foretold by many? Is it a step toward doctrinal unity? Are the old-time days returning?"

To his Majesty King George V., London:

The Catholics of the Empire—Bishops, priests, laity—present at the International Eucharistic Congress in Montreal, pray your Majesty to accept their respectful homage of unswerving loyalty and their expression of profound gratitude for the modification made in the royal declaration.

With them the other visiting members of the congress, hailing from all parts of the world, wish your Majesty and the royal family continued happiness and prosperity.

VINCENZO, Cardinal Vannutelli.

His Eminence Cardinal Vannutelli, Montreal:

I sincerely thank your Eminence and all who are present at the International Eucharistic Congress in Montreal for the expression of loyalty and good wishes contained in the telegram which I have received to-day with much pleasure and satisfaction. GEORGE R. I.

Earlier in the evening the congress as a body sent a message to the Pope, to which the Pontiff replied through the Papal Secretary of State, Cardinal Merry del Val. At the close of these formalities the Pope's representative made his address, saying in part:

"How beautiful is the spectacle presented, to-day to the entire universe by the Catholic Church in this fortunate land of America. Europe stretches out her hand to America, and America, in a sublime enthusiasm, joins with her to exalt the greatest of the sacraments under the guidance and with the encouragement of the Supreme Pastor.

"To Montreal belongs the honor of receiving within its walls the first international Eucharistic Congress held on the American continent, but there is every reason to hope that, thanks to this first example, other congresses will be held in America, alternating with those in Europe and other parts of the world.

"We await from this congress great victories for the right. May it be the source of a new fruitfulness of the Catholic life of America! May it check the fire which everywhere menaces with subversive ideas, kindled in the Old and the New World."

Cardinal Vannutelli concluded with a reference to the difficulties of the Roman Catholic Church in France, expressing the hope that Canada, the daughter nation to France, should obtain Divine clemency for the country which gave to her the breath of life and should see her again restored as before to the religious liberty, the life and the faith of her ancestors.

HUDSON ARRESTS LIKELY.

Special to The New York Times.

HUDSON, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The entire charge of the investigation into the murder of Denton Fowler and George Ragsdale, and the robbery of $5,600 which they were taking to the Atlas Brick Company's yard to pay wages, has been turned over to detectives of the Pinkerton bureau, who came here from New York. The police and Deputy Sheriffs will hereafter work under them, and there will be no more time lost in the work, as was the case at the start.

Carlo Pristi, the young man whom the detectives want to ask about the rifle, has not been found. Pristi bought the gun of a local pawnbroker, and it was afterward found in the ravine, near where the men were killed. Pristi left town on Monday morning.

Gambino, to whom the letter was addressed, which was found torn up near the scene of the ambush, has voluntarily come forward and proved an alibi. Several men saw him at the yard when the crime was committed, and a colored boy, with a good reputation, has stated on the stand under examination by Coroner Rogers that he was working within a few feet of Gambino when the shots were fired. The Italian says he thinks some one must have stolen the letter, as he had not been near the place where it was found.

The detectives spent to-day at the brick yard, but they announced no new developments. They are, however, confident of uncovering the gang that did the deed, and state that arrests are likely to be made within a few days.

Masked Man Robs Arizona Bank.

William Rhodes, ex-Gov. Pattison's Brother-in-Law, Accused of Swindling.

It was revealed yesterday that William Rhodes, who was arrested in the Kensington Hotel, Newark, N. J., on Monday night, and locked up in Police Headquarters there on a charge of swindling, is a brother-in-law of the late Robert Emery Pattison, formerly Governor of Pennsylvania. Rhodes was once wealthy. With the loss of his money he entered on a criminal career.

Rhodes was arrested by Detectives McConville of New York and Ryan and Farrell of Newark. The complaint was made by Frederick Spencer, who lives at Smith & McNell's Hotel, in lower Manhattan. According to Spencer's story, the prisoner came to him last May and represented that he owned twenty-one lots in Flatbush, Brooklyn, on which he intended to erect dwellings. He explained, it is alleged, that there was a second mortgage on the property. Rhodes is said to have promised Spencer three of the lots if he would pay 15 per cent. of the mortgage.

Spencer declared to the Newark police that he gave Rhodes $200 early in May, all the money he possessed at that time. Later in the month, he said, he gave Rhodes $100 more.

Rhodes got down on his knees yesterday and begged Spencer not to press the charge against him, and he agreed to get the $300 for him at once if he would drop the case. Spencer asked Rhodes if he would return to New York with him, but he refused.

The detectives asked Rhodes where he expected to get the $300, and he replied that Dr. George E. Potter of 100 Halsey Street, Newark, would make good for him. Believing that Dr. Potter might have been fleeced in some of Rhodes's alleged real estate deals, the detectives got into communication with the physician. Rhodes had some plans of a house for Dr. Potter in his possession when arrested.

Dr. Potter said that he did not know Rhodes any more than from seeing him around the Kensington Hotel. He said that Rhodes had been introduced to him as a building contractor and that he had asked Rhodes to give him an estimate on a home for which Dr. Potter had plans.

Before his downfall Rhodes was a building contractor in Philadelphia, and in 1890 built 1,300 houses in that city, at a cost of $3,500,000. He disappeared in 1899, and was not heard of again until Dec. 17, 1908, when he was arrested in New York by Detectives McConville and Nelson for swindling.

At that time Mrs. Jill Hurlbert of the Empire Hotel complained that Rhodes had swindled her out of $75 in a land deal. He was tried and convicted and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Justice Swann of New York.

ASK PERSONAL RATE HEARING

Taft Refuses to Act on Manufacturers' Protest at Commission's Methods.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—The following telegraphic correspondence regarding the request that President Taft direct the Inter-State Commerce Commission personally to conduct the hearing on the proposed freight rate advance was made public to-day:

Executive Office,
Beverly, Mass., Sept. 3, 1910.

Laverne W. Noyes, President Illinois Manufacturers' Association:

Telegram received. I have implicit confidence in the work being done by the Inter-State Commerce Commission under the able leadership of Judge Knapp. The commission is heavily overloaded with work. Some of the members are necessarily in Europe. A full record will be kept of the hearing at Chicago. I am not disposed to take any action changing the arrangement made by the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Hon. William H. Taft:

Telegram received. We do not raise any question as to the ability or able leadership of Judge Knapp. We respectfully insist that the commission conduct the investigation both as to eastern and western territory as was agreed when you ordered dismissed the injunction proceedings in the Federal Court. We believe that the shippers and consumers of the country will be entirely satisfied with the reinstatement of the injunction case and a trial on the issues therein raised if you cannot see your way clear to direct the commission to sit personally.

Authorizes Union Railway Extension.

Judge Lacombe, in the United States Circuit Court, authorized Receiver Frederick W. Whitridge yesterday to construct and operate a double-track extension of the Union Railway's line from Webster Avenue and East 167th Street, in the Bronx, to the present tracks of the Union Railway in Jerome Avenue. The order states that if the franchise and property of the extension should be at any time sold as a part of the Union Railway, a sum representing its cost shall be set aside out of the proceeds of the sale, to be distributed to such persons as the court may determine.

BRITAIN OBJECTS TO CUSTOMS RULES

European Exporters' Protests May Be Due to Wrong Interpretation of Orders.

CONSUL GENERAL AT FAULT

Mr. Mason, at Paris, Believed to be the Source of the Trouble, Which Was Quite Unexpected.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Foreign Office to-day instructed Ambassador Bryce at Washington to make a formal protest to the American State Department against certain conditions imposed upon English export textile firms in the circular recently sent to American Consuls in England and on the Continent.

The Ambassador is instructed to endeavor to have what are regarded as the most objectionable of the regulations modified.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—United States Ambassador Bacon to-day received a dispatch from Washington regarding the textile sample regulations which American Consuls in Europe recently put into effect and the foreign criticism of them. It is understood that this communication will be transmitted to the American Consulates in England and on the Continent.

While its contents have not been disclosed, and while it is unknown whether it involves a modification of the Consular regulations, the communication is understood to be conciliatory in tone and designed to reassure shippers of textiles and to show them that no injustice to them is intended by the enforcement of the new order.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The customs circular requiring the advance filing with American Consuls of samples of textile fabrics to be shipped to this country has caused a burst of protest from French commercial organizations and from the American Chamber of Commerce at Paris, following an interpretation of the circular by Consul General Mason.

It is reported here unofficially that, acting on the erroneous presumption that Mr. Mason's interpretation of the circular may be rather alarming for shippers to this country, the whole difficulty seems to have arisen through misapprehension of the meaning of the circular. Its provisions have been enforced in regard to shipments from Great Britain for several months past, and no complaint has been made, and it is expected that an official interpretation of the circular will remove what alarm has been occasioned.

The Paris Temps on Aug. 23 first assailed the new provisions as interpreted by Mr. Mason. At first the Temps thought that the regulation required that a sample should be filed for every specimen for every city in the United States to which the shipment might ultimately go. It was soon seen that such an interpretation was impossible of execution. Still many objections were raised, most of them directed against the effect of the regulation on novelties and patterns that are constantly changing. Chief among these objections were the following:

1. That the circular imposes an impossible condition with respect to the time for filing samples. It is asserted that novelties are being brought out constantly. Hence the shippers complain that Mr. Mason's demand for "their deposit only at the commencement of each season" is irksome and impossible.

2. That the regulations require a certificate on each type sample as to the market price of the commodity. The prices fluctuate, the shippers say, according to the volume of individual orders, the reputation of the purchaser, the supply and demand, and the stage of the season.

3. That samples of exclusive novelties may be exposed to the examination of the exporters' business rivals.

4. That the interpretation and oral explanations made by the Consul General are more stringent and alarming than the regulations, from the fact that he makes "woolens, cottons, silks, and linens" embrace laces, embroideries, passementeries, and novelties.

It seems that the trouble is but another instance of the failure of the Treasury and State Departments to work together with perfect harmony. The Consular Service is under the Department of State, while the customs regulations have to be formulated by the Treasury officials. Consul General Mason attempted to interpret a customs circular, with wholly unexpected results.

CAFE MARTIN OWNER HELD UP IN CUSTOMS

With Mrs. Martin, He Insisted That Gowns with Paris Labels Were Not Bought Abroad.

ALL THEIR BAGGAGE STOPPED

Martins Ordered Back to the Ship and Searched—Two Watches and a Pipe Found on Mr. Bips.

John B. Martin, owner of the Café Martin, at Broadway and Twenty-sixth Street, with his wife, arrived in Hoboken on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse yesterday morning. An hour after he had landed Deputy Surveyor Norwood directed Mr. and Mrs. Martin to report to the Custom House in the afternoon and explain when and where many fine dresses, made in the latest Paris style, had been purchased. The Martins brought their wearing apparel home in eight big trunks and many smaller pieces of baggage. In his customs declaration made on the way up from Quarantine Mr. Martin stated tht neither he nor Mrs. Martin had purchased anything in Europe in the three and a half months they had last been there.

Few people on the Kaiser Wilhelm brought in more baggage than the Martins, and when Mr. Norwood looked at the Martin declaration, which he described as "a perfect blank," he decided to investigate. Nothing was said until Mr. and Mrs. Martin had assembled all of their baggage, and Mr. Martin appeared at the customs desk and asked for an Inspector. Inspector Costigan got the assignment, and as soon as Costigan opened up the trunks Deputy Surveyor Norwood took station where he could watch developments unobserved.

From the first two trunks examined Costigan brought forth several tailor-made gowns, finished in the latest Parisian style, and several bearing the labels of famous Parisian tailors. As dress after dress was brought out, Costigan carefully looked at the labels. Before he had got half way into the third of the eight big trunks he had found a load of Paris-made gowns, all of the finest materials, and costly.

Not Moved by Discovery.

"Were any of these dresses purchased in Paris?" Costigan asked Mr. and Mrs. Martin. Both stated that they were not.

Then Mr. Norwood began questioning.

"Are you really sure that these gowns were bought in the United States?" Norwood asked. Again the Martins answered that they had not been bought in Europe.

Norwood cautioned the husband and wife, and again tried to get them to admit that some of the gowns, at least, had been purchased while they were in Europe, but each declared positively that they had not been bought on the other side of the Atlantic.

Then the customs officers picked up several of the gowns and displayed the Paris labels. Mr. and Mrs. Martin adhered to their original story.

While Norwood was asking questions he notice that Mrs. Martin had in her hand several pieces of paper, and he asked to see them. He says that among the papers were several that looked like bills for dresses bought in Europe within the last few months. Some of the bills, it was stated, at the Custom House yesterday afternoon tended to show that some of the goods had been delivered as recently as Aug. 15.

When he saw that neither Mr. Martin nor his wife would admit buying the dresses in Europe Norwood ordered that the examination of the trunks stop and that all of the Martin baggage, including the hand pieces, be sent to the Public Stores in Manhattan, to be searched, and then he ordered Mr. Martin and his wife taken on board the ship and searched.

Nothing dutiable, it was stated, was found on Mr. Martin, but the women Inspectors, who examined Mrs. Martin, reported that on the dress she had on bore a Paris label, and later it was stated that Mrs. Martin admitted buying that dress in France. The dress she was wearing was a tailor-made blue traveling dress, lined with satin and silk, and said to be worth several hundred dollars.

Jewels Not Yet in Question.

Mrs. Martin also wore fine jewels, but she declared that all of these had been purchased in the United States. Her maid, who came across with her, had a cabinet containing jeweled ornaments that were admitted to be Mrs. Martin's, and these, too, it was declared by the owner were not purchased during the vacation that ended yesterday. The customs officers are inclined to believe this is true, yet they said they would also learn more about the jewels to-day.

When Mr. and Mrs. Martin reappeared on the pier after they had been searched Mr. Martin did not appear at all perturbed. He turned to Norwood and asked when he could get his baggage.

"That is problematical," was Norwood's pointed answer.

As soon as the Martin trunks and handbags had been sealed and taken charge of by the Government officials Mr. Norwood told Mr. and Mrs. Martin to be at the Custom House in New York at 2 P. M., where they would have to submit to a cross-examination by Deputy Surveyor Smyth.

At the appointed hour Francis E. Hamilton, a Broadway lawyer, arrived at Mr. Smyth's office, and said that he represented Mr. and Mrs. Martin. Mr. Hamilton made a plea for a delay until 2:30 P. M. to-day, stating that Mrs. Martin was prostrated as a result of the ordeal through which she had passed, and was in no condition to answer the questions that Mr. Smyth would ask her.

Mr. Smyth then conferred with Collector Loeb and Gen. Henry, the Surveyor, and it was decided to grant the request for the delay, for by so doing the authorities would be able to have at their disposal the result of the examination at the Public Stores.

More Passengers Come to Grief.

Mr. Martin would not discuss last night his controversy with the Government.

Another passenger on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse who had a little trouble on the pier yesterday was Frederick Bips. "Tim" Donohue, the veteran customs officer, saw a curious-looking bump in Bips's coat pocket. He made Bips empty the pocket, and out came a watch on the first haul, leaving the bump smaller. Donohue ordered him to try again, and out came another watch. Bips said the big watch was for his brother and the little one for his wife. Neither was worth much, and Bips will probably get his watches by paying a small duty on them. Bips also had a meerschaum pipe and a stickpin.

On the same pier Gen. Henry, the Surveyor of the Port, had his attention attracted by a costly gown that was spread over a trunk with the train on the floor. The woman who owned it said she put it there so that when "Uncle Sam" got busy with it "he" would not soil it. Senator Root was with Gen. Henry at the time, and both had a good laugh. The dress had been properly declared.

Two other men and one woman in the second cabin of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse were also taken in the customs net. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jacoby of Newark, N. J., were sent before Deputy Surveyor Smyth to explain why they had not declared a new coat found in the possession of each. Jacoby, who said he was a retired dry goods merchant of Newark and now engaged in real estate, said the coats had been worn, and he and his wife regarded the articles as personal wearing apparel and free from duty.

TOOK BEADS FOR DIAMONDS.

Customs Men Fooled by Herr Heymann's Odd Assortment.

Herr E. Heymann arrived on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse from Bremen yesterday morning. Among his baggage were two huge hamper baskets with adjustable tops. Herr Heymann was not long in getting his baggage assembled, and he was among the first to get a customs inspector. Cigars and trinkets and also beads had Herr Heymann.

In one of the hampers the inspector found a blue bag that could easily hold two quarts of green peas. The bag was full of brilliants, and the glare of the first handful he fished out almost blinded the customs inspector. At first he thought they were diamonds. He motioned for an appraiser, and the appraiser came up and dug out another handful.

"Beads, that's all," said Herr Heymann, and the appraiser departed.

All in all about a dozen bags of the glittering little beads, that glistened like diamonds, were brought to view.

"Suppose these were diamonds, what do you think they would be worth?" a bystander asked Herr Heymann's nephew.

"About $1,000,000,000,000," the boy answered.

"Yes, in stage money," remarked Herr Heymann.

CUSTOMS FRAUDS TRIAL ON.

Bedell, Drew, and Wardell Up To-day —O'Brien Escapes by Death.

George E. Bedell, clerk under James F. Vail when the latter was head of the weighing division of the Custom House, will be put on trial to-day before Judge Martin in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court charged with conspiring to defraud the United States in connection with the importation of sugar, figs, spices, cheese, macaroni, and other commodities. With Bedell there will be tried Charles H. Wardell and Charles D. Drew, former assistant Government weighers, who are accused of being co-conspirators with the former clerk of the weighing division.

John W. O'Brien, a former assistant weigher, who was indicted with Bedell and the others, died last Saturday at his home in Brooklyn.

The indictment against the trio of former customs men sets up some fifty overt acts behind its general charge of conspiracy. Bedell is charged with having accepted money from Frederick W. Lawyer and James P. Hyland, both former assistant weighers; Drew with taking $500 from Thomas Doyle, an Arbuckle employe, before the customs clean-up, and Wardell with accepting money from Doyle in connection with making false entries concerning various importations.

Restaurateur Charged with Failing to Declare Dutiable Goods.

Louis Sherry, the restaurateur, surrendered himself before United Stataes Commissioner Gilchrist yesterday morning on a charge of violating Sections 2,082 and 3,802 of the Revised Statutes. The complaint against Mr. Sherry is made by Customs Inspector Patrick T. Carroll, who charges that Mr. Sherry, arriving in this country on Aug. 31 on the liner Oceanic, brought in dutiable merchandise which he failed to declare.

When the complaint was made, Mr. Sherry was motoring on Long Island. He came back to town on being informed of the charge and appeared before Commissioner Gilchrist, who fixed bail at 2,500, and held Mr. Sherry for examination on Sept. 15.

Bail was furnished by a surety company.

BIG SHARK TOWED SCHOONER

Crew Cut the Lines to Prevent 30-Footer Wrecking Their Boat.

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—A thirty-foot shark, weighing a ton, proved too much for the crew of the fishing schooner Albert Willard, even though it had five harpoons and the schooner's icepick driven deep into its body. The Willard arrived in port to-day and her skipper, Capt. Frank Dougherty, told of a two-hour fight with it.

The monster was harpooned from the pulpit of the schooner off George's Bank, and ten members of the crew tried to haul it aboard. The fish fought desperately, and four irons were driven into it. At the end of a two hours' struggle the fish was towing the schooner toward a dangerous shoal, and fearing that his craft would come to grief, Capt. Dougherty ordered the crew to cut the lines.

Special to The New York Times.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 6.—Charged with felonious assault, the man who stabbed Herald Smith, the young photographer of 320 Sewall Avenue, while the baby parade was in progress yesterday and gave his name as De Witt Moore of 65 Chester Avenue, Newark, was held under $500 bail this morning by City Judge John A. Borden to await the result of his victim's injuries. He will have a hearing on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Moore refused to talk, but his lawyer, William C. Byram, admitted his guilt. The fight arose because Smith resented Moore's insults to two young women he accompanied.

Smith probably will recover. About twenty-five stitches were necessary to close his wounds, the most serious of which was a severed artery in his left arm. Had not an old soldier applied a tourniquet, Smith would have bled to death before the arrival of a physician.

Moore's defense probably will be insanity. When arraigned in court he had a look of imbecility. His mother, Mrs. A. M. Moore, and another woman, said to be a cousin, were in court.

GRAPE-NUTS.

"A Toothsome Flavour"

True for you, there's a treat in the crisp, nutty, delicate sweet taste of Grape-Nuts served with cream or milk.

(Don't spoil the food by trying to cook it. That work is done and perfectly done at the factories.)

The cream should soften it a bit, but not enough to excuse the teeth from at least a few good earnest "chews" for old Dame Nature sends rich blessings to the long chewer. Of course the one with weak teeth can soften the food with milk down to a mush if necessary, but the good old Dame doesn't smile quite so cheerfully on them.

You know children and adults must use the teeth and grind freely to make them grow strong and to preserve them. Then the act of chewing brings down the much needed saliva from the gums, and that helps amazingly in the digestion of foods of various kinds.

The saliva is not so much required with Grape-Nuts, for this food is partially pre-digested, that is, the starch turned into a form of sugar in the process of making, and that helps give it the fascinating flavour.

ARREST MAGISTRATE ON GIRL'S CHARGES

Higginbotham Must Answer Her Accusation That He Hugged and Kissed Her in Court.

POLITICAL PLOT, HE SAYS

Never Saw His Accuser, He Vows, but She's Ready to Pick Him Out of a Thousand.

Following a conference with Mary Hickey, a nineteen-year-old girl, who has been employed for five years at the Williamsburg plant of the Faber Pencil Company, Chief Magistrate Otto Kempner of Brooklyn issued a warrant yesterday for the arrest of Magistrate E. Gaston Higgenbotham of the Bedford Avenue Court, Brooklyn.

Magistrate Higginbotham, who was taken into custody at the Adams Street Court, declared on being arraigned that he had never seen the girl in his life, and that her charge was fraudulent. He said it was a trick of his enemies in the Seymour Political Club to discredit him in advance of the primaries scheduled for next Tuesday evening. He was allowed until to-morrow to prepare a defense, and in the meantime was released on parole.

The Hickey girl's story was drawn up at the instance of Chief Magistrate Kempner in the form of an affidavit, and its contents were transferred later to the District Attorney's office for consideration. In her statement the girl alleges that on Sept. 2, while she was before Magistrate Higginbotham in an effort to have her mother committed to an institution he sent her mother away after inviting her into his private chambers, and that he then put his arm around her waist and kissed her.

The girl says she objected and asked what had become of her mother. Later she alleges the Magistrate suggested that she return on the following Sunday morning. She went instead to consult Father Nummey, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of the Blessed Sacrament, who advised her to make formal complaint.

No Plot, Says the Girl.

At her home, 99 Bedford Avenue, Williamsburg, the girl was informed last night that Magistrate Higginbotham had said he had never seen her in his life, and that she was being used in a political trick.

"Indeed," she said, "and that'll be mighty easy to disprove. Why, I could pick him out of a thousand men if need be, and I'm perfectly willing to have them make me undergo that test.

"As for politics playing a part in this, Chief Magistrate Kempner asked me all about that. I don't know any politicians; none has approached me to give me advice. The only persons I have advised with have been Father Nummey and my aunt, Mrs. Nellie Dallavan, with whom I have lived for three years. It was not easy to face the notoriety, but the time has come when working girls who through necessity must go about such tasks as called me to Magistrate Higginbotham's court must be protected. It was on behalf of my whole class that I acted, and because my aunt and Father Nummey advised me to do so.

"The Magistrate became familiar to the point of being insulting, and was incessantly so. His suggestion that I must come back on Sunday to get an answer about my mother I knew was wrong, because Sunday was no day to transact such business."

The girl's father died several years ago and her mother became incompetent soon afterward. The aunt, Mrs. Dallavan, took care of the daughter, but, falling into financial difficulties herself, the girl had to seek employment in the pencil factory, in addition to which she assisted her aunt in the evenings with washing taken in from the neighborhood. She would not tell where her mother was living, as she said she was not in a condition to discuss the matter of her visit to the Bedford Avenue Court.

"I wanted my mother sent to the House of the Good Shepherd," she said, "on account of her wayward and intemperate habits. Father Nummey prepared a letter for me to take to Magistrate Higginbotham, and I presented it on Sept. 1, taking my mother with me. He told me to come back on the 2d, and I did so, bringing my mother. He took us into his private chambers, after we had waited for two hours to see him, and then pushed my mother outside the door. She was irritated at the delay, and had been abusing me and acting hysterically. The Magistrate told me he had sent my mother home with a policeman."

Supported by a Priest.

Father Nummey made an affidavit corroborating that of the girl so far as having told her story to him and sought his advice.

Chief Magistrate Kempner did not take seriously the talk of a political conspiracy. "I am here to uphold the decency of the bench," he said. "I much regretted the necessity of moving against Magistrate Higginbotham, but when the girl made her complaint there was nothing else to do."

It was learned that several complaints of negligence of duty have been filed against Magistrate Higginbotham. He was appointed a Police Magistrate through the influence of Hugh McLaughlin in 1901, but was defeated at the first election under the new Magistrates law in the next year. He brought suit and succeeded in having the law declared unconstitutional. His eccentricities on the bench, which have received more prominence since the removal of Magistrate Furlong, have made him recently the most-talked-of Magistrate in Brooklyn.

Not long ago he sentenced a husband to kiss his wife once a day and take her once a week to Prospect Park, as well as to pay her $6 a week for her maintenance. He once announced his intention of writing a play based on the fact that he had given a complaining wife and her husband $6 to maintain them while he hunted for work, only to find that they had squandered it to no good purpose.

One of the decisions which helped to make "Higgie's Court" locally famous was that it did not constitute an assault to strike an "end-seat hog" in a street car.

Assistant District Attorney Elder once raided a safe in Magistrate Higginbotham's office in search of a five-hundred-dollar bill deposited for bail which had not found its way to the City Chamberlain's office. It was not found in the safe, but was discovered in the Magistrate's desk when it was pried open. The incident was dropped after Magistrate Higginbotham had promised that never again would he accept cash bail.

WOMAN AIDS IN SAVING TWO.

Maid and Coachman Were Drowning When Mrs. Watjen Called Help.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Louis Watjen of New York, who is summering at Indian Field, near the homes of Railroad Presidents Campbell and Truesdale, assisted to-day in the rescue from drowning of her maid, Miss Katie Queen, and her coachman, Frank Weiss. The girl was unconscious for four hours after being brought to the Watjen home, but it is believed she will live.

The Watjen place is directly on the shore, opposite the Riverside Yacht Club. Miss Queen had gone to bathe, and as she entered the water she fainted and went down. This was seen by Mrs. Watjen and by Weiss, who, although unable to swim, jumped in and made an attempt to save the girl.

Mrs. Watjen seized life preservers at the boathouse and threw these out to the girl and the man, who also was struggling in the water. She called for help, and James Clark, gardener on an adjoining estate, threw off coat and shoes and started in.

Clark could swim, but before he could master Weiss he had to hit him a blow on the head which rendered him senseless. Henry Brockman, a colored chef employed by Mr. Campbell, attracted by the cries, also jumped in and swam to Clark to help him bear Weiss ashore. As he did so Miss Queen came to the surface.

Brockman left Weiss to Clark's care and took the girl to the shore. Mrs. Watjen worked over her for a half hour until Drs. Parker and Hyde arrived and restored respiration. The physicians' care was required for hours, and Miss Queen's condition is still precarious.

Found a Pearl in a Hotel Oyster.

Mrs. Wolff of Reading, Penn., a woman patron of the dining room at the Hotel Breslin, last evening discovered a pearl as large as a pea in an oyster, and her find created so much excitement for a while that folks forgot they were dining. A man, who said he was a jeweler, inspected the pearl. He said it was worth $250 at least. Gem experts, however, have a mighty poor opinion of the value of pearls found in the American edible oyster.

USE CLUBS ON GANGS, BAKER TELLS POLICE

That Is, When You Are Assaulted, but You Must Suppress These Rowdies Somehow.

HE HAS A PLAN FOR DOING IT

Won't Particularize Further—Twelve Policemen Have Been Knocked Out Since June.

Police Commissioner Baker decided yesterday that twelve policemen were enough to have been lost from duty through fighting east side gangs.

"The gangs must go," said the Commissioner, "especially the notorious 'Car Barn' Gang, whose headquarters are in the vicinity of Ninety-seventh Street and Second Avenue."

Commissioner Baker said that the police must not suppose that Mayor Gaynor or the department wished them not to defend themselves when assaulted by these gangs. He intimated that he wanted nightsticks to be used freely when attempts were made to rescue prisoners or to attack the arresting officer. Just what plan the Commissioner has hit upon as a means of eliminating the east side gangs he would not say; but he did say he had a plan and that it would prove effective and would be kept in operation till every street and avenue in this city is safe for the police and for all peaceable citizens.

The decision to take action against the car barn gang was reached following the receipt by the Commissioner of a report upon the assault on Patrolman Hagan Sunday evening. The policeman, who is now in the Harlem Hospital, was struck in the head with a piece of iron and was kicked in the mouth so hard that several of his teeth were knocked out.

"The loafers who have been making a lot of trouble in the neighborhood of the Second Avenue car barns at Ninety-seventh Street have come to look upon themselves as privileged to defy this department and the law-abiding citizens who live in that section," said Commissioner Baker. "Some weeks ago, after a patrolman in the performance of his duty as a peace officer had been assaulted by the hoodlums and sent to a hospital, I gave orders that patrolmen when attacked should not hesitate to bring their sticks into play if they were unable to restore order, or if attempts were made to rescue a prisoner.

"There has been so much 'roasting' of policemen who have had to use force in making arrests that many of the men would rather suffer a beating than resort to their sticks even in self-defense.

"This is all wrong. Nothing that the Mayor or I have said on the subject warrants a policeman in submitting to an assault by hoodlums against whom he is acting in his capacity as a peace officer. It was only a short time ago that Mayor Gaynor in a communication to me made it very plain that a policeman should not hesitate to use his weapons to protect himself against assault by vicious gang members.

"I have formed a plan for the suppressing of the young ruffians of Second Avenue, and it will be put into effect iwthout delay. For obvious reasons I do not want to make public the details of the plan, but it will mean the gangs' permanent dispersal."

The first of the fighting hoodlums to be sent through the grind of the courts as a result of Commissioner Baker's new plan was Joseph McLaughlin, a member of the James Shields gang, with a rendezvous at Second Avenue and Forty-eighth Street. The Shields forces turned out on the night of Aug. 21 last to shoot up the avenue and incidentally any members of a rival gang located a block or two north who might be about.

The police tried to break up the gangsmen, and in the firing of revolvers that followed Policeman James Gorman of the East Fifty-first Street Station was wounded, and one member of the Shields gang was killed.

Until yesterday there was no clue to the policeman's assailant. Then an east side citizen told the police that McLaughlin had done the shooting and that he could be found in a certain room. McLaughlin was found and arrested, and Magistrate Murphy, in the Yorkville Court, remanded him to the Coroner, who held him in $10,000, in default of which he went to the Tombs.

The gangs began to attack the police in June. Twelve policemen have been incapacitated for duty as a result of these attacks, four having spent long periods in city hospitals.

LADIES' TAILORS BAR STYLES FROM PARIS

ALL PRETENSE UNTIL NOW

When They Were Supposed to be Studying Fashions in Paris They Were Really in Atlantic City.

The National Ladies' Tailors' Association, now about a year old, held a meeting last night at 20 East Thirty-third Street to talk over its coming clothes show in October. It was decided that, from now on at least, the members of the organization should stop pretending they are following strictly the Paris fashions, when, as a matter of fact, they are using their own creations. The ladies' tailors will declare themselves independent of Paris, out in the open, laying aside inconvenient and costly fictions that have always gone with that pretense.

"When the Summer time comes on," said D. Mikol of Boston, who is a tailor and the National Organizer of the association, "we have been closing up our shops and leaving word that we have gone to Paris. What is that for? Why, to make people think that we are getting over the creations that we put out in the Fall. All of you know very well what a large number of us now go to Atlantic City, Deal Beach, and other places when we are supposed to be in Paris.

"That is unfair to our employes. It throws them out of work for weeks. It is well known that the most skilled workers on ladies' dresses are in this country, many of them having been attracted here by the better prices paid. Besides, it is inconvenient to the owners of the shops."

"What happens to us when we do go to Paris? From July to the middle of August there is not a new model to be seen there. They are all to be shown on Aug. 16. Do you know why that is? I used to work there before I came to New York, and I have a large acquaintance among the designers and cutters. The Parisian tailors are sitting around in front of the cafés getting ideas from American women and American tailors.

Gives Ideas to French Tailors.

"I take my model up to one of the places. They show me a dress. I say: 'Oh, that will not do for our climate. The lapels must be shorter. It must fit closer around the neck. There must be greater fullness in the shoulders.' And so on. They answer: 'Oui, oui,' and make change after change. After a while they have got a garment that I have told them how to make, and then I pay them a tremendous sum for it."

The speaker went on to say that style ideas came from brains, and that America had brains enough to make its own styles. In addition it has the best workmen in the world to put the garments together. It has wealth to take chances and courage to invest the money. He called upon his hearers never again to show one of their creations in their windows as imported, but to call them American.

A letter was read from a representative of the association who is still in Paris looking over the styles. The writer said that he was sure that the Parisian hobble skirt, if it is used at all here, will have to be very much adapted. It is only about a yard around the knees, he said, and far too short. He had seen an escort lift a woman into a carriage, her skirt being so tight she could not get in herself. The agent was certain that American women, as a rule, would not wear the hobble skirt, which, he says, was designed for no other purpose than to show off as much of the figure as possible under the law.

A. M. Green of New York also asked that every member present take up the campaign for honesty and independence. He wanted the tailors to keep open in the Summer, work out their own ideas, and put their own models in their windows and say so, using, however, whatever they saw in the Parisian ideas that were good.

It was stated that the National Ladies' Tailors' Association is hard as adamant against the hobble skirt. Its members approve of a skirt that fits pretty tight all over—or appears to fit tight at least. For, as one member explained it, "there will be a concealed fullness." The skirts will be long and graceful. One automobile dress was shown. It fits tightly except at the knees, where there is a series of pleats that open out to accommodate the knee when the wearer sits down and close when she rises to her feet.

The prevailing color will be brown if the members of the National Ladies' Tailors' Association can influence it. The coats will be short, and there will be much fur used in trimmings. Most of the material will be rough. The coat sleeves will be pressed after the manner of men's coats; and there will be a jungle dress which will attempt to approximate the picture of Col. Roosevelt in the African jungle so far as a stylishly dressed woman could approximate that warlike figure.

The plans for the coming clothes show were spoken of. It will be held on the roof of the Hotel Astor from Oct. 10 to 16. Fifty good-looking young women—fifty—will spend the week walking leisurely around on the roof for the purpose of being seen. They will wear American-modeled gowns. All creations will be simply shown as American, and any visiting tailor may copy any idea he sees and likes.

Perhaps, then, in the course of time, as one member said last night, when an American ladies' tailor has a suit against a customer in court the Judge will so respect the tailor that he will not say, "Now let's hear what the tailor has to say," but will say, "Let us hear Mr. Smith's side of the story."

Noted Athletes at Press Club's Meet.

Egon Erickson, the great leaper of the Mott Haven Athletic Club, who astonished the athletic world by winning both the junior and senior National high jumping championships, will make his reappearance in competition at the meet of the New York Press Club Athletic Association that will be held at American League Park on Sept. 17. Erickson has had a long rest, and in his recent practice jumps he has shown such excellent form that his clubmates predict that he will smash Mike Sweeney's long standing world's high jumping record of 6 feet 5⅝ inches.

Nelson and Gilbert of Yale, Dukes of Cornell, Babcock of Columbia, and McLeod of the Irish-Americans will be represented in the pole vault; while Sheridan, Flanagan, McGrath, Gillies, and other strong men will take part in the weight competitions. The fleetest flyers in the East will break from the barrier in the sprints, and all the great distance runners will measure strides in the three-mile limited handicap run.

STRAUS ON HIS WORK.

He Tells Health Association How Pasteurization Saves Lives.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 6.—Nathan Straus of New York was the central figure today at the opening of the National Convention of the American Health Association. He told of the work that has been accomplished in the saving of the lives of children by the pasteurization of milk. Mr. Straus said in part:

"We ought to recognize that infantile paralysis, which is attracting so much attention and has every appearance of being a germ disease, occurs among infants whose only food is milk, and is probably prevented by pasteurization.

"My recent experience at Sandhausen, Germany, may be cited. The death rate among babies under 2 years of age had averaged 46 per cent. for five years. I pasteurized milk for most of the babies and the death rate fell to less than 20 per cent. I pasteurized the milk for all the babies of the village, and last July there were no deaths at all.

"No competent authority has ever disputed the fact that pasteurization kills the germs of disease, while it in no way impairs the nutritive value or the digestibility of the milk.

"And my practical experience in saving children from milk-born disease warrants the assertion that the pasteurization of the milk supplies of our big cities, under careful Health Department supervision, would infallibly reduce the number of cases of infectious disease and save the lives of babies."

STARS IN A. A. U. MEET.

Steamship May Be Chartered to Take New York Athletes to New Orleans.

When the leading athletes of the country gather at New Orleans for the National A. A. U. championships in October they will find ideal conditions. The meet will be held under the auspices of the Southern Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, and the indications are that it will be one of the most successful in the history of the governing body.

A special athletic field has been secured in order that an up-to-date track may be built. This already is nearing completion. It is said to resemble those constructed at the Jamestown and St. Louis expositions. It is being made of clay and cinders, and when finished will be very fast. The two hundred and twenty yards straightaway is now read for use, but there is much to do on the quarter-mile track.

L. di Beneditto, Secretary of the Southern Association, is now making arrangements for transporting Northern athletes to the Crescent City. According to his tentative plans a steamship will be chartered in New York to take all the athletes of this city and elsewhere in the East to New Orleans. Arrangements will also be made for the Western men. It is expected that every A. A. U. athlete of prominence will be represented in the championships, and it is thought that New York will lead in the number of entries.

CAMP MEETING TOWN ABLAZE

Nine Houses, Tabernacle, and Home for Aged Burn in Glyndon, Md.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 6.—An oil stove set fire to the kitchen of E. J. Heath's residence at Glyndon, Baltimore County, this afternoon and in an hour the flames caused an aggregate loss of $20,000. The big camp meeting temperance tabernacle was burned, as was the Home of the Aged People's Outing Association. Nine cottages were destroyed and one was blown up by dynamite to check the sweep of the flames.

No one was in the Heath house, and when the alarm was given the whole house was in a blaze, and the fire had communicated to the Aged People's Home adjoining.

Villagers with buckets assisted the Glyndon Volunteer Fire Department in fighting the flames, until driven back by the heat, the weak streams of water being useless, as one after another of the houses caught fire.

The tabernacle, which was the largest building in the town, cost $10,000. It was soon in flames and efforts to save it were futile.

SAY STATE WITNESS LIED.

Two Give Different Versions of Check Cashing in Skene Case.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Supreme Court Justice Randall J. Le Boeuf heard testimony to-day on the application of William Travers Jerome, counsel for ex-State Engineer Frederick Skene, who is on trial for grand larceny in connection with the award of good roads contracts, for the arrest of Charles H. O'Neil, Skene's confidential assistant, on a charge of perjury.

Two witnesses were examined as to testimony given by O'Neil, for the prosecution, regarding the cashing of a State check for $6,960, payable to the order of the Clinton Beckwith Engineering and Contracting Company of Herkimer.

O'Neil swore the check was cashed by Robert P. Murphy, proprietor of the Hotel Albany in New York City, on March 16, 1908, and the proceeds turned over to Frederick N. Lewis of the Clinton Beckwith Company, to enable him to pay for a $100 midnight supper in which O'Neil participated.

Then Lewis and Murphy were called. Lewis said he never was in the Hotel Albany, and that he gave the check to O'Neil in this city on Jan. 6 in the presence of Dennis Monahan, another member of the firm. Murphy said he cashed the check for O'Neil and gave him the money in the presence of a third party.

The State completed its case against Skene to-day. Jerome will open for the defense to-morrow and expects to conclude, that the case may go to the jury on Thursday.

ALBANY GRAFT HUNT IS TO BEGIN TO-DAY

Going to the Bottom of Things, Linn Bruce Says, Whether That Is Pleasant or Not.

THE WALL STREET END FIRST

Tracy Rogers, First Witness, to be Followed by Legislator, Who Kept Accounts There.

After months of preparation and delay the curtain will rise at last on the legislative graft hunt at 11 o'clock this morning, when the committee appointed at the extraordinary session of the Legislature to investigate reports of corrupt practices in the Legislature and the State departments and to recommend reform legislation will begin its public hearings in the Aldermanic Chamber at City Hall.

It was definitely announced yesterday by M. Linn Bruce, chief counsel of the committee, that the disclosures made in the course of the Allds trial before the Senate and the Hotchkiss investigation of the fire insurance companies in connection with the credits that appeared in certain ledgers of the defunct brokerage house of Ellingwood & Cunningham for the benefit of a number of influential legislators from the Odell administrations would be investigated first. This part of the investigation is expected to keep the committe busy for several days.

G. Tracy Rogers, whose activities at Albany in those days in connection with the traction lobby at the State Capitol were lightly touched upon both by Mr. Hotchkiss in his investigation and by counsel for Ben Conger in the Allds trial, will be the first witness. He will be followed on the stand by the various legislators whose names were brought out in the Hotchkiss investigation as having accounts with the brokerage firm. Those already subpoenaed include Congressman George R. Malby, ex-Senator Jotham P. Allds, ex-Senator Louis A. Goodsell, ex-Assemblyman Louis Bedell, ex-Assemblyman James T. Rogers, and Archie Baxter of Elmira, ex-Clerk of the Assembly.

In addition to the names already brought out, it is understood that the examination of the books which has been in progress for the last three or four weeks, with counsel of the committee and expert accountants co-operating in the work, has revealed the presence on the Ellingwood & Cunningham books of a great number of other names which have aroused the keenest curiosity in the graft hunters and which it is believed, when the proper light is shed on the accounts, will go a long way toward verifying the suspicion that G. Tracy Rogers used the firm of which he was a partner as a clearing house for some of his transactions.

A wagonload of the books has been brought to this city from the storage warehouse in Newark, N. J., where they have been kept for the last three years.

Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., of St. Lawrence, majority leader of the Assembly and Chairman of the Graft Hunting Committee, came to town yesterday and put in a busy few hours at the downtown headquarters of the committee. Mr. Bruce spent several hours in close conference with Alfred Hurrell and Isidore J. Kresel, associate counsel of the committee, in preparation for the hearing.

It was announced that from now on the hearings will continue from week to week. The committee has planned to devote three days a week to public hearings and to give part of the remaining time to executive sessions in preparation for future hearings.

PAYMENTS TO JOHN RAINES.

And to Jean Burnett to be Taken Up on Sept. 14—Subpoenas in Lyons.

LYONS, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Subpoenas were served here to-day by Charles Houghtaling, Sergeant-at-Arms of the State Senate, on Harry F. Zimmerlin of this place, and C. Willard Rice of Geneva, Trustee of the bankrupt Lyons Beet Sugar Refining Company, to be at the session of the State Legislative Investigating Committee Sept. 14.

It is understood that these men are called that inquiry may be made into the payment of $6,000 to the late Senator John Raines and $1,500 to the late Assemblyman Jean Burnett by Mr. Zimmerlin, former President of the Lyons Beet Sugar Refining Company, which amounts, Mr. Zimmerlin says, were given as retainers.

Nothing further bearing on this transaction was brought out at the adjourned hearing in the bankruptcy proceedings relating to the sugar company at Lyons to-day. Another hearing will be had in Seneca Falls on Sept. 16.

PROTEST AT HEALTH LAW.

City Druggists Aroused by Restrictions Against Sale of Morphine Medicines.

Representatives of most of the druggists' associations in New York and Brooklyn met last night at the College of Pharmacy, 115 West Sixty-eighth Street, and vigorously protested against the recent ordinance passed by the Board of Health prohibiting the sale of certain medicines containing morphine or opium and their derivatives except by a physician's prescription. Among the associations represented were the New York German Apothecaries' Association, the Kings County Pharmaceutical Society, the New York Retail Druggists' Association, the Manhattan, Brooklyn, Metropolitan, and Italian Pharmaceutical Associations, and the Retail Druggists' Protective Association of Brooklyn.

It was decided to send a committee to the Board of Health and protest against the enforcement of the ordinance and to determine if a compromise, one which would restrict only the sale of morphine in its regular form, could not be substituted.

"When Dr. Darlington enforced the carbolic ordinance we heartily indorsed it," declared Dr. W. C. Anderson of the Brooklyn College of Pharmacy, "but we cannot indorse this one because its provisions are entirely too sweeping. In other States they have similar ordinances, but the druggists violate them and take chances. We do not want to take any chances, because the druggists of New York are honest. The ordinance ought to be modified so that we could determine just how far we can go. As it now stands it does not state in just what quantities morphine can be sold, and only certain medicine containing the drug are restricted."

"The druggists are the public benefactors and not the doctors," said Dr. William Muir of the Brooklyn Board of Pharmacy. "Thousands of lives have been saved by certain well-known medicines which contain only a small quantity of morphine, and I never yet heard of a case where a single individual has been harmed by them. There is ten thousand times more harm done from whisky, yet the sale of that is not restricted."

"The sale of Codeine and heroni, which are both derivatives of morphine, is not restricted," declared Dr. Joseph Weinstein of the New York Retail Druggists' Association, "and large doses of these do infinitely more harm than small doses of Brown's Mixture and paregoric, which are restricted. It is certainly a very peculiar condition of affairs, that old, well-known family remedies should suddenly be prohibited, while others more dangerous, that no one knows very much about, should be allowed to be handled in any quantity. If the public good is to be considered then the sale of codeine and heroin should be restricted as much as the others.

"What restriction is placed upon the physician in regard to the sale of morphine? None. These men can cater to the dope fiends as much as they like, and nothing is said or done.

"All that a mother has to do is to get a physician's prescription, and if she wants paragoric very badly she will get it. If it is so harmful, its sale ought to be prohibited altogether. The ordinance is ill-considered and the public is not protected in the least.

"People cannot be made good by an ordinance. What is needed is a campaign of education. All that a person has to do under the present ordinance is to go out of the city—to Yonkers, for instance—and buy all the prohibited medicines he wants. The ordinance does not abate the evil, if any exists, in the least."

CHILE VICE PRESIDENT DEAD.

Country in Mourning for Two Executives on Eve of Its Centennial.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 6.—After being ill for six days with pneumonia, Vice President Elias Fernandez Albano, who had been Acting President of this republic since the death of President Montt at Bremen on Aug. 16, died to-day.

Immediately after Señor Albano's demise a decree was signed appointing Minister of Justice Emiliano Figueroa Acting President.

VALPARAISO, Chile., Sept. 6.—A number of distinguished Japanese are arriving here for the centennial celebration.

Japanese activity is being extended in this country. Japan is buying nitrate, to be used in Manchuria as a fertilizer in the raising of beets, and the Yokohama Specie Bank is opening branches in this country.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Sept. 6.—The Right Hon. James Bryce, the British Ambassador at Washington, arrived here to-day from New York and is the guest of Gen. Olivier.

Mr. Bryce will sail to-morrow en route for Chile.

On the eve of the centennial celebration of its independence the Republic of Chile is in mourning for two Executives, whose deaths occurred within the past three weeks. President Pedro Montt had been ill for some time, and, going abroad for his health, died immediately after his arrival at Bremen on Aug. 16.

Upon the departure of President Montt Señor Albano temporarily took up the duties of Acting President. He continued in that office after Señor Montt died, pending the election of a President.

LANGFORD WHIPS JEANNETTE IN RING

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—Sam Langford, Boston's colored champion fighter, who has been anxious to fight Jack Johnson, defeated Joe Jeannette, the negro heavyweight, in their fifteen-round bout at the Armory Athletic Association before a big crowd to-night. The "Tar Baby," although conceding weight, height, and reach to his opponent, carried the fighting to his man from the start and gave him a severe punishing about the body. Charley White of New York was the referee, and at the end of the encounter gave the decision to Langford.

It was in the tenth round that Langford gave Jeannette the worst beating. He rained stiff blows to the body and sent short, wicked jolts to the jaw so fast that Jeannette was in distress and hanging on. Jeannette rushed at Langford in this round, but the "Tar Baby" ducked and planted a hard right over the heart which slowed up the heavyweight. In a fast mixup Langford hammered his opponent hard on the kidneys. Jeannette showed signs of weariness and when Langford bored into him savagely Jeannette hung on to save himself. Sam landed two quick jolts to the jaw and Jeannette staggered backward.

Langford continued his unrelenting attack with rights and lefts to the head, and just as he was going in with the apparent intention of trying to land a finishing punch Langford slipped on the canvas and his blow fell short. The bell saved Jeannette and gave his seconds a chance to get him in shape for the next round. After that Jeannette was more careful, and, although he was in a bad way in the final session, Langford could not knock him out.

Jeannette proved a worthy foe for Langford early in the fight, and showed up especially well in the sixth and ninth rounds. Up to the eighth Langford had much his own way in the infighting, when suddenly in the ninth Jeannette went into a clinch willingly and gave Langford a severe drubbing about the body. He scored heavily with rights and lefts, and, after missing a hard right swing to the jaw, he planted a stiff left jolt on Langford's body which made him wince.

In the first round both mixed it willingly and exchanged left jabs to face and body. Langford forced the fighting in the second round and hit Jeannette hard several times on the kidneys. Both did telling work in the clinches. The third round was even, but Langford's ready attack and a series of hard jolts to the body gave him an advantage in the fourth. Jeannette opened the fifth with a hard smash on Langford's face, but Sam came back with two right uppercuts to the jaw and stiff left jabs to the face.

The sixth was Jeannette's round. After Langford landed on Joe's body Jeannette turned loose a hard smash to Sam's head, following it up with solid blows to the kidneys, and just before the bell he stopped Langford's aggressive tactics short with a solid right over the heart. Langford rushed affairs in the seventh and eighth rounds and punished Jeannette on the body without a let-up. Jeannette came back strong in the ninth round, and by his fast infighting stopped Langford up considerably. That was Jeannette's last rally, however, and from then to the end of the bout Langford had a decided advantage.

DESERTS BURNING BOAT.

Five Men and Woman Escape to River Bridge When Gasoline Explodes.

A motor boat floating aimlessly along the Hackensack River in a mass of flames near the Ridgefield Park Railroad bridge on Sunday night created a stir there. Five well-dressed young men and a young woman escaped to the bridge from the burning boat. One of the young men was bleeding from a cut on the head and he went to a drug store for treatment.

The party narrowly escaped from the boat when a broken lantern fell near the gasoline tank causing an explosion. The boat had crashed against one of the spiles of the new railroad bridge in the darkness, knocking the lantern to the floor. The men first placed the young women on the bridge, scrambled out of the boat themselves, and let it drift.

The injured man said he was Charles Martin of River Edge. The owners of the boat, Chris and William Benson of North Hackensack, were aboard. The names of the other two men and the young woman were not disclosed.

COSTER OUTPOINTS WAGNER.

Bantams Put Up Tame Bout at Fairmont A. C.—Blows Lacked Steam.

The bout at the Fairmont Athletic Club last night between Young Wagner and Joe Coster did not come up to the expectations, although Coster outpointed Wagner and earned the decision by a slight margin. Both boys are local bantams and are clamoring for a match with champion Johnny Coulon, but they will have to show better form than they did last night to go against some of the top-notchers. Coster was superior from a sparring standpoint, but lacked the necessary punch, while Wagner was rugged and willing to mix matters in order to get a chance to land.

The real fighting did not start until the seventh round, as both boys went along easy. They showed very little exertion, and did little damage to each other. Wagner was wild from the start, and frequently missed hard rights, which would have helped him had they landed, but Coster was too quick and always slipped out of reach. Coster made a good showing for a short while in the third round, when he sent a hard right to Wagner's stomach and followed it with a left to the face. Before Wagner could get set Coster landed another right to the face, and sent Wagner back on the ropes. Wagner was in bad shape at the close of the round, this being the best of the early rounds.

Coster had the advantage in the ninth and tenth rounds, but there was little steam behind his blows. He landed numerous blows on the body and face. In the last round Coster sent in three left-hand jabs which dazed his opponent and brought the blood from Wagner's nose. Then he planted hard rights and lefts on the stomach in the clinches, and had all the better of the work. In the semi-final of six rounds young Allan completely outfought Danny Whalen.

George Considine Recovers Diamond.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Sept. 6.—George F. Considine of New York, a follower of sporting events, came to Philadelphia for the fight of Monday night and lost the diamond setting of a ring valued at $2,500. He was staying at the Bellevue-Stratford, and at that hotel he offered a reward of $100 for the recovery of the solitaire. The maids began a careful search yesterday and found the gem at the foot of the bed in the room which Mr. Considine had occupied. They returned it to him and the reward was equally divided between them, much to their delight.

Young O'Leary Quits Before Burns.

Frankie Burns, the Jersey Cyclone, stopped Young O'Leary in seven rounds of their scheduled ten-round bout at the Olympic Athletic Club last night. O'Leary was not knocked out, but was so weakened by the body blows of his opponent that his seconds refused to allow him to answer the bell in the eighth round. Burns started off at a whirlwind clip in the opening round, and before the bell rang had O'Leary hanging on to save himself from a knockout. The second round also belonged to Burns, and O'Leary had a slight advantage in the third. The next four rounds were decidedly in favor of the Jersey bantam, whose body blows plainly weakened O'Leary and forced him to hug continually at the end of the seventh round. O'Leary was bleeding at the mouth, and his seconds refused to let him continue. In the semi-final Harry Rose and Eddie Smith put up a fast six-round bout, the latter having the advantage. A packed house saw the bouts.

9 August 18, 1910: U. S. Circuit Judge Kohlsaat, sitting in Chicago, granted the Pope Automatic Merchandising Co., and Clarence R. Pope, permission to dispose of 1000 cleaners on hand only on condition that a $20,000 bond be given to protect The McCrum-Howell Co., and that each machine be plainly marked, "Not the Richmond Suction Cleaner manufactured by The McCrum-Howell Co."

*Batted for Plank in the ninth inning.

Two-base hit—Chase. Three-base hit—Murphy. Home run—Cree. Sacrifice hit—Collins. Stolen bases—Collins, Chase, (2,) Wolter. Left on bases, Philadelphia, 9; New York, 3. First base on error—Philadelphia, 1. Double play—Gardner, (unassisted.) Struck out—By Hughes, 1; by Plank, 5; by Warhop, 1. Bases on balls—Off Hughes, 4; off Plank, 1. Wild pitch—Hughes. Hits—Off Hughes, 8 in six innings; off Warhop, 1 in three innings. Umpires—Messrs. Colliflower and Connolly. Time of game—One hour and fifty-seven minutes.

Birdie Cree smote the ball on the nose in the seventh inning on the Hilltop yesterday and cracked the boards in the right field fence. If the fence hadn't been there the horsehide would have rolled straight across the upper part of Manhattan Island and dropped into the Harlem River. The big slam came when it was most needed and won the game for the Yanks against the Athletics 3 to 2. Just before the colossal smash was made the Athletics had become unamazed at Hughes's curls and Thomas had just about caved in.

Cree was the first citizen to face Eddie Plank in the seventh. The first ball over, a dazzling cross-fire, wafted by like an Autumn leaf before a high wind. Birdie didn't see it pass. Plank then flipped over a bender that was calculated to tickle the outside corner of the pan. It was just what Cree ordered, for, as he stands way back from the plate, those are just the kind that he likes to jolt with the end of his bat and pickle into right field.

Turn your lamps on the flight of that ball. It rose gently ten feet above the ground and whistled past Hauser at first base. Keeping in the lower air lane the ball hugged the right field foul line and exasperatingly avoided Murphy's reach as he tore after it on the gallop. Then it struck the ground and rolled on to the fence. With a thump like a couple of freight cars coming together the ball hit the stockade and cracked the two-inch board. The poor ball was shamefully bruised and lacerated, but Murphy picked it up and hurled it homeward.

Where was Cree? You din't suppose he was standing at first base like a wooden Indian watching it, did you?

Well, you're a good little guesses—he wasn't. As soon as he connected Birdie was off, blistering the path to first base. Turning first on one wheel, he made the dirt fly and swung past second like Liza hopping over the ice in a Tom show with the pack of bloodhounds at her heels. Coming down the third base boulevard it looked as if Birdie was standing still and the earth was just rolling backward under him. About twenty feet from the plate Cree broke the running broad jump record and sailed into the plate just a fifth of a second before the ball arrived.

Considerable running.

Reflecting on the fact that the Athletics are winning the flag hands down, this grabbing two games out of three by the Yankees isn't suggesting much sadness. Again the White Elephants outhit the Hilltoppers, but they couldn't squeeze the counts over. Plank pitched much better ball than Hughes, but the few chances the Yanks got were eagerly accepted.

In the first inning Daniels fanned. Wolter beat out an infield hit and stole second. Chase rolled one to Barry and the collegian pegged to Baker to nail Wolter at third. Wolter slid in safely. Chase stole second and Knight pushed one down through Eddie Collins, which nearly bowled him over. Wolter and Chase scored. The Athletics got one back in the second inning. After Davis had fanned Danny Murphy hit to the centre field fence for a trio of sofas and scored on Barry's single.

It looked bad for Hughes in the sixth inning, but the best the Athletics did was to tie up the score. Some speedy fielding saved Hughes from disaster. Murphy singled to centre and Barry jammed a fast one at Knight, which he reached and knocked down, tumbling over on his ear in the effort. Lapp tried to bunt. He popped up a measly fly, Gardner was over near first base and grabbed it, doubling Barry before he got back to first.

Plank singled to left, scoring Murphy with the tieing run. Lord walked, and so did Oldring, and the bases were crowded. Lord took a big lead off second. Hughes was wide awake and whipped the ball back to Gardner, who speared Lord five feet from the station. Warhop relieved Hughes and the Athletics got but one hit off him. In the seventh inning came Cree's huge blow at the ball and the victory.

Lord in left field made as brilliant a catch in the seventh inning as has been seen this season. Just after Chase had doubled, Knight soaked a line drive toward the score board. Lord went after it and got it with one hand near the foul line. Daniels made a great harvesting of Barry's long fly in the eighth inning, getting the ball near the fence and turning a complete somersault during the proceeding.

The Yankees won't be back again till the end of the month.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 6.—Detroit defeated Cleveland to-day 6 to 2 in a game marked by a lot of hitting and comparatively little runmaking. Cleveland had men on the bases in every inning except the last, twelve being left. Birmingham's fielding and the batting of Schmidt and Crawford featured. Score:

Mrs. Burnham Wins In Intruder.

FRONTENAC, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Frederick K. Burnham of New York, at the wheel of the speedy Intruder, won to-day's ladies' invitation handicap motor boat race over the Frontenac course by displaying some of the best seamanship ever seen at the Thousand Islands. Mrs. Burnham's husband is the owner of the famous motor boat Dixie II. In the same event Mrs. George S. Hasbrouck in the Jan won second honors.

The races were the last big ones of the season at the Islands. A big crowd lined the river banks.

In the one-design class T. A. Gillespie was first and F. A. Reed of New York second.

The last race of the day was as good as any this season. It was a free-for-all, in which the Duquesne II., owned by Rolland Peacock, was first, and the Flaming Arrow, owned by William Tousey of Syracuse, was second.

The Giants and the tail-end Doves straggled through nine innings of featureless baseball at the Polo Grounds yesterday without disturbing in any way the dormitory party of some 300 faithful fans who lingered through it all just behind the press box, two clusters in the right and left field bleachers which aggregated about another hundred, and one lonesome party who had a monopoly on the seating facilities in centre. The Giants got the first run in the second chapter, and rested on this advantage until the Doves came across with the tying count in the fourth. This proved the signal for more speed by McGraw's boys, and they let out a bit in the next two innings, getting five runs on four hits and as many passes. The final score was 6 to 2 in the Giants' favor, Boston getting another run in the ninth.

Red Murray and his chunky bat were the big noises of the session, but neither remained to the finish. After scoring three of the six runs and chasing across two more, Murray retired in favor of Becker at the beginning of the sixth inning. Red faced Mattern three times and got away with three lusty wallops. The first went to right centre and proved good enough for two cushions, later resulting in the first run of the game. Murray opened the fourth with a line drive to right field, and had the distinction of again tripping across the pan with the run which put the Giants to the fore. In the next inning Red came to bat with runners on first and second bases, and he straightway spanked a long drive to left field for two cushions and as many runs. An out put him on third, a double steal finished the trip around the corners, and he retired for the afternoon. Nobody cares to take up the burden of keeping the 400 awake after Red departed.

Crandall was McGraw's selection for mound duty and Otis got away with his assignment in grand style. He allowed only two scattered singles up to the eighth, and but for a slip-up by Larry Doyle on Herzog's grounder in the fourth there would have been nothing but blanks for the Doves. Only two of the visitors had seen second base up to the ninth, when a double and a single were bunched for a run. Crandall failed to mow down any of the Doves on strikes, but he had them hitting weakly to the fielders. Boston seldom can solve Crandall.

Lefty Mattern went the route against the Giants and had two bad innings—the fourth and fifth—when his shoots were met safely four times and four passes were thrown in to help along the good cause. Neither team had a chance to uncork any brilliant bits of fielding during the afternoon. Doyle and Sweeney were kept busy, but their chances were not difficult.

Both teams died without a struggle in the opening inning. Miller drew a pass in Boston's half of the second inning, but was forced when Sweeney grounded to Doyle and Beck was thrown out by Crandall. Murray opened the Giants' half with a double to left centre, reached third on Bridwell's infield out, and walked home when Devlin hit sharply past second. Merkle forced Devlin, and Meyers forced Merkle. With two out in Boston's half of the third inning Collins singled past second base, but died trying to steal. In New York's half, after Crandall had died on a grounder to Sharpe, Devore hit to deep right centre for three bases. He was nailed at the plate trying to register on Doyle's grounder to Shean.

The fourth was a big inning for each team. Herzog opened with a drive to Doyle, and Larry obligingly let it roll away. Shean followed with a single to right, putting Herzog on second. Sharpe's sacrifice moved each runner up a peg and Herzog scored, while Doyle was throwing Miller out at first base. Sweeney walked and attempted a double steal with Shean, but Bridwell's return throw got Shean at the plate. Murray opened for the Giants with a single to right and Bridwell sacrificed. Devlin walked and both runners advanced while Smith was throwing Merkle out on a short roller in front of the plate. Meyers drove the ball into the left field bleachers, but it was foul by a foot, and his next attempt was a clean single to left which chased Murray and Devlin across the plate.

Devore began the fifth inning with a single past second, Doyle skied to Sweeney, and Snodgrass walked. Both finished the distance on Murray's long drive to left for two bases. Bridwell walked and tried a double steal with Murray, only to be cut short when Smith pegged to second. Devlin walked and the double steal was successfully executed, Murray beating the return throw to the plate. Neither team saw second base again until the ninth inning, when Herzog hit to left centre for two bases. He counted on Shean's drive between Devlin and Bridwell. Sharpe forced Shean at second base, and immediately stole, Schlei making no effort to get him. The rally ended right here, as Miller fouled to Devlin and Sweeney grounded to Bridwell. Schlei caught the last two innings.

The Helen Wins In Sonder Race.

MARION, Mass., Sept. 6.—The eight yachts remaining in the German-American sonder yacht elimination trials in Buzzard's Bay sailed one race to-day, after a previous contest had been called off when partly completed owing to the absence of wind. The Helen won to-day's event, with the Cima second. It was over a windward and leeward course three miles to a leg, with the wind blowing six to seven knots an hour. The wind was from the south when the yachts started, but shifted to the southeast. The Helen and Cima were closer inshore than the other boats when the wind changed, and they got the full benefit of it, placing them well in advance of the other yachts. The boats will race again to-morrow.

First Post-Season Series.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 6.—Fayetteville, winner of the first, and Rocky Mount, winner of the second series, began to-day five games for the championship of the Eastern North Carolina League at Fayetteville. The home team won by a score of 3 to 1.

HUESTON LEADS WITH CUE.

Jerome Keogh Beaten in First Game for Pool Championship.

Thomas A. Hueston of St. Louis won the first of the series of three games of pool for the world's championship from Jerome R. Keogh of Rochester last night at Doyle's Billiard Academy, 112 West Forty-second Street. The score was 213 to 166.

Keogh, who is now the champion, played hard to defend his title, but Hueston, who is a wizard at the game, proved better. Keogh won the championship from Hueston last year at the American Music Hall.

Twenty-six frames were played, in five of which Hueston ran 15 balls and Keogh ran 3. Keogh, however, succeeded in making the largest straight run, which was 42 balls. The game was slow until the seventh frame, when Hueston made several sensational shots.

Keogh, in the sixteenth frame, succeeded in getting ahead of his opponent. It was here that his run of 42 ended, which put him 2 better than the St. Louis player, but he did not hold this position long, for Hueston got 14 balls from each of the two following racks, which brought the score up to 143 to 119.

The twenty-third frame was the best of the whole contest. After running 12 balls, Hueston left himself in a bad position, but managed to pull out by the remarkable manner in which he manipulated the cue ball. He made a follow shot on the seventh ball, putting it in the side pocket, then the white ball seemed to reverse itself and came back across the table, where the two remaining balls lay close together, breaking them apart, thus giving him an easy shot and resulting in the run of the table.

A new rule was introduced in the eighth frame over which there was some argument, which resulted in the giving to Keogh the option on a rack over or a shot after Hueston had broken the balls with only one going to the cushion. Heretofore in this case the balls were always racked again.

A CONTRAST.

There is a striking difference between the attitude of President TAFT at the Conservation Congress and that of ex-President ROOSEVELT. The President approaches conservation as a very important problem, affecting the welfare of the entire Nation, involving extensive and complex interests, and demanding study, deliberation, open-mindedness, and the practical co-operation, so far as possible, of all concerned. He sees that it may inevitably raise questions of jurisdiction, since it is essentially a new matter not clearly or directly conceived or provided for in either the State or the National Constitution. He submits to the Congress a careful and orderly statement of what he considers to be the substance of the problem in its various phases, with a succinct and intelligent account of what has been done or undertaken by the Federal Government, of which he is the head, with suggestions as to future action. And he concludes with a pointed recommendation that the Congress avoid "rhapsodies" and confine itself to "specific" questions and definite propositions.

Mr. ROOSEVELT approaches the subject in the mood, if we may be pardoned the simile of a pugilist "looking for trouble," or if that seems a little narrow, in the spirit of a campaign orator, out for popular approval, and bent on the denunciation of his enemies. He frankly refers to the movement as "the conservation fight." It is a part of the general "fight" against "destructive monopolization," its foes are the "predatory corporations," its aim is to "drive the special interests out of our public life." There are no "specific" statements of fact in his long address, and no very definite propositions. For the difficulties that may come from doubtful jurisdiction he finds an easy solution in his notion of the new Nationalism, "When in doubt, take the trick." If we are not sure whether particular tasks fall most clearly, or most wisely can be placed, under the control of the States, turn them over without hesitation to the Federal Government. If any one should suggest that the best known and the very worst of all the evils arising from "special interests in public life" have come from the Federal Government controlling foreign trade for the advantage of those interests, we suppose that his reply would be that he had not had time to take up that matter when he was the head of the Government, and when he did there would be nothing to complain of.

Naturally with this spirit, the scope of Mr. ROOSEVELT'S ideas of conservation is imposing and comprehensive. It ranges from the opening up of a deep waterway from the lakes to the Gulf, with "adequate terminals in every city and town," (with railways forced to deliver freight to them at fixed rates,) through swamp drainage, control of all water power and like grandiose plans to the improvement of the social life of farmers and the restoration of all his pet commissions, which Congress ruthlessly cut off. Incidentally, as to this unpleasant experience, he recalls his declaration to Congress that if he had been going to remain President he "would pay no attention whatever" to the action of Congress, but he does not explain where he would have got the money which Congress refused. He is ready, when in office, to add to the duties of the Executive, the function of the Supreme Court, and to decide when the action of Congress is "unconstitutional and void," a function for which he thinks the court rather imperfectly adapted, but he might have trouble in getting money out of the Treasury without an appropriation.

There is one portion of his speech in which his friends the insurgents may find an unexpected and gratifying significance. Speaking of the development of the resources of Canada and Mexico, he says:

> It is to the mutual interest of the United States and our sister American republics that this development should be wisely done. Our manufacturing industries offer a market for more and more of their natural wealth and raw material, while they will increasingly desire to meet that demand in commercial exchange. The more we buy from them the more we shall sell to them. Their prosperity is inseparably involved with our own. Thank Heaven we of this continent are now beginning to realize, what in the end the whole world will realize, that normally it is a good thing for a nation to have its neighbor nations prosper.

Here is a suggestion of a truth which, logically and practically applied, would completely undermine the whole system of protection, which is based on the plain assumption that selling and not buying is the only source of profit in international trade, and that we prosper most when our neighbors sell least and we sell most. This is a fallacy which Mr. ROOSEVELT long ago understood, but which of late years he has persistently ignored. It is permissible to suggest that the sound doctrine has now become sufficiently popular to repay his attention.

VERMONT'S ELECTION.

Vermont, normally Republican by pluralities rising from 26,000 to 40,000, yesterday reduced them for a Republican Governor, Legislature, and two Republican Congressmen to a point below the "safety mark" of 20,000. The returns invite comparison with the Hayes-Tilden campaign of 1876, when Vermont's Republican plurality fell to 24,078; to the Cleveland-Blaine campaign of 1884, when it was 22,183; to 1892, when it fell to 21,669, and to 1890, when Vermont's Republican plurality of but 14,168 presaged a Democratic sweep of the country and capture of the House in November.

New Hampshire's primaries yesterday revealed in startling degree the split between the Republican Conservatives and the Republican Progressives in New England. It is wide enough, apparently, to insure Democratic elections next week in Maine.

MAYOR OR GOVERNOR?

The question of Mr. GAYNOR'S candidacy for Governor was bound to arise, and necessarily the first element in connection with it is his own decision as to what he will do regarding it.

It is as certain as anything can be in politics that Mr. GAYNOR would be elected were he to consent to the nomination. Practically the choice submitted to him is between the two offices. He has shown himself to be extraordinarily fitted for one of them; his fitness for the other will be generally and properly inferred. Of the two the Mayoralty offers rather more important and more difficult duties than the Governorship. They include not merely the performance of administrative functions, but the application, establishment, and extension of the principles of a system which may be said to have come into being with his inauguration. That system in effect is one of an expert commission, of which the Mayor is the head and leader, a commission that determines not merely the expenditures of the city but the conditions of expenditure, and so of management, in the various departments. With the Mayor's energy, clear judgment, and efficiency in co-operation with the other members of the commission, much, very much, has been accomplished, and sound promise of greater usefulness has been given. It is a splendid work, with wide ramifications and great possibilities that the Mayor would have to abandon should he become Governor.

On the other hand, the office of Governor would present many opportunities for usefulness to the city, along with opportunities for extraordinary public service to the State. Politically it would be generally regarded as a stepping stone—in Mr. GAYNOR'S case an indispensable one—to a nomination for the Presidency. This would carry with it the possibility of becoming the National leader of the Democratic Party, a post, in the present condition of our politics, to which any patriotic Democrat might honorably aspire as a post not merely of distinction but of the highest value to the country. Mr. GAYNOR is a man of singular independence, deliberation, and self-reliance, and will weigh well the considerations suggested and reach his own decision regarding them.

MORE ROOSEVELT LUCK.

Monday was President TAFT'S day. His conservation address at St. Paul was the event of Labor Day. It was, properly, and according to schedule, an off day for the Colonel. Yet ROOSEVELT loomed largely on the first pages of yesterday morning's newspapers. An accommodating and unaccountable crank interrupted his speech at Fargo, N. D., by asking who pays the expenses of the Colonel's trip. It has been no secret that the weekly paper of which Mr. ROOSEVELT is contributing editor pays them. His trip is a fine advertisement for that paper. But Mr. ROOSEVELT'S frank reply to his interrogator did not satisfy the man, who mounted the platform and permitted the ex-President to exhibit his superb muscular training, his dauntless courage, and his command of jiu jitsu.

More Roosevelt luck. The elements and the cranks are all in his service. The planets and the stars are with him. He said nothing new at Fargo. It seemed for a time that he might give place in that one day's news record to other men, to other subjects of only less importance because they do not directly concern ROOSEVELT. But, lo! the amiable, irresponsible crank, the bandying of words, and the splendid display of physical dexterity, which must be described, in detail, in every daily newspaper in the world. Who can hope to compete with such a lucky man?

HAS CRIME INCREASED?

It is a pity that the question whether crime has increased or diminished in the United States during the past three decades cannot be answered with accuracy. The prison authorities, who prepare the statistics, are to blame. Dr. CHARLES A. ELLWOOD says in the current Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology, that "we have no [criminal] statistics for the country as a whole since 1904 that are worth anything." Those before 1904 are not worth much. They are not properly classified.

Between 1880 and 1904, however, Dr. ELLWOOD has reason to believe that, with the number of major offenders serving sentence in a million of population rising from 611 to 729, the ratio of convictions to trials for major offenses in the higher criminal courts nevertheless diminished. The sentences, also, were shortened within that period. In the same interval the juvenile delinquents in reform schools increased 55.2 per cent., 22 per cent. more than the population. The definition of many new misdemeanors has notably increased the number of yearly arrests, but this is not a serious matter.

Perhaps the so-called increase of crime is accounted for by the increase of agencies of detection—the ratio of discovered crimes has increased. But it is noteworthy that convictions seem relatively fewer, and the penalties for high crimes lessened.

JOKES.

A joke, according to the dictionaries, should be a subject or object of merriment. The purpose of a joke is to excite laughter. When people who are not naturally of a humorous turn try their hands at joking the result is frequently painful. Jokers are born, not made. Most of us do better to pursue the humble routine of our lives sedately, if not solemnly, relying on the natural exponents of heart-easing mirth to supply the leaven of gayety for us. The physician and his wife, for instance, who mutually wrote letters, in jest, to inform the world that they had committed suicide, might better leave joking to the born jesters. Their sense of humor is defective. Their joke was well worked up. A licensed manufacturer of acrobatic comedy could not have paid greater attention to the preparation and elaboration of the joke. The man's own letter, to be sure, seems to have been destroyed, but the woman's was put in an envelope, addressed to this paper, stamped, and left in a coat pocket where a servant could find it and put it in the mail.

The letter, thus mailed, caused some inquiry. We have not heard that anybody's feelings were harrowed. But advance information of contemplated suicide is worth following up. Since the joke has come out nobody, so far as we have learned, has as much as smiled. It was a very poor joke, and it failed. Of course we are convinced that it was a joke, because poor, humorless jokes are so common.

What joke could be less humorous, for example, than the one attributed, by various authorities, to Secretary DICKINSON, on the steamship Siberia, bound for Manila? They say that, "armed and accoutred" as he was, he jumped into the swimming tank on the deck, accompanied, like another Cassius, by a pair of Caesars, Gen. EDWARDS and Capt. ANDERSON, both fully clothed. Afterward these three wet gentlemen ducked Mr. DICKINSON'S secretary. It is a poor joke, one to excite amazement rather than mirth, and it is no excuse for it that a distinguished lady is said to have done much the same thing on the same ship. It is not a bit like Secretary DICKINSON, so unlike him, in fact, that we fear somebody has been inventing a joke at his expense. A poor joke, too. The comic papers have better jokes, and that is not saying much.

TEACHERS OF SMUGGLING.

There are teachers of smuggling, a committee of Maiden Lane jewelers hears. These instructors in the gentle and cunning art of slipping pretty necklaces and fine diamonds through the slats of the New York customs gate are said to be "runners" for Paris and London jewelers. Quick-eyed and alert, the runners are supposed to pass along the word to prospective American jewelry buyers in French and English marts that it is, forsooth, quite an easy thing to get small but well-nigh priceless articles past the dull, double-jointed Customs Inspectors at New York. "It's an easy trick to turn if you know how," they say, "and we can tell you how."

Of course the moral correctness of their standpoint is assumed. To them, and necessarily to others, they seem to think, the Customs Inspectors here are just a band of legalized robbers. If, perchance, being forewarned, it is possible to hide one's valuables out of the reach of their nimble fingers while being held up, so much the better. Apparently this new group of tempters find women especially susceptible to their suggestion.

Doubtless quite a number of dutiable jewels are smuggled past the customs men, but it is risky and increasingly difficult. Most of those who try it fail, and, for even very thick skins, the mortification, most fortunately, must be keen. But there is another view of the matter. The "runners," consciously in most cases, are playing a mean trick on their best customers. But while we condemn the tempters, it is not possible to confess any overwhelming sympathy for the tempted when they get caught.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Biologist Discusses Education.

Dr. GEORGE E. DAWSON of Springfield, Mass., contributes to the September number of The Popular Science Monthly an article headed "Parasitic Culture," which is, perhaps, the best founded and the best argued criticism which the believers in and advocates of the old-fashioned, unspecialized, classical, "liberal" education have yet had to meet. Many of them will remain unconvinced by it, to be sure, but none can safely ignore this attack upon his cherished theory as to the adequacy of "Latin, Greek, and mathematics" as mental training to prepare one for making much, if not most, of life.

Dr. DAWSON speaks even more as a physiologist than as a psychologist, and his contentions are based on what he calls the "fact well recognized by biologists that a functionless organ is not tolerated by nature." After a few remarks about several vestigial and obsolescent organs, of which the vermiform appendix is the best known, he prepares for his conclusions by taking up the once generally accepted but now widely questioned belief that by athletic sports, games, and exercises a store of strength can be laid up for future use in activities. That this not only cannot be done, but that the athlete's big heart and muscles are an injury and a danger, instead of an advantage, to the man in a sedentary occupation, with neither the time nor the inclination to use them, is a view which Dr. DAWSON is at present far from alone in holding, but he may be the first to claim the same admission in regard to the brain.

This is in effect what he does. The student who devotes much time to the study of Latin, Greek, and mathematics, he says, establishes certain conditions in certain brain centres that are analogous to the muscular hypertrophies of the oarsman, or runner, or football player, but while he has created high efficiencies along the particular lines that can utilise them, he cannot transfer those efficiencies to the other lines along which his life work will probably be done. In that case, therefore, he has in his brain functionless organs, and they proceed to degenerate exactly as unused organs always do, usually to the detriment, and often to the mortal peril, of all their neighbors.

Possibly in this theory, if one may not venture to call it a statement of facts, is to be found an explanation of the more than slightly contemptuous significance that attaches to the word "academic," and of the well-known disinclination on the part of the general public to ascribe much weight to the advice of college professors in practical matters.

A Collector Who Collects.

As explanation of the failure of the many and bitter complaints that have been made about the way Collector LOEB has exercised the powers of his office, The Newark (N. J.) News says that each accusation, when simmered down, amounted to just this—that the Collector is collecting. And, come to think of it, such does seem to be the case.

Mr. LOEB'S subordinates, which is the same thing as saying Mr. LOEB himself, have done many irritating things—many things that apparently infringed upon the natural rights and dignities of American citizens returning from foreign travels—many things that caused not a few of those travelers to suffer embarrassment and loss. With rare exceptions, however, none of these things was anything except strictly legal and highly successful—collecting. And that, after all, is what a Collector is for.

If a Collector cannot be charged with being a respecter of persons, with showing severity here and leniency there, as the one or the other is politically expedient; if bribes are no longer given on the wharves for the reason that they will no longer be accepted—in that case, the only course open to people who hate to be treated as would-be cheaters of the Government, and still more to be convicted of perjury committed and of fraud attempted, is to get the law changed.

Toward making the accomplishment of that task possible Collector LOEB is probably doing more than was done by all his predecessors at this port put together, for by enforcing the law without fear or favor—and efficiently—he has forced its absurdities and its atrocities upon multitudes of people who in other days thought it, as applied to themselves, a good deal of a joke. Those of us who stay at home cannot by any possibility escape one single exaction of the tariff law, so why should the more fortunate folk who can go abroad be allowed to do so?

To pause for a reply would be useless, since there is none. And when a Collector of Customs can goad a manufacturer of agricultural machinery to make the statement, so horribly heterodox from the protectionist standpoint, that "Every American citizen should be allowed to bring in what he chooses!" that Collector is certainly to be commended and encouraged by those of us for whom protection has something less than the sacredness of a religion.

Mme. Curie's Latest Achievement.

By isolating radium from one of the combinations in which alone, hitherto, it has been known to exist, the remarkable Mme. CURIE not alone adds another great triumph to her already long list of great triumphs, but she brings to most amusing confusion the eminent scientist who not many weeks ago expressed grave doubt as to whether there really was any such thing as radium. He inclined to the opinion that the salts supposed to contain it were, in fact, composed of substances much more familiar, united in some out-of-the-ordinary fashion.

To this skeptic Mme. CURIE can now show a "white metal" that "adheres strongly to iron," "turns black on exposure to the air," "burns paper," and "oxidizes in water." These be curiously commonplace and therefore disappointing characteristics. The listing of them shows only too plainly that the dispatches now at hand were not written by a scientist.

Mme. CURIE will doubtless soon have something more interesting and significant to say to her colleagues, and through them to the world, about the qualities and behavior of isolated radium. Yet it would not be without many precedents if radium alone proved less active than when in combination with other elements.

Injunction Against the Boycott.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your Hartford correspondent, "J. M.," is altogether mistaken when asserting that "the law is powerless to suppress the boycott." He repeatedly puts this statement in with his declarations that the law cannot prevent strikes. It is perfectly clear to any body of plain, common sense that hired individuals and also work people collectively have a perfect legal right, as indeed it is their perfect natural right, to stop work, and throw up their job whensoever they please if, being under no special contract, they are legally free to do so. But, it is altogether an entirely different matter in respect of boycott, for the boycott is in every shade and degree of its actual practice just so much downright conspiracy to injure, and being conspiracy it is legally punishable as such and therefore legally preventable by injunction.

GAYNOR FOR GOVERNOR.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Having read your article this morning on Mayor Gaynor for Governor the following thoughts occurred to me:

It is almost an aphorism that the Democrats throw away their opportunities in this State, and resultingly in the Nation. In fact, no matter how discouraging the Republican situation may be the leaders of that party seem to complacently await the result of the inevitable Democratic blunder.

Eighteen years have elapsed since the Democrats elected a Governor of this State. During the years preceding each Gubernatorial contest Democrats indulged themselves in the phrase, "This is a Democratic year." And again this year we hear the same parrot-like utterance. Of course it is based on the present turmoil in the Republican Party of this State, and Democrats lay the flattering unction to their souls that this disruption is beyond healing.

But if history is going to repeat itself, the Republicans, notwithstanding what now appears to be a discouraging situation, will on the day of election present a solid front to their opponents; their differences will at that time be apparently reconciled, and with their accustomed good grace they will have recourse to their usual straddle of expediency.

The Democratic Party in this State is now in the actual possession of a great opportunity, and in the interest of good government it should not be allowed to slip from its grasp.

What is that opportunity? Manifestly the nomination of William J. Gaynor for Governor. Every man of any political sagacity can see that his nomination means, beyond peradventure, not only the triumphant election of the entire ticket headed by him, but it means more than this. It means, because of his unusual popularity, a Democratic majority in both branches of the Legislature of this State; the election of a Democratic United States Senator to succeed Chauncey M. Depew, and the carrying by the Democrats of several Congressional districts in this State now in the hands of the Republicans, thus contributing to the general triumph of electing a Democratic House of Representatives at Washington. It means giving an impetus to the Democratic canvass for the Presidency two years hence in every State in the Union; for the placing at this time of the State of New York in the Democratic column after an exclusion of eighteen years would, it goes without saying, be a most stimulating achievement.

What other man's nomination can we safely assert would accomplish this result?

But it is said here and there that Mr. Gaynor has foreclosed himself from such a candidacy because, forsooth, in his campaign for the Mayoralty he declared that he had then no aspirations for any other office, and that if elected he would serve the people for four years. There was nothing extraordinary in that statement, coming from a man who was not an aspirant even for the Mayoralty, but was forced into it by irresistible conditions.

But no one asked him to make this declaration. The question was not involved in his candidacy, and it was no part of the res gestae, so to speak, and was devoid of the slightest consideration.

What binding force, in logic or in morals, can such a declaration have in the face of the present popular demand, which could not at that time have been foreseen?

The basic principle of our governmental policy is the popular will, in the presence of which all other considerations must be subordinated, no matter how or by whom created.

It is therefore clear that while Mr. Gaynor has the physical power and the legal right to refuse such a nomination he has not the moral right.

Besides, does Mr. Gaynor, if elected Governor, cease to serve the people of the City of New York?

How does it lessen his opportunity to serve them by exercising the functions of Governor rather than those of Mayor, unless it be argued that a part is greater than the whole?

Is it to be forgotten that as Governor he has a supervisory power and jurisdiction over all the municipalities of the State, and can it be argued that as Chief Executive of the State he would not be able to bring the influence of his forceful and resourceful intellect into the administration of these municipalities and thereby advance the science of municipal government through the State?

But above all, is there not a reason at present for a wise, clean, and effective administration of our State? Are not the people of this State clamoring for the same efficiency in its government as is now enjoyed in the City of New York, and are they not entitled to have it? Who, other than Mr. Gaynor, can bring about all these conditions so safely and completely, if at all? In a political sense Mr. Gaynor is an asset of the Democratic Party, created by his election to the Mayoralty and by his splendid accomplishments in that office.

To hint at a larger sphere of usefulness it may be noted that history, experience, and logic all coincide that no man from this State has ever reached the Presidency who has not demonstrated his ability to carry the State as a candidate for Governor, and it must also be borne in mind that the Mayoralty of the City of New York has never been a stepping stone to any higher office except in one single instance, forty-two years ago, when John T. Hoffman was elected Governor.

MATTHEW P. BREEN.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I beg leave to make emphatic protest against your leading editorial article in to-day's issue, in which you advocate turning over to Mr. Roosevelt the Republican organization of the State. In view of his recent speeches at Denver, Osawatomie, and elsewhere, which have been widely and justly construed as threatening the overthrow of representative constitutional government in this Nation, and substituting for it Populistic Rooseveltian favoritism, the official recognition and approval of him by the Republican State Convention will be making a record of infamy which can only be paralleled by going back to the days of the '60s.

Whereas the present conditions require pecuniary aid, and whereas people of other towns have organized to help their countrymen, we, from the City of Bialystok, Russia, who participate in almost all the charitable institutions of Greater New York, have therefore been convinced that we need a "Bialystoker Free Loan Society" for our Bialystoker brethren.

There are so many needy people who would not dare to ask for charity of any description, nor would others accept any donation even if same were delivered to them secretly, just for the reason that it bears the name "charity."

Many are starving, others dispossessed, while some would often avoid trouble in their business if they could obtain some small loan at reasonable weekly payments.

We have therefore resolved that such an institution be formed, and it should render help to all the Bialystoker who will apply for it, and will fulfill the necessary requirements prescribed by the constitution of this organization.

We therefore appeal to you, Bialystoker, to join us in our enterprise, to become members of this association which is being organized for so noble a purpose.

CLOSED SHOP PERMISSIBLE.

Judge in Post Opinion Indicates Employers Can Have One If They Like.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—The opinion of Judge Smith McPherson, denying the application of C. W. Post of Battle Creek, Mich., for an injunction to restrain the American Federation of Labor officials and the Bucks Stove and Range Company of this city from entering into a closed-shop agreement, was filed in the United States Circuit Court here to-day. Judge McPherson decided the case in chambers at his home in Red Oak, Iowa.

The tentative agreement, the ratification of which Mr. Post opposed, the court says, was reached some six weeks ago. Judge McPherson continues:

"Complainant then knew of it. He has remained silent until the last few days, when he filed his bill of complaint asking for the injunction. He has given notice of this hearing to no defendant. Many of them are accessible, and no doubt would have been present had they been notified.

"Restraining orders should not be issued except upon notice to the defendants, and then only when irreparable harm will follow if such restraining order is not issued. I utterly fail to see wherein the harm can come if the restraining order is not issued."

The court says every employer of labor has the right to determine for himself whether his business shall be operated as a closed shop or an open shop, adding, "whether it is for the better to have a closed shop or an open shop, men differ."

In this particular case Judge McPherson found the Board of Directors of the Bucks Company had decided to make the settlement with union labor.

ARMY BUDGET IS CUT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—A reduction of several millions in the total estimates for appropriations for the military establishment, including rivers and harbors expenditures, compared with the estimates of last year has been made by the War Department.

Gen. Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff of the army, laid the final draft of the estimate before President Taft at Beverly last week. When he returned here to-day he said the President had approved the estimates with a few changes, and that they were now ready for submission to Congress.

One feature calls for the construction of permanent buildings in the Philippines for the use of the army. Temporary structures have been used in the past.

Another matter decided at his conference with the President was the maintenance of the army at its authorized minimum strength of 87,000 men, including all arms and departments.

Prior to the Taft Administration it was maintained at that figure, but was reduced to 82,000, its present strength, by expirations of enlistments, discharges, and the discontinuance of recruiting.

CHICAGO'S AMPLE SCHOOLS.

Can Accommodate City's 300,000 Pupils —New Buildings Opened.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—"Every one of Chicago's 300,000 school children to attend school every day and to have a seat" is the boast of school authorities with the opening of the public schools to-day. For the first time since Chicago graduated from the village into the city class, the school facilities are ample to accommodate the total school population. There may be some crowding in certain sections, consequent on the changing of districts at the opening of the year, but as soon as adjustments are made there will be room for every pupil, and half day sessions will become a thing of the past.

Five new buildings of the most modern type, and a half dozen additions, will open to-day and will increase the seating capacity by nearly 10,000.

It is planned to install a large number of emergency kitchens throughout the city, thus reducing the distance which cookery pupils will have to travel to reach a school thus equipped.

OUR RAILROADS SUPREME.

Efficiency Proved Beyond Doubt at Berne Conference, Says Lane.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—"I return from the International Railway Conference at Berne, Switzerland, with much greater enthusiasm over the American railroads as agencies of transportation than I ever had before."

This statement was made to-day by Franklin K. Lane, a member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, who was one of the representatives of the United States to the conference.

"The conference established beyond question, I think, the supremacy of the American railroad from the standpoint of efficiency," continued Mr. Lane. "One of the questions that is left in my mind is as to how the European railroads manage to pay 4, 5, and 6 per cent. in dividends with the small volume of traffic they have, compared with the volume we have. I have seen more freight moving in a single hour at Chicago, Pittsburg, and Jersey City than I saw in an entire month in Europe. Of course, the answer of the European railroad man is that their railroad systems are entirely adequate to the needs of their countries, and that is probably true."

Manhattan's Growth Assured.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The general impression seems to prevail that Manhattan has not figured up to her average in the recent census, and many loyal Brooklynites even go so far as to proclaim that the time is not distant when Manhattan will cease to grow at all, and that by 1920 she will be eclipsed by their own borough. I wish to show here, as concisely as possible, that the above impression is not justified, so will use round numbers only. Since 1860 and up to the present census the rates of gain in the decennial census figures for Manhattan have been 15, 24, 23, and 30 per cent. respectively. The average rate of these increases for the last forty years is exactly 23 per cet. This average Manhattan has just exceeded by three points, giving her at the same time her largest numerical increase on record.

Brooklyn's rates of increase for the four decades above mentioned were 50, 43, 40, and 39 per cent. respectively, or an average of 43 per cent. This rate she has fallen short of by two points, in spite of her magnificent showing.

As to the future, much could be said as to why Manhattan's growth will continue for many years to come. Her general metropolitan atmosphere, the incomparable scenic beauty of her upper portion, and other advantages which are to numerous to mention here, will always make her the Mecca for those who would find life less worth living elsewhere. Doesn't Care for This Romance.

The frequent mention in the newspaper of the whereabouts, health, and doings of Miss Elkins and the Duke of the Abruzzi would indicate it to be a matter of wide interest to our inhabitants.

Will some one enlighten a reader, and doubtless many others, as to the why and wherefore they are considered worthy of so much valuable newspaper space? INQUISITIVE.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Where is that sense of humor of which Americans have been given to boast? It certainly is not in evidence these days. If it were it would "help to solve some of our problems," for the solemn Bryan, the frothy Roosevelt, and the serpentine Hearst would soon be laughed off the political stage.

WANT A CITY BOARD FOR A LABOR COURT

TO CONSIDER WAGES, TOO

Advocates of the Plan Give Their Views at a Public Hearing—To Improve Living Conditions.

The Congestion of Population Commission in its consideration of the varied topics over which it is dividing its attention has evolved a plan for the establishment of a municipal commission for the arbitration of local labor troubles. The author of the plan is John J. Flynn, Chairman of the commission's Sub-Committee on Labor and Wages, which held a hearing on it yesterday, at which several labor representatives spoke favorably of it. Mr. Flynn outlines his plan as follows:

"If high enough wages are not paid to enable workers to maintain a good standard of living in New York City, the worker and his family are apt to become a charge upon public or private charity. The total estimated cost of public and private charity in New York City is now about $35,000,000 annually, of which the city spends about $15,000,000. To provide enough hospitals and institutions and to furnish proper relief to the poor the city should spend $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year.

"Most of the poverty in the city is caused by low wages, lack of employment, lack of training on the part of the workers, and insanitary tenements and work places. The city has to pay the cost resulting from these conditions.

"Only about one-fifth of the workers in the city belong to unions, the great majority of the clerks, employes in department stores, recent immigrants, and casual laborers not being members of any union. It is important from the city's point of view—that is, to conserve the health and efficiency of the workers of the city—that all should be protected in respect to their conditions of labor.

"The labor unions of the city have accomplished great good in securing better conditions for their members. It has been proved throughout the civilized world that the individual workman cannot secure these conditions by himself, and that unions or the principle of collective bargaining is necessary to protect the workman from exploitation. Most of the strikes in New York City have had the object of securing recognition of the union or the closed shop, a living wage, reasonable hours, proper sanitary conditions in workshops, and immunity from unjust discrimination and harassing treatment of workers.

"To secure what government should insure to the workers, whether organized or unorganized, the workers have gone on strikes, which have every year been costly in the loss of human life, bodily injury to hundreds, interruption and dislocation of business, and loss of wages and business aggregating many millions of dollars every year in the city, besides engendering bitterness between employers and workers.

"This has been inevitable with the present lack of an authoritative body to act as intermediary between the workers and employers, and to give adequate publicity to the actual conditions—a publicity which would be a great corrective of existing evils."

J. P. Coughlin, representing the Machinists' Branch of the Central Labor Union of Brooklyn, spoke in favor of a municipal arbitration commission.

"I believe that labor men are always willing to arbitrate," said he. "We know that we are not always right in our demands, and we should be told when we are wrong. I believe that the men never seek a strike. It is always a hardship, and I believe they would always be ready to listen to advice from some source in which they had confidence."

Mr. Coughlin also advocated the establishment by the city of compulsory night schools for immigrants, saying: "We say that the children must go to school, and why should we not complete this campaign of assimilation by attacking the parents as well?" He replied to the argument previously made for the prohibition of immigration for a period of years by asking, "What right have we to stop immigration and lock the gates through which we came ourselves?"

The argument for the prohibition of immigration was made by William Martin, representing the Knights of Labor, who said that he believed it should be stopped entirely for at least ten years.

Mrs. Julian Heath of the National League for the Civic Education of Women spoke in favor of the arbitration commission, as did Miss Helen Marot of the Women's Trade Union League.

John Kelly of the Longshoremen's Union spoke in favor of the abolishment of private employment agencies and the conduct of this business entirely by the city or State.

HORSE SHOW HONORS WON BY WATSON

MRS. BELLE B. BAIN CHEERED

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 6.—To-day, the third and last day of the Newport Horse Show, was by far the best, as no rain fell. Class winnings were telephoned to Reginald Vanderbilt at Sandy Point Farm whenever his brother, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, was in the ring with the entries.

No one asked Craig Biddle how his wife was getting along at the Newport Hospital, for the entire assembly at the show was agreeably surprised to see Mrs. Biddle arriving with her husband and children. Mrs. Biddle's appearance after her illness and operation was the signal for little less than an ovation.

Miss Eleanore Sears came in early in tennis costume of white skirt, black coat, and a straw hat with an opening in front near the top, looking as though it had met with disaster. Every one thought Miss Sears was to play tennis, for she had her tennis racquet. Shortly afterward the tandem class was called into the ring, and in tennis costume came Miss Sears, driving Mr. Watson's entry. She was applauded.

During the afternoon it became known that Reginald C. Vanderbilt had passed safely from typhoid back to horse show fever and was planning for his showing at the National Show in Madison Square Garden in November, sending his famous horse, Dr. Selwonk, for one more showing before retirement at Sandy Point Farm. Mr. Vanderbilt will enter in the open championship Victoria and other classes.

Mrs. Belle Beach Bain again drove some of Mr. Vanderbilt's entries. She was applauded from the boxes and ringside and judged the best woman driver in the ring again to-day.

The boxes filled earlier than ever, the interest starting with the jumping classes.

Mrs. James P. Kernochan came in with Robert Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Condé Nast, Miss May Van Alen, Miss Louise Scott, Philip D. Mills, and Henri Martin. Mrs. James Griswold Wentz came with Mrs. Robert C. Black and Miss Hawley.

Pay Director and Mrs. R. T. M. Ball came in with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Dickson of Philadelphia. Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt and Mrs. William E. Carter came in together in time to see Mr. Vanderbilt win.

Mr. and Mrs. William Goadby Loew came in, taking the occasion to say goodbyes, as they close their season to-morrow. Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer came in with Miss Sarah Thayer and a group of children. Mrs. John R. Drexel came with her daughter, Miss Alice Gordon Drexel, and W. Hude Neilson. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Widener, who return to Philadelphia Thursday, were with Mrs. Joseph Harriman and Master McLean Harriman. Mr. and Mrs. Widener were bidding goodbye to their friends.

Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman came in with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Reynal. Prince Troubetskhoy was also bidding good-bye. He is returning to Virgina Thursday.

T. N. Taller, who has not missed a tennis match or any of the horse show exhibitions this season, was one of the interested spectators, occupying the box of his son, T. Suffern Taller. Mrs. James B. Haggin, who has been in the mountains for a week, came with Mrs. Richard Gambrill. Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames came to to Ames box with her sister, Mrs. Cecil Higgins, of London.

Mrs. Edward N. Berwind came in with John Berwind, Charles Dunlap of Philadelphia, Miss Julia Berwind with Mr. Berwind, and William G. Roelker following. Mrs. Charles H. Baldwin came to the show for the first time with Elliot Gregory.

Among others promenading or visiting about the boxes were Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Symes Lehr, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Wagstaff, Mrs. Joseph R. Dilworth, Duke Romanoff, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Winthrop, Jr., Mrs. J. Marsden Perry, George Henry Warren, Jr., Mrs. Frederick P. Sands, Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan, Mrs. T. Shaw Safe, William P. Burden, Miss Mildred Norton, Lieut. Kenneth Castleman, Rear Admiral Raymond Perry Rodgers, U. S. N.; Miss Julia Rodgers, Barton Willing, Mrs. Austin Sands, Louis Bruguière, Mrs. Amor Hollingsworth, Miss Ruth King, Miss Dorothea Kane, Commander and Mrs. Mark L. Bristol, Miss Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clews, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Harriman, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ward, Mrs. Walter Norman Eldridge, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rutledge, Mrs. Norman De R. Whitehouse, Miss Rosa A. Grosvenor, Mrs. Ernest Iselin, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hutton, the Misses Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hoffman, Miss Fullam, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hillhouse, Miss Emma Stone, Mrs. William B. Bristow, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. A. Clark, Jay Coogan, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Glyn, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Harriman, Mrs. George Gordon King and the Misses King, Miss Charlotte Pell, and Mrs. James Andrews Swan.

Many wraps were worn by the ladies, who feared the threatening weather early in the afternoon might turn into rain, but it remained as it started, overcast and at times hazy. Many jewels were worn, especially pearls, Mrs. Joseph Widener wearing a beautiful string, the most valuable ever seen at the Newport show.

The show ended in a victory of George Watson's stables, who obtained during the three days ten first prizes, against eight for Mr. Vanderbilt, and four championships, against one championship for Oakland Farm. In two of these championships there was direct competition with Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Mr. Watson beat him. In the only championship which Mr. Vanderbilt won to-day he was a direct competitor of Mr. Watson. Mr. Watson's winnings for the three days were twenty-seven, against thirty-three for Mr. Vanderbilt. The latter therefore wins the most ribbons, but ranks lower.

A notable victory was won to-day for Mr. Vanderbilt's stables by Mrs. Belle Beach Bain in the basket phaeton class with The Duke, who drove against Mr. Watson's Florham Surprise, which brought more applause from the boxes and the ringside than since the show opened.

The jumping honors went to Julian Morris, who also won the championship with David Gray, and also second with Taconite.

Mr. Morris's total winnings in the jumping classes were five firsts, five seconds, and six thirds. His closest competitor was Blenheim Farms, winning two first prizes.

PHILADELPHIA OPERA PLANS.

The Philadelphia opera season will begin this year on Jan. 20 at the Philadelphia Opera House, which was built by Oscar Hammerstein, but which now is under the control of the Metropolitan and allied opera companies. Mr. Dippel and his Chicago company are to furnish opera this year for Philadelphians. Among the operas which will be given are "Aida," "Il Trovatore," "Rigoletto," "Faust," "Bohème," "Madama Butterfly," "Tosca," "Pagliacci," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Carmen," "Louise," "Salome," "Pelléas et Mélisande," "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame," "Thais," "Les Huguenots," and Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West."

It is also planned to give in Philadelphia Nogué's "Quo Vadis," and Saint-Saens's "Henry VIII." Mr. Dippel also promises a production of Richard Strauss's new opera, "The Cavalier of the Roses," if it is ready. However, the production of this opera will not occur in Dresden until January, and it is doubtful if it can be given here after that. There is also a possibility of the production of Victor Herbert's "Natona," which was written for the Manhattan Opera House.

The singers who will appear in these operas are Messrs. Bassi, Dalmorès, Guardibassi, McCormack, Wanery, Zeroia, Renaud, Dufranne, Beck, Sammarco, de Angelis, Huberdeau, Arimondi, Crabbe, and Nicolay, and Mmes. Mary Garden, Lillian Grenville, Carolina White, Wayda-Karolewecz, Marguerite Sylva, Zepplili, Lipkowska, Bressler-Gianoli, de Cisneros, and Tita Angelo. Miss Geraldine Farrar will appear in Philadelphia as Butterfly and Tosca, and it is possible that Miss Maggie Teyte of the Paris Opéra Comique will appear toward the end of the season. Mr. Campanari will conduct the orchestra, and the performances will be under Mr. Dippel's direction.

The Chicago company will also give ten performances in New York, divided into two series of five operas each. The operas to be given are "Thais," "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame," "Louise," "Pelléas et Mélisande," "Carmen," "Les Contes d'Hoffmann," "Quo Vadis," and "Henry VIII." Of course, if Strauss's new opera is given in Philadelphia it will also be heard here.

It is said that Mr. Dippel is on the look out for Russian dancers, and that he may engage a portion of the ballet from the opera house at Warsaw.

BOLT FROM THE BLUE STAGED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Charles Frohman's Duke of York Theatre reopened to-night, after being freshly decorated, with an adaptation from the French to which is given the name "A Bolt From the Blue."

Irene Van Brugh and Arthur Wontner played the leading rôles, and Dennis Eadie and Edmund Gwenn contributed fine character sketches, but the Parisian atmosphere of the piece was lost in its transportation across the Channel, and the first night performance was only a mild success.

TRAVEL TO EUROPE IS FALLING OFF

LINERS ARRIVE CROWDED

Captain of the Deutschland Denies That He Raced with Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, First In.

The passenger list of the steamships that sail for Europe to-day show a great falling off in American travel, the Cunarder Lusitania, for instance, going away with the smallest number of cabin passengers she has carried in many months. The same is true of the White Star liner Oceanic, which sails for Southampton, and the Hamburg-American liner Bluecher, which goes to Hamburg. On several eastward voyages this Summer each of these ships has carried as many cabin passengers as the entire three are taking to-day.

On the other hand, the liners that arrived yesterday came in booked to capacity. These were the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse from Bremen, and the Deutschland of the Hamburg-American Line, that got in from Hamburg. These two ships left the other side about the same time, and it was cabled that they were racing across the Atlantic. The Captain of the Deutschland denied that he had raced. The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse arrived at her pier about nine hours ahead of the Deutschland.

KENDALLVILLE, Ind., Sept. 6.—President Taft received a telegram on his train this afternoon telling of the desperate illness of Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers at the Touraine Hotel in Boston. Mr. Taft was deeply disturbed by the news.

Mr. Bowers has been considered almost a surety for one of the vacant places on the Supreme Court bench, and some persons have gone so far as to say that he might be made Chief Justice. The President regards Mr. Bowers as one of the ablest lawyers in the United States.

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—Solicitor General Bowers, who has been ill for nearly a month at a hotel in this city, was reported to-night by Mrs. Bowers and by Dr. Frederic Coggeshall, his physician, to be well on the road to recovery. Dr. Coggeshall predicted that his patient would be up in two weeks.

Mr. Bowers has been suffering from an attack of bronchitis, which, following an operation on his throat, became so severe as to cause considerable anxiety.

Mrs. Bowers said that her husband became ill in Gloucester a month ago, when she brought him to Boston and called a physician. An abscess in a tonsil proved an aggravating factor, and the attack of bronchitis became worse. An operation removed the affected tonsil, and, although the bronchitis continued depressing, Mr. Bowers three days ago was pronounced by Dr. Coggeshall to be recovering. Since that time he has made no very rapid improvement, but has not suffered any relapse, and the physician thinks the signs indicate a reasonably early recovery.

In the opinion of Dr. Coggeshall the illness of Mr. Bowers was due largely to overwork. With Mrs. Bowers, Dr. Coggeshall unites in saying there is no cause for anxiety over the condition of the Solicitor General.

JAMES R. KEENE IS BETTER.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 6.—James R. Keene's condition to-day is good, and he is apparently doing well. There has so far been no indication of any extension of the pneumonia, and his general condition is favorable.

The above statement was given out late this afternoon by Dr. T. C. Barrows, Mr. Keene's New York physician, who arrived here yesterday with Foxhall Keene and J. G. Follansbee. Drs. Scott, Clarke, and Barrows have had several consultations during the day in regard to the case, and are of practically the same opinion.

CONFERENCE AT NEW THEATRE

East Side Committees to Meet Director Ames on Subscription Plans.

A conference will be held in the library of The New Theatre this evening to discuss plans for the east side subscription performances to be given this season. Among those who have been invited to meet the director, Winthrop Ames, are Dr. Rudolph Zahn, R. W. Bruere, the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, Dr. Ludwig Lore, the Rev. Dr. Alexander Irvine, Eugene Walter, Algernon Lee, Mrs. Anita Bloch, Joseph Margolis, Miss Rose Schneidermann, Julius Hopp, Miss Rose Laddon, Miss Mary Drier, and committees from Cooper Union and the University Settlement.

The attention of the Directors of The New Theatre has been called to the fact that the date set for the first of the east side subscription performances, Monday evening, Oct. 3, falls on a Jewish holiday. Because of this the initial performance has been postponed one week, to Oct. 10.

Opera Singers Arrive in Mexico City.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6.—Seventy-five operatic artists recruited from the Metropolitan, Manhattan, and Boston Grand Opera Companies reached this city last night from Vera Cruz. Holbrook Blinn to Star in "The Boss."

Holbrook Blinn, who has been associated with Mrs. Fiske for the last two years, is to become a star under the management of William A. Brady. He will make his first stellar appearance in a new play called "The Boss," written for him by Edward Sheldon, author of "Salvation Nell" and "The Nigger." The production will be made early in November.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

The members of "The Commuters" company, now playing at the Criterion Theatre, will be guests of "The Country Boy" company at the Liberty Theatre this afternoon.

Mme. Trentini was a passenger on the Deutschland, arriving yesterday afternoon. She came to America ahead of her scheduled time in response to a cablegram from Oscar Hammerstein.

The Shuberts announce that they have engaged Grace La Rue for their production of "Madame Troubadour," a new operetta. Miss La Rue was seen last at the Hackett Theatre in "Molly May."

Edith Cartwright, the daughter of Charles Cartwright, the English actor who is appearing in "The Lily," has been engaged by David Belasco for an important role in "The Concert."

A. E. Matthews will begin a tour of the principal cities in "Love Among the Lions," commencing Monday, Sept. 19, at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, where the play is scheduled to remain for one month.

Gertrude Elliott (Mrs. Forbes-Robertson) will sail for America on the Laurentic on Sept. 17, to begin her stellar tour in this country on Oct. 3 under the direction of Liebler & Co. Her husband is coming on the same steamer, which lands at Halifax, and he will begin his season at Montreal.

Irene Oshier, a leading woman, and Howard Gould, who has appeared in stellar roles, have been engaged by Henry W. Savage for one of the companies playing "Madame X."

Cecil De Mille has begun rehearsals for the first of his productions for this season, Joe Welch in "The Land of the Free," a dialect comedy by William C. De Mille.

GALA DAY CLOSES CITY PLAYGROUND

DOLL CARRIAGE PRIZES

"Cowboys" Give an Exhibition of Lariat Throwing and Fire Guns Made by Themselves.

The playground season at St. Nicholas Park closed with a martial outside yesterday afternoon, even if in private there was rage and grief in the hearts of the cowboys and soldiers.

After the combination of children's games and the long-continued drought began to show themselves on the St. Nicholas Park grass and shrubbery, and since the Park Department can't control the weather, the authorities have ordered the recreation work to be discontinued. So yesterday afternoon before a gathering of several hundred, amid waving flags and the firing of guns, the cowboys threw the last Lariat.

The guns are worthy of mention because they were made by the boys themselves, and went off with explosions of harmless paper caps. St. Nicholas Park has the distinction of being the only playground in the city where the boys and girls have made all their own toys, requisitioning nothing from the Park Department save lumber and nails for the boys, and sewing material for the girls. A space of ground about twenty feet by thirty was roped off for the exhibition of these homemade toys, which included soapbox automobiles, the guns aforementioned, swords of all kinds, mock musical instruments for the band, bayonets, tomahawks, hobbyhorses for the cavalry, raffia work, furniture, hats, and sewing.

And all of these are products of the so-called "Cocoanut Kit," the proud possession of which distinguishes St. Nicholas from all the other playgrounds. Any of the children will tell you about this famous kit of tools, sent to them by a man now in Porto Rico.

It seems that this man has a grove of cocoanut trees, and also a soft spot in his heart for small boys. So instead of fencing off his cocoanuts, and setting a darky with a shotgun to guard them, he has opened his grove to all the boys who can climb the trees.

At one end of the grove, however, is a box with a slit, and there is an understanding that every boy must put in a penny in exchange for the cocoanuts he gets. Apparently the boys have scrupulously maintained the gentleman's agreement, for on opening the contribution box in June, the American found $15 in pennies. This he sent to Howard Bradstreet, the Superintendent of Recreation, to buy something for the boys of New York. Mr. Bradstreet purchased a kit of tools, to give the boys a chance to saw and hammer to their hearts' content, and the St. Nicholas Park children, to whom the box was consigned, have christened it the "Cocoanut Kit."

As for the guns, they are really clever. The stock and barrel are shaped of wood, while the hammer is the head of a large screw, placed in a block of wood. The trigger is a nail, stuck slanting-wise into the wood, and when you turn it around the hammer is released. The spring is simply but effectively composed of two good strong elastic bands, so that when the screw-head hammer hits the paper cap, with which the gun is loaded, there is an explosion worthy of a real musket.

Truth, however, compels the boys to admit that the pattern for the first gun was made for them by a Mr. Crawford, an Englishman in the neighborhood, who evidently was once a boy himself.

Besides the exhibition in the afternoon, there was a parade, headed by the herald mounted on his soapbox automobile. Whatever defects there might be in carpentering were made up for in patriotism, for the wheels and body were decked in red, white, and blue bunting. There followed the flag-bearer, Section A of the "Park Guard," a group of boys in the neighborhood who volunteer to assist the park hands in keeping order among their kind; the toy band, and the toy cavalry on prancing hobbyhorses.

Girls as fairies and red cross nurses escorted the doll carriages, prizes for the best decorated ones of which were awarded later by a committee of neighborhood mothers. There was a carriage in pink and white, one in red with orange, blue, and green paper trimmings, and one all veiled with golden rod. The children seemed to think the red carriage the fanciest, as they said, but the mothers on the committee gave the first prize to Elizabeth Mitchell, whose cart was covered with green paper and trimmed with pink, red, and yellow roses. Little Helen McGrath's golden rod got second prize for "nature," as the committee put it.

Then followed dancing of all kinds, games, Japanese ball and "Three Deep," quoit throwing, boomerang throwing, bean bag pitching, and last, but not least, the cowboys brought their lariats forth for the farewell contest.

RECORD GOLF ENTRY FOR AMATEUR TITLE

Brookline Tournament Brings Out 211 Contestants for Tourney on Sept. 12.

All records for a National golf championship entry list in this country were broken when Robert C. Watson, Secretary of the United States Golf Association, announced last night that 211 names had been received for the amateur tournament schedule to begin at the Country Club of Brookline on Sept. 12. This is so far in excess of any others that in point of numbers, at least, they must appear small by comparison. In 1902 there were 157 entries for the championship at Glen View, which was the largest until now.

The Brookline meeting will also have quality, for the list contains all the favorites except Jerome D. Travers of Montclair, Findlay S. Douglas of Nassau, and Mason Phelps of Midlothian. Travers failed to compete a year ago at Wheaton after having entered.

On the other hand, Robert Gardner, Charles W. Evans, Jr., H. Chandler Egan, and Albert Seckel, a quartet of Chicago experts, will all be on hand. Gardner is the National title holder, while Evans recently won the Western open championship. Seckel gained the intercollegiate crown a year ago, and Egan has twice been champion.

From this vicinity the most likely entrants are Fred Herreshoff, the metropolitan title holder; Walter J. Travis of both National and international fame, and Gardiner W. White, who holds the interscholastic title.

As expected, Massachusetts leads the States with a total of 65 entries. New York comes next with 37, and then follows New Jersey with 27. Pennsylvania has 20, Illinois 15, Connecticut 10, District of Columbia 8, Rhode Island 7, Vermont 5, New Hampshire 2, California, Florida, Georgia, and Maryland 2 each, and Louisiana, Michigan, Tennessee, Delaware, and Ohio 1 each.

Caddies' Day at Apawamis.

It was a big day for the caddies at the Apawamis Golf Club at Rye yesterday when the youngsters who carry the bags of sticks took possession of the links and the clubhouse and enjoyed the day's sport which the club had arranged for them. More than sixty caddies took part in the sport. There were two medal play events, one for boys under 14 years old and the other for the caddies over 14 years. Some of these lads who have been caddying for several seasons played some fine golf, and a good many of the scores matched up pretty well with the best performances of some of the club members. There were putting, driving, and approaching contests. A luncheon was served for the boys, and then they all took part in a programme of track and field events.

Racing at Interboro Fair.

With only two events on the racing programme at the Interboro Fair at Dongan Hills, Staten Island, the affair dragged all through the afternoon, and when the fifth heat that was trotted in the darkness had been completed the event was still undecided and required another heat, which will be run to-day at 1 o'clock.

In the first two heats it looked as though the end was in sight, as the fast little gray gelding Peerless Pete won the two heats in fine style and would have won the third and race had he not gone to a break after the first quarter. The gelding was in third place when he broke, and would have surely made the pole before the half-mile post, but his bad break caused him to lose considerable ground and the best he was able to do after getting back in his stride was to finish third. In the fourth heat Earl Wilson came under the wire first after a hard drive under the whip, nosing out the Peerless Pete, who was working hard, and came to help matters in the fifth heat Lila B. was brought home first in a slight shower and darkness.

The only other event on the card was the half-mile running race in which nine horses started in the first heat. After considerable jockeying at the starting post in which two riders were thrown, the horses got away, but St. Withold proved too good for the field and won the first and third heats and won the event. Charter Oak Races Off Again.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 6.—A further postponement of the Grand Circuit races at Charter Oak Park in Connecticut with the Connecticut Fair was announced this forenoon owing to the condition of the track. There has been neither wind nor sun to dry it since the downpour Monday morning, so that it remains heavy and slippery. To-morrow afternoon the original programme will be carried out. This includes the $10,000 Charter Oak 2:09 trot, and attempt by the gelding Uhlan to beat the park record of 2:03 driven to a wagon, the 2:11 trot, and the 2:17 trot.

NO DAVIS TENNIS CUP TEAM.

Bundy Cannot Go to Australia—America Out of the Competition.

No American team will be sent to Australia this year to play the holders of the Davis Cup for the famous international lawn tennis trophy. This announcement was made last night by R. D. Wrenn, Vice President of the American Lawn Tennis Association, who said that the decision had just been reached, owing to the inability of T. C. Bundy, the California tennis star, to make the trip to the antipodes.

It had been planned to have Bundy and M. E. McLoughlin, another brilliant player and also a Californian, represent America in the contest with the Australians for the Davis Cup in case America won the preliminaries with the English challenging team, which were to be played here. Bundy, however, yesterday telegraphed the American Lawn Tennis Association officials that he had found that his business engagements would prevent him taking the trip to Australia. There being no available substitute, it was decided to abandon the project of sending a challenging team, and word to that effect was at once cabled to Australia.

There being no possibility of an American team entering the lists to play the Australians, the proposed preliminary matches with an English team, which were to be played here to decide whether England or America should send the challenging team, were also necessarily abandoned, and the British tennis officials were notified to this effect.

Bassford a Tennis Victor.

Playing a back court game with a pace and steadiness that was not to be denied, Abraham Bassford, Jr., the old Cornell University player, won his place in the semi-final round of the Quaker Ridge Cup championship singles yesterday on the courts of the New Rochelle Lawn Tennis Club. The Cornell veteran put a dash of ginger into his strokes. His length and direction was perfection, so that he defeated Ralph L. Baggs, 8—6, 6—love.

The beginning of the mixed doubles produced two good matches. In the liveliest of the two Mrs. Charles F. Porter paired with Richard F. Augur and defeated Mrs. H. Garside and William L. O'Brien, 6—3, 7—5. In the other Mrs. B. F. Tieman and Lewis H. Freedman defeated Miss Juliet Leech and J. F. Bradley, 6—1, 6—1. The summary:

Fourth Round—Richard Augur defeated G. S. Groesbeck, 6—1, 5—7, 6—4; D. M. Moffatt defeated J. S. Peckham, 6—1, 6—1.

Fifth Round—Abraham Bassford, Jr., defeated R. L. Baggs, 8—6, 6—0.

Mixed Doubles.—First Round—Mrs. B. F. Tieman and L. H. Freedman defeated Miss Juliet Leech and J. F. Bradley, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. C. F. Porter and R. F. Augur defeated Mrs. H. Garside and W. L. O'Brien, 6—3, 7—5.

Section 1. The City hereby grants to the Company, subject to the conditions and provisions hereinafter set forth, the right and privilege to construct, maintain, and operate two (2) additional tracks, together with the necessary bridge or viaduct therefor over and across Western Avenue, Third Ward, Borough of Richmond, said tracks to be constructed immediately to the south of the present track of the Company crossing over and above such avenue, all as shown on a map entitled:

"Map Showing Proposed Tracks Over and Across Western Avenue In the Third Ward, Borough of Richmond, City of New York, to Accompany Petition of The Staten Island Rapid Transit Railway Co. To The Board of Estimate & Apportionment."

signed by Geo. H. Campbell, Vice President, and Wm. B. Redgrave, Division Engineer, attached to this contract and made a part hereof.

Section 2. The grant of this privilege is subject to the following conditions, which shall be complied with by the Company:

First—The said right to construct, maintain, and operate said railroad tracks shall be held and enjoyed by the Company from the date on which this contract is signed by the Mayor to and until October 28, 1934, with the privilege of renewal of said contract for the further period of twenty-five (25) years, upon a fair revaluation of such right and privilege.

If the Company shall desire to exercise its privilege of renewal it shall make application to the Board, or any authority which shall be authorized by law to act for the City in place of the Board. Such application shall be made at any time not earlier than two (2) years and not later than one (1) year before the expiration of the original term of this contract. The determination of the revaluation shall be sufficient if agreed to in writing by the Company and the Board, but in no case shall the annual rate of compensation to the City be fixed at a less amount than the sum required to be paid during the last year prior to the termination of the original term of this contract.

If the Company and the Board shall not reach such agreement on or before the day one (1) year before the expiration of the original term of this contract, then the annual rate of compensation for such succeeding twenty-five (25) years shall be reasonable, and either the City (by the Board) or the Company shall be bound upon request of the other to enter into a written agreement with each other fixing the rate of such compensation at such amount as shall be reasonable, but in no case shall the annual rate so fixed be less than the sum required to be paid for the last year prior to the termination of the original term of this contract, and if the parties shall not forthwith agree upon what is reasonable, then the parties shall enter into a written agreement fixing such annual rate and at such amount as shall be determined by three disinterested freeholders selected in the following manner:

One disinterested freeholder shall be chosen by the Board; one disinterested freeholder shall be chosen by the Company; these two shall choose a third disinterested freeholder, and the three so chosen shall act as appraisers and shall make the revaluation aforesaid. Such appraisers shall be chosen at least six (6) months prior to the expiration of this original contract, and their report shall be filed with the Board within three (3) months after they are chosen. They shall act as appraisers and not as arbitrators. They may base their judgment upon their own experience and upon such information as they may obtain by inquiries and investigation, without the presence of either party. They shall have the right to examine any of the books of the Company and its officers under oath. The valuation so ascertained, fixed and determined shall be conclusive upon both parties, but no annual sum shall, in any event, be less than the sum required to be paid for the last year of this original contract. If in any case the annual rate shall not be fixed prior to the termination of the original term of this contract, then the Company shall pay the annual rate theretofore prevailing until the new rate shall be determined, and shall then make up to the City the amount of any excess of the annual rate then determined over the previous annual rate. The compensation and expenses of the said appraisers shall be borne jointly by the City and the Company, each paying one-half thereof.

(a) The sum of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) in cash within three (3) months after the date on which this contract is signed by the Mayor and before anything is done in exercise of the privilege hereby granted.

(b) From the date on which this contract is signed by the Mayor until October 28, 1914, the annual sum of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150).

(c) During the succeeding term of ten (10) years the annual sum of two hundred dollars ($200).

(d) During the last term of ten (10) years the annual sum of three hundred dollars ($300).

All annual charges as above shall be paid into the Treasury of the City on November 1 of each year, and shall be for the amount due to September 30 next preceding. Provided that the first annual payment shall be only for that portion of the first annual charge as the time between the date upon which this contract is signed by the Mayor and September 30 following shall bear to the whole of one year.

Any and all payments to be made by the terms of this contract to the City by the Company shall not be considered in any manner in the nature of a tax, but such payments shall be made in addition to any and all taxes of whatsoever kind or description, now or hereafter required to be paid by any ordinance of the City, or resolution of the Board, or any law of the State of New York.

Third—The annual charges or payments herein provided for shall continue throughout the whole term of this contract (whether original or renewal) notwithstanding any clause in any statute or in the charter of any railroad or railway company providing for payment for railroad or railway rights or franchises at a different rate, and no assignment, lease, or sublease of the rights or privileges hereby granted, or of any part thereof, shall be valid or effectual for any purpose unless the said assignment, lease, or sublease shall contain a covenant on the part of the assignee or lessee that the same is subject to all the conditions of this contract; and that the assignee or lessee assumes and will be bound by all of said conditions, especially said conditions as to payments, anything in any statute or in the charter of such assignee or lessee to the contrary notwithstanding, and that the said assignee or lessee waives any more favorable conditions created by such statute or its charter, and that it will not claim by reason thereof or otherwise exemption from liability to perform each and all of the conditions of this contract.

Fourth—The consent hereby given shall not be assigned, either in whole or in part, or leased or sublet in any manner, nor shall title, interest, or property therein pass to or vest in any other person or corporation whatsoever, either by the acts of the said grantee, its successors or assigns, or by operation of law, without the consent in writing of the City, acting by the Board, or its successors in authority.

Fifth—Upon the termination of this contract, or if the same be renewed, then upon the termination of the said renewal term, or upon the termination of the rights hereby granted for any cause, or upon the dissolution of the Company before such termination, the tracks and equipment of the Company constructed pursuant to this contract within the street shall become the property of the City without cost, and the same may be used or disposed of by the City for any purpose whatsoever, or the same may be leased to the Company or any other company or individual.

If, however, at the termination of this contract as above, the Board shall so order by resolution, the Company shall, upon thirty (30) days' notice from the Board, remove any and all of its tracks and other equipment constructed pursuant to this contract and the said street shall be restored to its original condition at the sole cost and expense of the Company.

Sixth—The Company shall commence and complete the construction of the tracks and appurtenances herein authorized within three (3) years from the date upon which this contract is signed by the Mayor, otherwise the rights herein granted shall cease and determine.

Seventh—The Company shall pay the entire cost of the construction and maintenance of the tracks and bridge or viaduct herein authorized to be constructed, and in addition shall pay the following:

(a) The cost of the protection of all surface and subsurface structures which shall be in any way disturbed by the construction of such tracks, and the bridge or viaduct.

(b) All changes in sewer or other subsurface structures made necessary by the construction of the said tracks and the bridge or viaduct including the laying or relaying of pipes, conduits, sewers, or other structures.

(c) The replacing or restoring the pavement in said street which may be disturbed during the construction of the tracks, and the bridge or viaduct.

(d) The inspection of all work during the construction or removal of the tracks, and the bridge or viaduct, as herein provided, which may be required by the President of the Borough of Richmond and the Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

Eighth—Before the construction shall be begun the Company shall obtain permits to do the work from the President of the Borough of Richmond and from the Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity. The Company shall perform all the duties which may be imposed upon it by these officials, as conditions of such permits, provided such conditions are not inconsistent with the provisions of this consent. The Company shall submit to these officials working plans, which shall include and show in detail the method of construction of said railroad tracks and the bridge or viaduct, and the mode of protection or changes in all subsurface structures required by the construction of the same.

Ninth—The bridge or viaduct to be constructed under this contract shall, subject to the approval of the President of the Borough of Richmond, be constructed in a single span from house-line to house-line, and there shall not be any supporting columns erected in the street. Such viaduct or bridge shall have a vertical clearance of not less than sixteen (16) feet above the centre of the street, and shall have drip pans placed under the same for the entire width of the street. The said tracks and bridge or viaduct shall be constructed, maintained, and operated at the expense of the Company, subject to the supervision, control, and inspection of the proper authorities of the City of New York who have jurisdiction over such matters under the Charter of the City or by this contract.

Tenth—The Company shall be liable for all damages to persons or property, including the street and subsurface structures therein, by reason of the construction and operation or maintenance of said railroad tracks, and appurtenances, and it is a condition of this consent that The City of New York assumes no liability to either person or property on account of this consent.

Eleventh—Free and uninterrupted access to and passage over the street shall be maintained at all times, both during construction and thereafter, and no cars shall be allowed to stand upon said railroad tracks within the limits of said street.

Twelfth—This consent is granted on the further and express condition that all laws or ordinances now in force, or which may hereafter be adopted, shall be strictly complied with.

Thirteenth—This grant is upon the express condition that the Company, within thirty (30) days after the signing of this contract by the Mayor, and before anything is done in exercise of the rights hereby conferred, shall deposit with the Comptroller of the City the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) either in money or securities, to be approved by him, which fund shall be security for the performance by the Company of all of the terms and conditions of this contract, especially those which relate to the payment of the annual charge for the privileges hereby granted, and the proper construction, maintenance, and operation of the structures hereby authorized, and in case of default in the performance by the Company of such terms and conditions the City shall have the right to cause the work to be done and the materials to be furnished for the performance thereof after due notice, and shall collect the reasonable cost thereof from the said fund without legal proceedings; or after default in the payment of the annual charges, shall collect the same, with interest, from the said fund after ten (10) days' notice in writing to the Company, or in case of failure to keep the other terms and conditions of this contract, the Company shall pay a penalty of ten dollars ($10) per day for each day of violation.

The Board, on complaint made, shall give notice to the Company, directing its President or other officer to appear before the Board on a certain day not less than ten (10) days after the date of such notice, to show cause why the Company should not be penalized in accordance with the foregoing provision. If the Company fails to make an appearance, or, after a hearing, appears in the judgment of the Board to be in fault, said Board shall forthwith impose the prescribed penalty, and without legal procedure direct the Comptroller to withdraw the amount of such penalty from the security fund deposited with him. In case of any drafts made upon the security fund the Company shall, upon ten (10) days' notice in writing, pay to the City a sum sufficient to restore said security fund to the original amount of five hundred dollars ($500), and in default thereof this contract shall be annulled at the option of the Board, acting on behalf of the City. No action or proceeding or right under this or any other provision of this contract shall affect any other legal rights, remedies, or causes of action belonging to the City.

Fourteenth—In case of any violation, or breach or failure to comply with any of the provisions herein contained, this contract may be forfeited by a suit brought by the Corporation Counsel, on notice of ten (10) days to the Company, or at the option of the Board by resolution of said Board, which said resolution may contain a provision to the effect that the railroad tracks and other structures constructed and in use by virtue of this contract shall thereupon become the property of the City without proceedings at law or in equity. Provided, however, that such action by the Board shall not be taken until the Board shall give notice to the Company to appear before it on a certain day not less than ten (10) days after the date of such notice, to show cause why such resolution declaring the contract forfeited should not be adopted. In case the Company fails to appear, action may be taken by the Board forthwith.

Fifteenth—The words "notice" or "direction," wherever used in this contract, shall be deemed to mean a written notice or direction. Every such notice or direction to be served upon the Company shall be delivered at such office in the City as shall have been designated by the Company, or if no such office shall have been designated, or if such designation shall have for any reason become inoperative, shall be mailed in the City, postage prepaid, addressed to the Company at the City. Delivery or mailing of such notice or direction as and when above provided shall be equivalent to direct personal notice or direction, and shall be deemed to have been given at the time of delivery or mailing.

Sixteenth—The word "street," wherever used herein, shall be deemed to mean such streets, avenues, highways, driveways, concourses, boulevards, or public places across and over which the Company is hereby granted the right to construct its tracks.

Section 3. Nothing in this contract shall be construed as in any way limiting the present or future jurisdiction of the Public Service Commissions under the Laws of the State of New York.

Section 4. Nothing in this contract contained shall be deemed to limit in any way the police power now vested or hereafter to be delegated or granted to the City by the State of New York.

Section 5. The Company promises, covenants and agrees to conform to and abide by and perform all the terms, conditions and requirements in this contract fixed and contained.

In witness whereof, the party of the first part, by its Mayor, thereunto duly authorized by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of said City, has caused the corporate name of said City to be hereunto signed and the corporate seal of said City to be hereunto affixed; and the party of the second part, by its officers, thereunto duly authorized, has caused its corporate name to be hereunto signed and its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed, the day and year first above written.

"My Son Having Failed Completely" in his preliminary examinations for college, entered your school and in one year he covered two regular school years of work as is done at most schools, and not only passed his examinations easily for college, but also with credit to himself and his school."
This extract of a letter from the mother of a recent student is one of a hundred or more, valued by Mr. Groff, showing the high grade of success he has had for thirteen years, following the idea that the individual, and not the class, is the unit.
Timid, nervous and backward boys are encouraged and taught how to study. Bright boys advanced rapidly and thoroughly. No cramming. Secret is to make an hour count for an hour under expert teachers and an up-to-date system. The definite policy is to gain the real interest of the boys in their work, thereby making petty restrictions unnecessary.

TRADING ALL PROFESSIONAL

Results of Vermont Election Awaited by Wall St.—Railroad Returns Show Further Decreases—Exchange Lower.

Wall Street has become so wedded in recent weeks to the habit of explaining narrow trading on the Stock Exchange by the phrase that the market is "waiting" for something, that it was not surprising that, (in its comment on yesterday's business of less than 300,000 shares, the Vermont election and the forthcoming steel, copper, and crop reports figured very prominently. In the early trading and, in fact, up to midday prices sold off, as they have done so many times of late, with considerable ease under a small volume of offerings, only to harden later on and to close with recoveries of all but fractions of the early declines. Efforts on the part of professional traders to gain their daily bread in some way explain what little business there was, for it is too obvious to require more than bare repetition that in the present market there is not the least public interest. In the disposition to put stress upon the outcome of the voting in Vermont, noted in the financial district yesterday, there is sound reason. Often in the past the results of the election in that State have proved highly significant politically, and the issue there offers therefore at least a straw at this time. The actual news of the day included excellent crop reports from various points in the West, notably from Missouri, where corn has easily held its own, and another batch of railroad earnings continuing the general tendency among the country's transportation lines toward smaller gross returns and a decided decline in net. In a way it would be folly to put too much weight upon net changes just at this moment, since the railroads are after a fashion on trial in connection with their campaign for higher rates, but the situation will nevertheless bear very close watching.

In some quarters disappointment was expressed over Saturday's bank statement, but the shrinkage of $17,000,000 in surplus is after all nothing more than a vindication of the policy of our bankers through recent weeks to build up reserves against exactly the sort of demand which has now arisen. The surplus item is still large, and beyond this it is to be noted that the foreign exchange market is displaying such weakness as to make the resumption of gold imports feasible when need arises. Demand sterling dropped 25 points yesterday, while in London money changes were such as to suggest that the English Bank rate will not be put up at to-morrow's meeting of the Directors.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Tuesday.

A heavy tone characterized the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange most of the day. Floor operators were active sellers of stocks in the early dealings, but a large proportion of the fresh short interest thus created was retired before the end of the day, this helping to improve somewhat the closing tone. Transactions totaled 50,120 shares, with the list including forty-two different stocks.

DISSOLUTION NOTICES.

This certificate, issued in duplicate, hereby certifies that the FRANCES HOME LAUNDRY, a domestic stock corporation, has filed in this office on this twenty-sixth day of August, 1910, papers for the voluntary dissolution of such corporation under Section 221 of the General Corporation Law, and that it appears therefrom that such corporation has complied with said section in order to be dissolved.

Witness my hand and the seal of office of the Secretary of State, at the City of [SEAL.] Albany, this twenty-sixth day of August, one thousand nine hundred and ten.

HORACE G. STENNANT,

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Rate Increase Hearing.

The railroads are to have an opportunity at the hearing by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, which will be renewed in this city to-day, to put in their arguments in favor of the increased rates which they are seeking. For weeks the roads have been preparing the data they will submit to the commission's examiner, and they are hopeful that the facts they have brought together will successfully refute any objections which shippers may raise to the proposed rate increase. The commission will hear the shippers as well as the railroads, but the latter have really the more difficult task, for the reason that under the law the burden of proof of the reasonableness of a rate increase falls upon the railroads. They have to uphold their case against all objections, and the task of getting an increase in rates is thereby rendered just so much more difficult. In other words, the presumption in the case is in favor of the shipper. The commission, however, is on record as favoring such increases as circumstances call for, and the railroads are confident that they can carry their point.

Bill of Lading Meeting.

Another meeting of the London Bankers' Committee, which has been handling the matter of bill of lading safeguards, will be held in London to-day. As matters now stand both the banks abroad and the bankers here who handle cotton bills have taken a definite stand, one in demanding full guarantee of all American cotton bills of lading, and our bankers against giving such a guarantee. The American bankers who have actively interested themselves in the matter have joined with the railroads in devising the validation certificate, which goes part of the way, but not all the way, demanded by the bankers abroad. The hope is entertained that some common ground will be found between now and Oct. 31, after which date, as matters now stand, the bankers abroad will not accept any drafts drawn against American cotton bills of lading unless the latter are guaranteed by our bankers in a form to which our bankers, or at least our National and State banks, feel they cannot bind themselves. The importance of an adjustment of the matter lies in the fact that serious difficulty might be encountered in handling the cotton crop if the ordinary channels of financing the movement of the crop from this country to Europe were intertered with.

The Well-Posted Broker.

The outcome of the Vermont elections was one of the topics discussed by brokers yesterday in the absence of any real business to which to give their attention. Wall Street has a way of its own of discussing such topics. It undertakes to discuss all topics, and in the natural course of events, therefore, it discusses things about which it knows nothing, or, what is more dangerous, knows just a little. Sometimes this little is a very little indeed. It ought not to be hard to know that Vermont is on the same continent as New York, but apparently not everybody in Wall Street knows it. Witness this conversation between two brokers yesterday:

First Broker—Shall we hear the results of the election pretty soon?

First Broker—The election in Vermont, I mean.

Second Broker—Oh, we won't hear that until to-night. The returns come in slowly, you know.

First Broker—Oh, yes, I forgot the difference in time.

Second Broker—The difference in time?

Nothing Wrong in Missouri.

The Missouri State Board of Agriculture's report this month calls attention to the fact that there have been no "general droughts, floods, or other disasters" in that State. Corn at 82 on Sept. 1 is nearly 6 points above the ten-year average, and 16 points better than on that date in 1909, but there is still danger of drought for some 45 per cent. of the crop, and there is much late corn, which would suffer from early frost. Wheat in the State will average, according to the report, 13.7 bushels per acre, and oats 34.8 bushels.

Gates on the Outlook.

John W. Gates and Charles M. Schwab may always be counted upon to see the silver lining. Speaking of the outlook yesterday, Mr. Gates, who is now more of an oil than a steel man, said he expected business to improve from now on. July and August are always dull months in the steel trade, therefore, said Mr. Gates, they cannot be taken as a barometer of future conditions. Another original remark of the ex-steel man was to the effect that with big crops it would be strange if we ran into a depression.

Boston Gas Co. Gets Towboat Line.

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—The stockholders of the Boston Towboat Company to-day ratified the decision of the Board of Directors to sell out to the New England Gas and Coke Company for $1,000,000 and to dissolve the corporation. Its authorized capital amounted to $1,500,000, of which $1,250,000 was still outstanding. The gas company thus acquires the greater part of the coal-carrying trade by water of New England.

Denies He Is to Succeed Baer.

Vice President Besler of the Central Railroad of New Jersey denied yesterday the report that he was to succeed President Baer at the election of officers which will be held after the annual meeting of the stockholders, to be held toward the close of this month.

RETIRE RUBBER PREFERRED.

The Directors of the Intercontinental Rubber Company at their meeting yesterday voted to retire a second lot of $1,250,000 of 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock. On May 20 last 25 per cent. of the then outstanding $4,200,000 of preferred stock was voted to be retired at par and accrued dividends before Aug. 10, and it was then made known that it was the company's intention to gradually retire the whole of the preferred issue. The amount voted on yesterday was one-third of the amount remaining, leaving $2,000,000 outstanding.

At the same time an initial dividend was declared on the common stock of 1 per cent. payable Nov. 1. The common stock has recently been active on the Curb and reached its high point of the year yesterday at 33⅜.

The company has $29,081,000 common stock outstanding out of a total of $30,000,000, and originally had $10,000,000 preferred authorized. The Intercontinental is the holding company for the Continental Rubber Company, the Continental-Mexican Rubber Company, and the American Congo Company. The two former operate processes for extracting rubber from the Mexican Guayule shrub, and the last named holds concessions in the Congo Free State obtained by Thomas F. Ryan and the Guggenheim interests from the late King Leopold.

TAKES OVER DENVER GAS.

$50,000,000 Holding Company Also Absorbs Spokane Gas and Fuel.

The $50,000,000 Cities Service Corporation incorporated in Delaware last week is to be the holding company for the Denver Gas and Electric Company, the Empire District Electric Company, and the Spokane Gas and Fuel Company, controlled by the same interests, it was learned yesterday. The capital is divided into $20,000,000 common and $30,000,000 6 per cent. cumulative preferred, of which the common has been authorized to the full amount and will be exchanged for the shares of the three operating companies to the total of $5,000,000. Of the balance $500,000 has been set aside for corporate purposes and the remaining $14,500,000 will be retained in the treasury for future use. By the terms of exchange the stockholders of the Denver Gas and Electric Company will be offered 1 8-10 shares of the preferred stock of the new company and nine-tenths of one share of common. For each share of the common stock of the Empire District Electric Company one-half share of preferred and one-quarter share of the common stock of the new company is offered.

Common stockholders of the Spokane Gas and Fuel Company are offered three-tenths of one share of the preferred stock of the holding company and 15-100 of one share of its common stock. For the purpose of providing the holding company with working capital, $1,000,000 of its preferred stock and $500,000 of its common stock have been underwritten. Henry L. Doherty & Co., who are the bankers and syndicate managers of the merger, are to receive $500,000 in common stock of the new company for their services at this time and an additional $500,000 in 10 per cent. installments as the outstanding common stock is increased.

RATES HURT PACKERS IN EAST

They Complain That Advance Agreed Upon Favors Western Interests.

The packing interests, which recently agreed to an advance in freight rates on live stock and on packing-house products, effected a change in relative rates which is much to the advantage of the Western packing interests and greatly to the disadvantage of the independent Eastern packing interests, according to resolutions adopted by the New York and New Jersey Live Stock Exchange, copies of which were made public yesterday.

An advance of 5 cents a hundred pounds was agreed to in the rates on dressed beef and cattle, the latter being increased to 33 cents per 100 pounds and the former to 50 cents. The advance on live cattle was relatively much greater than the advance on dressed beef, the former rate being increased 18 per cent. and the later only 11 per cent. Such an increase in the rate on live cattle, the resolutions adopted by the New York and New Jersey Live Stock Exchange recite, would result in injury to the business of shipping cattle east of Chicago and would render it unprofitable to kill cattle east of that city. What the members of this exchange foresee is that the disarrangement of the relation which has heretofore existed between the rates on dressed beef and on cattle will be ruinous to Eastern slaughterers and unfair to the consumers of meat in the East.

The exchange proposes laying its complaint before the Inter-State Commerce Commission in addition to protesting to the railroads.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Money was easy and discount rates weakened to-day.

The stock market was quietly steady Investment buying improved consols, home rails, and foreign bonds. Speculators supported Kaffirs, but sold Rhodesian mines and rubber shares.

American securities were dull and featureless during the forenoon. Prices hardened a fraction later, but New York sold Amalgamated Copper and the Pacific stocks, and the market closed easy.

Money, 1@1¼ per cent.; rate of discount in the open market for short bills, 2⅝@3 per cent.; for three months' bills, 3 per cent.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Prices opened weak on the Bourse to-day. Later the market reacted and closed better.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company of Indiana, formerly the Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville Railway Company, are executing a first mortgage of $40,000,000 in preparation for an issue of 5 per cent. bonds. It is expected that only about $8,200,000 of the bonds will be issued at once, and these will in all probability be turned over to the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company of Virginia in reimbursement for its expense in the acquisition of the old Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville.

The Sapulpa Electric Company of Sapulpa, Okla., has been purchased by H. M. Byllesby & Co. of Chicago. Byllesby & Co. will more than double the capacity of the plant. Sapulpa is in the oil and gas producing fields of Oklahoma.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

There was distinct weakness in the wheat market with the final prices at the low of the day. The morning market was fairly steady, but pressure developed soon after the opening, and liquidation became very active. Foreign statistics were bearish, showing world's exports of 13,376,000 bushels, and an increase on passage of 1,392,000 bushels. Russian cables were of free receipts and a late cable claimed that Russian wheat was being offered freely in French markets at lower prices than American. The United States visible increased 1,454,000 bushels, and amounts to 26,452,000 bushels, against 9,167,000 bushels last year. Receipts, while somewhat less than last week, were still materially in excess of a year ago. Cash demand was quiet, and there were no reports of export business, notwithstanding the weakness in the market. The afternoon decline seemed to be quite largely influenced by liquidation, the bearish statistics, and the weakness in other grain. There was very little change in differences. The Chicago carrying charge on the basis of the amended storage of 1-30 of 1 per cent. per day and 6 per cent. interest is figured at 14c September to May, or 1⅛c per month. Cash wheat quoted No. 2 red Winter, $1.06 elevator; No. 2 red, spot, nominal, new, $1.06 free on board, afloat, for export; No. 1 Northern Spring, $1.22½, nominal; No. 2 hard Winter, new, $1.08¼; No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.14¾.

Corn was weak and active, and closed at the low point of the day. The weather was favorable over the holidays, and the weather map showed no cold weather in sight. The fact that six days of the month of September have passed and conditions for crop advancement have been favorable was a decided factor in the market. The visible supply increased 585,000 bushels, while the receipts were large in the West, and the Chicago cars for Wednesday were estimated at 955. Liquidation was active, and the close at the low point. Exporters reported 16 loads late Monday and Tuesday. Cash corn quoted, No. 2 65¼c, nominal, elevator, to arrive, cost, insurance, freight, domestic basis; No. 3 yellow, 68 and 68½c, and steamer, nominal, elevator, export basis. Sales include 120,000 bushels at outports.

Oats were also decidedly weak, with liquidation a factor, particularly in the afternoon, and final prices were at the low point. The receipts were heavy again, with the interior movement bringing steady accumulation in stocks. The visible supply increased 3,604,000 bushels, following an increase of 4,526,000 bushels in the previous week, and the present stock is 16,260,000 bushels, against 7,382,000 last year. Cash oats quoted, standards, 38½s; No. 2 white, 39c; No. 3 white, 38c; No. 4 white, 37¾c; natural white, 38½c and 39½c, and white clipped, 39c and 42c.

Provisions were moderately active all the session, with price changes. The live hog movement was moderate, and prices were firm early, easing off some on the late decline in grain.

COTTON.

Liquidation was very active in the cotton market and prices decidedly weak. The drought has been broken in parts of Texas, if not all over the State, and there were heavy rains reported in some of the sections where the drought has been the worst. The Liverpool market was weak and the American markets opened at a sharp decline, showing but very slight rallying power, becoming very heavy after midday with persistent liquidation and showed a decline of about 8c a pound. The crop news was also more hopeful. A statement by a Southern crop reporter estimated Texas at 2,750,000 bales to 3,000,000 bales, and stated that the conditions outside of Texas indicated a close parallel with the phenomenal yield of the 1904 crop. That year the Texas crop was 3,062,000 bales and the crop outside of Texas about 10,750,000 bales. The acreage is larger this year in Texas than it was in 1904. The Southern advices were of free offerings of spot cotton and the Southern spot markets showed quite general, and in some cases rather important declines. The receipts of cotton were not so heavy, but there seemed to be some selling by spot houses from time to time. At about 13c there seemed to be some buying by houses thought to be representing mill interests. Hestor's report made the total consumption of American cotton the past year 11,774,000 bales, against 13,152,000 bales the previous year, and the carryover at the end of the year 1,862,000 bales against 3,062,000 bales a year ago.

COFFEE.

Coffee showed a further advance, owing to firmness of Brazilian and European markets over the local holidays, further reports of an unfavorable new crop outlook from Brazil, and the continued strength of the spot situation. Sales were reported of 45,000 bags, and the market closed at a net advance of 5@10 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 3@8 points. Havre closed at a net advance of ½@¾f. as compared with last Friday, and Hamburg was ⅝@1 pfennig higher. The changes in the Brazilian markets were somewhat irregular, a decline of 25 reis being reported at Rio, while Santos was 50 reis higher, but the showing of the millreis price was considered very firm in view of the further advance of 5-16d in the rate of Brazilian exchange on London. Spot coffee steady; 10¼c for Rio No. 7.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

An operation of more than ordinary interest, which reveals the rapid transformation of the midtown district from a residential section into a business community, was seen in the sale announced yesterday of the eight-story Randolph apartment house, at 12 and 14 West Eighteenth Street, on plot 53 by 92 feet, between Fifth and Sixth Avenues. The apartment was sold by the Randolph Company, E. Francis Hyde, President, and who is also President of the Central Trust Company. The buyer was Maurice Mandelbaum of Mandelbaum & Levine, real estate operators, and the deal was negotiated by E. H. Ludlow & Co. The consideration involved was somewhat over $200,000.

The buyer intends to alter the building into a loft structure. The leases to the tenants expire Oct. 1. They will not be renewed, and as soon as possible after that date the alteration of the old apartment into a commercial building will begin.

The Randolph was a well-known and popular house in the early days of apartments in New York. It was the first co-operative apartment, it is said, erected in the city. The Randolph Company acquired the site in January, 1884, for $84,000 from William W. Britton, who had bought the property a short time before under foreclosure. The apartment was at once erected at an estimated cost of $110,000. The house has been the home of many prominent New Yorkers It was well built, with large, comfortable rooms, and in its early days ranked as one of the finest structurcs of its kind in the city.

Buys on Upper Fifth Avenue.

An important Fifth Avenue sale, which possibly implies immediate improvement with a high-class private residence, was made yesterday by the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company. They sold for Joseph Hamerschlag the vacant plot, 50.2 by 110.2, situated 25 feet south of Eighty-seventh Street. It adjoins the residence of Charles Page Perin, and next to this is the former home of the late Gen. C. H. T. Collis. Just above the plot, on the north corner of Eighty-seventh Street, is the new residence of Henry Phipps.

Ponchetrain Apartment Sold.

The eight-story apartment house known as the Ponchetrain, a comparatively new house, fully rented and yielding an income of about $35,000 a year, at 312 West 109th Street, on a plot 75 by 100.11, between Broadway and Riverside Drive, was sold for Joseph H. Davis by Arnold, Byrne & Baymann to a client for investment. The deal involved close to the asking price, $300,000. The house was built by Mr. Davis about three years ago and was the first of the eight-story type of apartment house built in the side streets of the upper West Side.

It adjoins the Bonavista on the south corner of Riverside Drive and 109th Street.

Buys Lexington Avenue Corner.

Charles Wynne has sold to William Manning the southeast corner of 123d Street and Lexington Avenue, a five-story apartment, containing five stores and occupying a plot fronting 100 feet on Lexington Avenue and 35 feet on 123d Street. Mr. Wynne acquired the property June 1 last under foreclosure.

Sells West Side Residence.

Rev. Dr. Manning Buys Acreage.

Stebbins a building site with shore front on the Sea Cliff Drive, at Seal Harbor, Mount Desert Island, Me. Dr. Manning plans to build a handsome residence, to be ready for occupancy next season. This place is next adjoining the new residence of Mrs. Marcus A. Hanna of Washington.

The remaining fifteen plots included in the offering were withdrawn. Among the buyers were W. E. Morgan, Isaac Samuels, Dr. Max Guertler, and W. S. Lalor. The property lies west of the railroad station.

Suburban Sales.

William R. Donaldson has sold a two and one-half story frame dwelling and plot of ground, 63 by 100, on Hollywood Avenue, Far Rockaway, 87 feet west of Willow Place, for Mrs. J. Byrne of Manhattan.

New Yorker Buys in Orange.

Edward P. Hamilton & Co. have sold for Mrs. S. J. Ward the large residence, stable, and grounds at 47 Reynolds Terrace, Orange. The purchaser is a New York resident, who expects to occupy the premises.

Dakota Stables to be Garage.

Plans have been filed with Building Supt. Miller for making over the three-story brick stable on the north side of Seventy-fifth Street, from Broadway to Amsterdam Avenue, into an automobile garage, at a cost of $12,000. The front will be changed at the first story by installing show windows and the interior remodeled. The Dakota Stable Company is the owner and Radcliffe & Kelley are the architects.

Jersey City Factory.

Plans have been completed for the erection of a factory building on the corner of Bright and Colgate Streets, Jersey City, which will be built by the Crandell Pettee Company of 133 Hudson Street. The building will be of brick construction, three stories in height, and will measure 50 by 100 feet. The estimated cost is $30,000.

Notes.

The Harlem Property Owners' Association will hold a regular meeting Thursday evening, at 147 East 125th Street.

Justice Brady of the Supreme Court has appointed James T. Donnelly receiver of the rents of 1,647 and 1,651 Washington Avenue, two tenements, pending a suit brought by the Jennie Clarkson Home for Children against Waldemar F. Timme and others to foreclose two mortgages amounting to $54,000.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT Default having been made in the payment of instalments of interest upon the First Mortgage Collateral Trust Five Per Cent. Thirty-Year Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of Southern Electric Securities Company, issued under its mortgage to the undersigned, as Trustee, dated May 23d, 1904, for more than three months after such instalments respectively became due, to wit, on October 1st, 1909, and on April 1st, 1910, the undersigned, as such Trustee, pursuant to the terms of said mortgage, will, by Adrian H. Muller & Son, Auctioneers, offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the 19th day of October, 1910, at 12:30 P. M. on said day or as soon thereafter as may be practicable, at the Exchange Salesroom, 14 and 16 Vesey Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, the following:

6,000 shares of the capital stock of the said Beaumont Traction Company, of the par value of $100 each.
$286,000 First Mortgage Bonds of the Southern Light and Traction Company, a Louisiana corporation, secured by mortgage to the Interstate Trust & Banking Company of New Orleans, with the coupons of October 15, 1909, and all subsequent coupons attached.
$60,000 First Mortgage Bonds of the Jennings Electric Light & Power Company, Ltd., a Louisiana corporation, secured by mortgage to the Interstate Trust & Banking Company of New Orleans, with the coupons of January 1, 1910, and all subsequent coupons attached.
300 shares of the capital stock of said Jennings Electric Light & Power Company, Ltd., of the par value of $50 each.
$32,000 First Mortgage Bonds of the Vicksburg Railway and Light Company, a Mississippi corporation, secured by mortgage to Interstate Trust & Banking Company of New Orleans, with the coupons of January 2, 1910, and all subsequent coupons attached.
2,750 shares of the capital stock of said Vicksburg Railway and Light Company, of the par value of $100 each.

In case the purchase price of Parcel I shall be insufficient to pay the full amount of principal and accrued interest upon the bonds issued and outstanding under the aforesaid mortgage of the Southern Electric Securities Company, and all other sums due under said mortgage, then there shall also be so offered for sale the following:

PARCEL II.

In case of the sale of each of said Parcels I and II:

(20%) thereof in cash, or ten per cent. (10%) in cash and twenty-five per cent. (25%) in bonds of the Southern Electric Securities Company under its said mortgage, with the coupons of October 1st, 1909, and all subsequent coupons attached. In the event of the highest bidder failing to make such payment, the property will be again immediately offered for sale, and the bidder failing to make such payment will be held liable for any deficiency. The balance of the purchase price will be required to be paid and the property sold will be delivered to or upon the order of the purchaser at the office of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, No. 60 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, on the 26th day of October, 1910, at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon of said day.

(b) In the event of the failure of the purchaser so to make payment of the balance of the purchase price, the amount paid on account thereof shall be forfeited and the purchaser will be held liable for any deficiency arising upon the re-sale and all the expenses thereof.

(c) Any purchaser or purchasers shall be entitled to turn in, use and apply, in making payment of the purchase money by or for him or them bidden upon such sale, any of the bonds or coupons of the Southern Electric Securities Company outstanding under its said mortgage, reckoning such bonds or coupons for such purpose at a sum not exceeding that which shall be payable out of the net proceeds of such sale to the holder or holders of such bonds or coupons for his or their just share in that character of such net proceeds of sale under due apportionment of and accounting concerning such net proceeds, after provision is made for the payment in cash of the expenses of such sale.

FOUGHT THE POLICE IN FIFTH AVENUE

HANDCUFFS PUT ON THEM

Magistrate in the Night Court Sends Them to the Workhouse for Thirty Days.

Patrons of the St. Regis and Gotham Hotels crowded the windows late yesterday afternoon to watch a spectacular arrest made by Mounted Policeman Maher at Fifth Avnue and Fifty-fifth Street, who headed off a runabout that was zigzagging up the avenue, driven by two young men, both apparently intoxicated, and endangering the lives not only of themselves but of the occupants of passing automobiles by their reckless driving. They put up a lively fight when arrested, and it took four policemen to get handcuffs on them and put them in the patrol wagon.

During the mix-up, after Maher had whistled for assistance, the young men struck right and left at the policemen, called them all sorts of names, and then appealed to the crowd and to the guests of the two hotels to witness that they were being roughly handled by the police. Several times while waiting for the patrol wagon the police had to use force to subdue their prisoners, while the crowd about them kept on increasing.

It so happened that Magistrates Kernochan and Corrigan were walking down Fifth Avenue when the arrests were being made and were witnesses of all that happened. Just before the patrol wagon arrived the two Magistrates stepped up to the police in charge, handed them their cards, and complimented them on the way in which they had handled their prisoners under threats and violence. The Magistrates then hurried to a telephone and told what they knew of the case to Magistrate Appleton, who is sitting at the Night Court.

When the two prisoners were arraigned before Magistrate Appleton last night they gave their names as William Bartell of 700 East Thirty-fifth Street and Thomas Butler of 422 East Thirty-first Street. The Magistrate let them tell their side of the case, in which they both blamed a chauffeur of a sight-seeing car, who they said endangered their lives, and should have been arrested instead of them. They then told how roughly they had been handled by the police.

At this Magistrate Appleton related what he knew to be the truth of the incident from the advance information he had received from Magistrates Kernochan and Corrigan. He promptly committed both prisoners to the Workhouse for thirty days each.

The first intimation that Maher had of the reckless driving of the young men was when a touring car slowed up by the side of his horse at Fifty-fourth Street, and a man called out that a runabout was headed up the avenue at a wild pace, and that some one would be killed. The man had hardly finished speaking when the runabout, drawn by a black horse, was seen coming down the hill from St. Patrick's Cathedral in zigzag fashion.

Maher started to head the runabout off, but the young men whipped up and tried to pass him. For a block Maher galloped beside them, and, catching hold of the horse's bridle, succeeded in stopping the runabout in front of the St. Regis.

Forty-one dice, $35 in bills, and $28 in silver were found on Bartell. Butler only had $3 in his possession. They said they had been playing crap in a Sixth Avenue resort.

RUN DOWN IN FIFTH AVENUE.

Boy Cyclist Hit by an Auto Truck After Upsetting a Woman Himself.

In the presence of hundreds of horrified spectators on Fifth Avenue at Thirty-fifth Street yesterday afternoon the rear wheel of an automobile delivery wagon belonging to a jewelry firm passed over Samuel Kraus, 14 years old, of 158 Seigel Street, Brooklyn, crushing him so seriously that his life is despaired of at Bellevue Hospital, where he was hurried in an ambulance.

Just a moment before the boy fell under the rear wheel of the wagon the bicycle on which he was riding knocked down Miss Mary O'Connor of 228 Eighth Avenue, who was crossing the avenue. She escaped serious injury. The corner was congested with automobiles and carriages, and the heavy traffic confused the boy.

Among those who rushed to the boy's aid was Dr. Howard Lilienthal of 66 East Seventy-ninth Street, who was hastening to make a professional call. He sprang from his automobile and did what he could to relieve young Kraus's pain, but the boy soon became unconscious.

Samuel Willett, the chauffeur of the delivery wagon, was not arrested, as witnesses of the accident said he was not to blame.

There Are Reasons

Why so many people have ready-at-hand a package of

Post Toasties

The DISTINCTIVE FLAVOUR delights the palate.

The sweet, crisp food is universally liked by children, and is a great help to Mothers who must give to the youngsters something wholesome that they relish.

The economical feature appeals to every one—particularly those who wish to keep living expenses within a limit.

BATH OUTSIDE THE ST. REGIS.

Owing to the bursting of a large water pipe over the main entrance to the Hotel St. Regis, some of the hotel patrons were treated to an unwelcome shower yesterday afternoon. For almost an hour the water flooded the roof of the glass marquee and splashed over all sides.

On account of the intense heat of the afternoon the unexpected shower was appreciated by at least one man. Having been wet down a little he thought he would like some more, for he was seen to go back and hold his bare head under the shower. The water made such a splash that people sipping tea in the Summer garden thought it was raining, and under that impression several ordered taxis to take them home.

The pool of water formed on the Fifty-fifth Street side of the hotel was too great a temptation for several of the crippled newsboys who haunt this section of Fifth Avenue to resist, and for a while they splashed with great glee.

Born of English Parentage in Siam, He's Here for an Education.

Henry Hicks, a strong, healthy, and mentally bright lad of 14, of English parentage and a native of Siam, is on Ellis Island waiting for a decision of the Department of Commerce and Labor in Washington to enter the United States. The boy says he has about $3,492 in American money, left him by his father, and that he wants to use the money to go through the medical department of the University of Michigan. Hicks came over in the steerage of the White Star liner Teutonic, traveling that class, he said, to save money.

When taken before the Board of Special Inquiry the boy said that his mother is living in Siam and that when his father died he received 90 cattles, a catty being equivalent to $38.80, his father wishing him to use the money in getting an education. The boy speaks good English and has finished a course in the Assumption College of Siam. He was detained by the immigration authorities on the ground that he is under 16 years of age and unaccompanied by parents or guardian and is therefore "likely to become a public charge," and that there is no one in the United States legally bound to look after him and that the money he has is inadequate to meet his requirements.

Deputy Commissioner Uhl has referred the case to Washington and recommended that the boy be permitted to go on to the University of Michigan if a Federal inquiry substantiates his statements as to his inheritance. Mr. Uhl also recommended that E. Finch of 20 Fenchurch Street, London, the boy's guardian, be cabled for additional information.

Hicks had no correspondence with the University of Michigan to show, but he had several letters of introduction to Ann Arbor residents. Dr. Edward R. Hoff of 5,124 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, a brother of Dr. N. S. Hoff, dean of the dental department of the Michigan university, went to Ellis Island to aid in getting the boy through.

HARVESTER COMPANY A TRUST

Referee Finds It Was Formed to Kill Competition and Evade Law.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 6.—In his report to the Supreme Court in the ouster suit filed to-day, Special Commissioner Theodore Brace declared the International Harvester Company of New Jersey a trust formed for the purpose and with the effect of destroying competition. The company is declared to be merely a selling agent for the New Jersey company in evasion of the Missouri laws.

The subsidiary corporation, Commissioner Brace says, has no capital, and its existence is a mere fiction. He found that the McCormick Harvester and the Deering Harvesting Machine Companies, Warder, Bushnell, Glessner & Co., Lane Manufacturing Company, D. M. Osborne & Co., and the Milwaukee Harvesting Machine Company were in competition prior to 1902, when Cyrus H. McCormick and George W. Perkins perfected a plan whereby all except the Milwaukee company ostensibly sold their properties to William C. Lane, who in turn pretended to have sold them to the International Harvester Company.

PASTOR TO JAIL AS THIEF.

Fell Because He Never Learned a Trade, He Tells Court.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—His never having learned a trade was blamed by the Rev. Arthur A. Hauderich for his downfall, when he pleaded guilty to-day to theft in Judge Wardeman's court. He was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for stealing $18.10 and seventeen watches from fellow-students at a theological school.

"I am glad to go to prison," he said. "There I shall be able to learn a trade and learn to live by my hands instead of my wits."

Hauderich was arrested in Hiltonburg, Ohio, recently, where he had become pastor of a congregation. He refused to permit an attorney to represent him at the trial.

FINDS GIRL TIED IN A CHAIR.

When Joseph Cawdrick of East Twenty-eighth Street and Avenue Z, Sheepshead Bay, returned home at 11 o'clock last night he found his sister Ellen, 21 years old, bound hand and foot in a chair in the dining room and gagged. He cut her bonds, and rushed out and notified the police of the Sheepshead Bay Station.

The girl, who had not lost consciousness and was unhurt, told the police that she had heard steps in the hall earlier in the night, and upon going out found there a tall, heavy-set negro, who had evidently stolen in through the open door. Before she could utter a cry, she said, the negro grabbed her, threw her to the floor, gagged her, and bound her. Then, she said, he tied her in the chair in the dining room and left without trying to harm her or to rob the place. But as he was leaving, she said, he turned and said: "I was sent here to do this."

The police say that the girl, who is a music teacher and lives alone with her brother in the little home, was unable to give them a hint as to who might have sent the negro. She described him as about 28 years old, 5 feet and 10 inches tall, weighing 200 pounds, smooth-shaven, and wearing dark clothes.

WOMAN BAFFLES DOCTORS.

For no reason that the medical staff of Flower Hospital were able to ascertain up to a late hour last night a young woman, apparently 17 years old, and whose identity could not be learned, fell unconscious in the middle of the roadway at Sixty-fifth Street and Broadway last night and could not be revived.

All that the doctors were able to ascertain after several hours of labor was that the patient's trouble was internal. The young woman is 5 feet 2 inches in height, weighs 120 pounds, and is of dark complexion. She wore white skirt and waist and a large white lingerie hat trimmed with blue ribbon.

BULLET FOR BURGLAR HITS WOMAN'S HEART

HER MOTHER THE VICTIM

He Begs the Father to Take His Revolver and Kill Him—Coroner Sets Him Free.

Nineteen-year-old Kurt Weifslog, who for two years had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geis and their daughter Louise, all of whom came from the same little town as he in Southern Germany, sat brooding and disconsolate last night in the darkened parlor of their flat in the rear of the third floor of 430 East 118th Street. Over him bent Geis, trying in vain to soothe him, himself broken-hearted with grief. Geis's wife lay dead in an adjoining room with a bullet wound through her heart. The shot was fired by Weifslog early yesterday morning. The daughter sat near by, pale and very silent.

Less than twenty-four hours before they had been merry in the little flat. Geis, who had a small but thriving grocery in First Avenue, had confided only on Sunday to his young lodger some plans he was cherishing for the near future, when the little family circle would be increased. Weifslog, who was working hard as a salesman for a Harlem store, was himself looking forward to settling down soon in a home of his own with the daughter for his bride.

Then, on Monday morning, Augustus Simon, who with his wife lived in the flat just across the hall from the Geis family, told them that burglars had tried to enter there on Sunday night. He said he had frightened them off as they were jimmying the window at the fire escape, but he feared they would return again.

Young Weifslog, the only one in either of the two families that had a revolver, volunteered to make his quarters in the Simon flat on Monday night and to help Simon prepare a welcome for the burglars' return. Another friend of Simon, Joseph Hubert, of 515 East Eighty-first Street, likewise volunteered to sleep there, in readiness for the thieves.

The night passed quietly, and no burglars appeared at the Simon flat. All three turned in to sleep. But at 4 o'clock yesterday morning the Geis family heard a scraping sound at one of the windows near their own fire escape, and a moment later saw the forms of two men silhouetted in the window. Terrified, they ran into the hall between their home and that of the Simon family, calling frantically for help.

Their cries awakened the sleepers in the Simon flat, and brought them, still dazed with sleep and confused by the sudden awakening, to the locked door. Weifslog led, with his revolver. Outside he could hear the hurried shuffling of feet and the frantic cries. He stepped to the door, but did not open it.

In the door was a hole—about two inches in diameter, from which a lock had recently been removed. Through this Weifslog peered into the dusk of the hall, but he could see nothing, though the cries and the shuffling just outside the door continued. In the tumult he could hear, clearest of all, the cries of the girl. He thought his friends were in their flat and the burglars in the hall.

Weifslog, who had never fired a revolver before, paused for a moment, uncertain. Then he thrust the barrel of his weapon through the hole in the door, turned it as best he could in the direction where the shuffling seemed to be, and fired all five chambers in rapid succession.

Weifslog tore open the door and ran out into the darkened hall. There, just outside the door, he stumbled upon the body of Mrs. Geis, motionless on the floor. Her husband and daughter, who had themselves been grazed by two of his shots, bent over her, speaking to her and trying to coax her back to life. Weifslog uttered a cry of horror, and, throwing himself upon the little group, begged Geis to kill him.

Just then Policeman Stalk of the East 126th Street Station, attracted by the sound of the shooting, came up the stairs. He summoned an ambulance from the Harlem Hospital as soon as he saw what had happened, but the surgeon said the woman was dead. Stalk then took all the members of both families to the station as witnesses and arrested Weifslog on a charge of homicide. He admitted frantically again and again that he had done the shooting, but all the others, including the husband and daughter of the dead woman, insisted that it had been an accident.

Geis begged so hard later for the young man's release and insisted that he had fired the shots only by mistake, that Coroner Winterbottom decided to release Weifslog on parole, and allowed him to return with the others to their home. They promised to appear for a hearing on Sept. 15.

The Harlem Detective Bureau was notified about the attempted burglary that had led to the shooting, and several detectives were sent to investigate that part of the case. Geis and his daughter, however, were still so upset by the tragedy that they could give only a vague description of the two men they had seen at the window.

Women Violated Liquor Laws.

Miss Irene Fleming, whose home is in Maryland, where, she says, her father was once a Supreme Court Justice, and Miss Marie Bennett Laton, whose home is in Atlantic City, were arrested at Paramus, N. J., yesterday afternoon, where they conducted the Dixie Inn. They were charged with violating the liquor law, having served drinks with meals, without a license. The chicken dinners, served in true Southern style, with corn fresh from the garden, made the Dixie Inn famous in that part of Bergen County. Prosecutor Wright of Hackensack released them on their own recognizance, both pleading ignorance.

PULLED LEOPARD'S CLAWS.

Nigger, the black leopard in the Bronx Zoo, where he has been for fifteen years, walked so much on his plank flooring that his claws began to grow inward, and of late they have penetrated so far into the flesh that he could hardly walk. This is not unusual in zoos, and Keeper Snyder knew that the thing to do was to extract the claws. It was not an easy job.

All arrangements were made yesterday afternoon for the operation. Snyder, with his pincers, stood ready at the side of the cage. Other keepers drove most of the animals in the lion house into their outer cages, so that they should not be excited. Keeper Hurton took his stand on top of Nigger's cage and let a rope down inside of it, with a slip knot at the end of it. The leopard was driven toward it. Three times he was caught in the noose, and three times he worked himself loose, growling and snapping at the rope.

Finally, his hind quarters were caught in the noose, and he was pulled toward the side of the cage. His four legs were pulled outside and keepers made them fast with ropes. Snyder stuck a stick into the leopard's mouth to keep his teeth occupied on something solid. All the ingrowing claws were pulled out, the wounds bathed in soothing lotions, and the leopard was let loose. He was so weak from his struggles that he could hardly stand on his feet.

WOMEN HELD AS SLAVERS.

Two in Chicago Are the First Indicted Under New Federal Law.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—The first indictments under the Mann White Slave act, passed by Congress June 25, were returned by a Federal Grand Jury to-day against Nettie Jenkins of Houghton, Mich., and Ethel Culver of Chicago, who are charged with conspiring to place five young girls in a resort at Houghton.

Before the Federal Commissioner the women waived examination and gave bail. The arrest of Mrs. Jenkins in July was the first under the new Mann law.

SHOT FOR BEING HUMANE.

Man Who Prevented Another Abusing a Horse Is Killed.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Sept. 6.—Joseph Lafferty, an employe of the Kern County Land Company, was shot to death at the Rosedale Ranch, south of Bakersfield, on Sunday by J. R. Loftis, a land rider, as a sequel to a fist fight the previous night.

Lafferty and Loftis quarreled Saturday night because Lafferty prevented Loftis from abusing a horse. In the fight which ensued Loftis was severely beaten.

It is said that two brothers of Loftis are Chicago diamond merchants and that he was sent West by them to get him away from the temptations of city life.

KILLED WIFE AT HER WORK.

Then Turned Pistol on Himself in Presence of Her Employer.

BERNARDSVILLE, N. J., Sept. 6.—In the presence of Mrs. William Hegeman, his wife's employer, Julius Toth shot Mrs. Toth this morning at her washtubs in the Hegeman home and then fired a bullet into his own breast. He is still living, but is thought to be mortally wounded.

Toth first ordered his wife to go home with him. Mrs. Toth refused to go with him and tried to keep him out of the house. When the bullet hit her she made her way to Mrs. Hegeman's side and fell unconscious, almost dragging her mistress to the floor with her.

WANT POLICEMEN BACK.

Magistrates Dissatisfied with the Civilian Court Attendants.

Now that the new Inferior Courts have been in operation six days some idea can be gained of the results achieved by the changes in the police court régime. The most radical innovation is the removal of the police and the substitution of civilian court atendants. The supporters of the new method say that the plan has not received a fair test because all the attendants have not yet been appointed and the civilians are short handed. On the other hand, the opponents of the new law assert that it is doubtful if the order that has been kept in the Magistrates' courts for a quarter of a century can be attained under the supervision of civilians.

The Yorkville courtroom is the hardest to control in the city. The pen is so arranged that prisoners must be taken through the rows of spectators to be locked up. Then, when arraigned before the Magistrate, prisoners must again be led through open court, through the gate and up to the bridge, which, by the way, was to be removed at once upon the Inferior Courts bill becoming a law, but which is still used in every police court in Manhattan and the Bronx. There are now three civilian court atendants doing the work formerly done by six policemen.

The Magistrates are said to be opposed to the civilian attendants. At least Magistrate House is outspoken against them. Says he:

"I firmly believe that a committee will be sent to Albany this Winter to ask for the restoration of the police to the Magistrates' courts."

CLOAKMAKERS FAIL TO RETURN TO WORK

THEIR DEMANDS TOO HIGH

But the Union Leader Says It's a Mere Misunderstanding and Will Be Settled Soon.

Though terms of settlement of the strike of the cloakmakers were signed last week, few, if any, of the strikers, returned to work yesterday, and it may be from one to two weeks before all the strikers return.

By the terms of the settlement the wages of the week workers were fixed, and the prices of the piece workers were to be arranged between committees of the employes and the individual manufacturers in the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association. It so happens that about four-fifths of the tailors are piece workers, and there was a tacit understanding that until the wages of the piece workers were adjusted the week workers in the factories would not return to work.

All day yesterday the officials of the Manufacturers' Association at the Hoffman House were bombarded over the telephone with messages from individual members complaining that the prices asked by their piece workers would bankrupt them if they were granted, and asking for advice. The only advice that could be given was to live up to the terms of the peace protocol.

At the headquarters of the cloakmakers in 161 West Thirty-fourth Street complaints were made that in spite of the demand for men on account of the rush of work to make up for the time lost by the strike, some of the strikers could not get their old places back, as the employers would not discharge the non-union men to make room for the strikers.

Another ramification of the strike came up yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Bijur on an argument wherein Lawyer Isidor Flatto, in behalf of the firm of William H. Davidow & Brother, asked that a temporary injunction granted against the Cloak, Suit, and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association be continued or made permanent. The original injunction restrained the association from interfering with the Davidow firm in any manner inconsistent with its standing as a member of the defendant organization.

Some time ago the association expelled the two Davidow brothers, upon the ground that they had violated one of the by laws of the organization, through the alleged signing of an agreement with the striking cloakmakers, thereby, it was asserted, giving the control of the firm's workshop to the strikers union, which was in violation of the by laws of the association.

Mr. Flatto insisted that his clients had entered into no such agreement as charged.

But, he added, the continuance of the injunction was necessary to prevent the organization of manufacturers from sending out to the cloak and suit trade letters stating that the plaintiffs had been expelled from its membership, thereby greatly injuring them in their business.

For an Aeroplane Flight

From Chicago to New York

1—Entries for the race will be open immediately on the publication of these conditions, [first published July 6, 1910,] and may be made by mail or telegraph, addressed to The New York Times or The Chicago Evening Post. Each entrant must state in his application that he accepts in full the conditions here published.

3—The start shall be made on Saturday, October 8, 1910, after 10 A. M., from a practicable field within the city limits of Chicago, to be designated by The Chicago Evening Post; and the finish shall be within the city limits of New York. Competitors shall start as nearly as possible simultaneously; intervals, however, will be allowed, if necessary or desirable; but in any case all must start on the same day. The start may be postponed from day to day, because of bad weather, but not beyond October 15, 1910.

4—Each competitor and his machine shall be in Chicago on Monday, October 3, 1910, and, the weather and the condition of the machine permitting, shall make trial flights daily thereafter, between the hours of 2 P. M. and 7 P. M.., until the day of the start.

5—The race must be completed within 168 hours, or seven days, after the start. No limit is placed on the number of stops.

6—Each entrant must have a record of one hour's continuous flight. Entrants not having such a record may qualify by flying one hour continuously in Chicago between October 3, 1910, and October 8, 1910, and complying with the terms of Section 4 of these conditions.

7—Each competitor must finish in the same machine in which he starts, but any repairs, such as re-covering planes, installing new motors, &c., may be made on the way, as required.

8—To win the prize of $25,000 the winner must cover the course before any flight of equal or greater distance has been made in this country.

9—If the competitors start simultaneously the winner shall be he who, fulfilling the conditions of the race, first lands in New York; if the competitors start at intervals, the intervals shall be taken into account in determining the winner.

11—Each competitor agrees to make his flight upon his own responsibility and at his own risk and expense. The donors of the prize are to be responsible for nothing but its payment to the winner.

12—Three judges of the finish of the race shall be appointed, one by The New York Times, one by The Chicago Evening Post, and the third by the two judges thus appointed. These judges shall be in New York and shall determine the winner of the race. They shall also determine the award of any prizes that may be offered, besides the prize of $25,000, and from their decision there shall be no appeal.

13—The start shall be under the supervision of The Chicago Evening Post, and officials designated by that newspaper shall keep a record of the starting time of each competitor. This record shall be accepted by the judges of the finish.

14—The New York Times and The Chicago Evening Post may, if they hereafter deem it advisable, delegate to a recognized aeronautical association the supervision of the race in any or all of its details, and within the limits of its delegated powers the decisions of such association shall be final.

Any further information desired may be obtained by addressing THE NEW YORK TIMES or THE CHICAGO EVENING POST.
